Feed your fowls liberally.

Give them a variety of whole-some food.

Dry feeding of baby chicks is the only way.

Bran is as cheap a food as can be used for the mash.

Feed the chicks sparingly the first ten days. They are apt to eat more than they have any business to do.

Water should be given to the youngsters from the start.

Baby chicks soon learn to scratch. There is no better medicine for them.

The modern mountings with their stay-on clips are ideal for office or literary work. The eyes have full play without restriction through the big round and Boston leaf lenses and the clips keep them from falling off. Why not have a pair and provide real comfort for your eyes?
