

Entered as second-class matter October 3, 1912, at the post office at Halsey, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Devoted to the material upbuilding of Halsey and surrounding country and Linn county generally. Subscription rate $1.50 per year in advance.

My Own Land

Columbia! I see thee stand,
A sword, a shield in either hand,
Magnificent, God's chosen land,
While thrones of Caesars turn to dust,
Consumed by false dominion, 'list,
Thy 'scutcheon shines, 'In God we trust,'
Columbia, my own land.

Ten thousand beacons dot thy hills,
Each teeming mart, each hamlet thrills
With love to guard thee from all ills,
O, chosen one, my own land.

Thy quest is not for power or pelf,
Thy refuge founded not for self,
Thy creed: 'Man's master be himself,
And every land be free land.'

I see thee launched on high emprise,
The wrath of Jove flames in thine eyes,
A blood-drenched world to libertize,
Columbia, my brave land.

But guard lest traitors bend thy sail
To perfumed breeze of no avail,
'Twere better far to face the gale,
Columbia, be safe land.

I see thine eagles take the field,
I see the haughty foeman yield,
New honors deck thy gleaming shield,
Columbia, thy free land.

Should battle flags by thee be furled,
Comes Federation of the World!
By Prince of Peace thou wert empearled,
Columbia, my queen land.

—Kansas City Journal.

The more advertising a man does the more business he does—unless he is a burglar.

If you would see a scene of patriotic industry look in at the Halsey Red Cross ladies any Tuesday afternoon in their room in the McCully building.

"At Long Beach, Cal.," says an exchange, "the women are trying to teach the men to knit." Men who learn to knit at a time like the present should be compelled to put in all their time at knitting.

A little thing happened at the Enterprise office this week that did the editorial heart more good than do some things which might seem of greater importance. One of our readers sent in a number of local news items, and at the bottom of the last sheet wrote, "I hope these items may help our paper." Now, that's the idea—our paper—yours and mine—all of us—the only paper in the world which prints the news about Halsey folks. More people should cultivate this idea. It's fine.

There is some truth in the following, which we found in the Harrisburg Bulletin, though we cannot but think that some of the weak spots in the newspaper business might be done away with if the publishers themselves would do away with them. Our experience has been that most folks are willing, within reasonable limits, to pay for what they get, even from the newspapers: "Editors get rich because when a child is born in the neighborhood the attending physician gets $20, and the editor, who gives the loud-mouthed youngster and the happy parents a send-off and gets $50. It grows up and marries. The editor publishes another long-winded article and tells a dozen fabrications about the 'beautiful and accomplished bride.' The clergyman gets $10 and a piece of cake, and the editor gets $50. In the course of time it dies. The doctor gets from $25 to $100 and the undertaker gets from $50 to $200. The editor publishes a notice of the death, an obituary a column long and a card of thanks and gets $50. No wonder so many editors are rich."

ALL AROUND THE FARM

GROWING RED CLOVER.

Hay is Rich in Protein, Palatable and of High Feeding Value.
(Prepared by United States Department of Agriculture.)

Red clover is the most important leguminous forage crop in what is known as the timothy-clover area, which includes New England, the middle Atlantic and the north central groups of states. It is also important in certain sections of the great northwest and in the northern part of the south central states. Where it does well it may be considered as the basis of permanent systems of agriculture. Red clover grows well on a variety of soils, but is best adapted to deep,

Experiments have shown that the removal of the hay crop does not destroy the value of the clover as a green manure crop. From 20 to 50 percent of its fertilizer value is probably left in the roots and stubble which can be plowed under. Picture shows turning under red clover for green manure.

well drained clay loams and to limestone areas. On sandy soils it is productive when well supplied with humus. In general it will not thrive on ill drained land or on sour or acid soils. The customary way of seeding red clover is to sow it in the spring on winter grain, which acts as a nurse crop. This is a cheap and convenient method, but it is often unsuccessful on soils which are low in humus content. In that case the surface of the ground is likely to dry out quickly after the grain has been removed, and as a result the clover perishes.

POULTRY PICKINGS.

* Cracked and fissured perches *
* harbor lice. Have only sound *
* lumber in your perches. *
* Feed your fowls liberally. *
* Give them a variety of whole *
* some food. *
* Dry feeding of baby chicks is *
* the only way. *
* Bran is as cheap a food as can *
* be used for the mash. *
* Feed the chicks sparingly the *
* first ten days. They are apt to *
* eat more than they have any *
* business to do. *
* Water should be given to the *
* youngsters from the start. *
* Baby chicks soon learn to *
* scratch. There is no better med- * * icine for them. *

Increasing the Egg Supply.

The number of marketable eggs can be increased by following a few practical suggestions, says the United States department of agriculture. Among the most important of these are the production of the infertile egg after the breeding season is over and the proper handling of eggs by the farmer before sending them to market. The infertile egg is obtained when all male birds are removed from the flock. This does not decrease the number of eggs produced, but it does increase greatly their keeping qualities. The production of the infertile egg and the proper handling and marketing of eggs by the producer would increase tremendously the number of marketable eggs each year by diminishing the quantity that are rendered unfit for food.

Breeds For Small Flock.

For the family which wishes to keep poultry for home consumption rather than for the market the so called general purpose breeds are better suited than what are known as the egg laying breeds. Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds and Orpingtons are all good varieties for the average person who does not intend to go into the poultry business on a considerable scale. These breeds are good layers, and they also make good table poultry.

Lost—Between the home of E. S. Marsters and Tulsa, July 27, a green ribbon handbag, containing handkerchief and purse. Finder please return to Enterprise office or phone 108.

Church of Christ Notes

Bro. Hendricks has accepted a call to preach here the ensuing year.

One confession last Lord's Day.

"Seek ye Jehovah while he may be found; call ye upon him while he is near." Isaiah 55:6.

One confession last Lord's day.

Seek ye Jehovah while he may be found; call ye upon him while he is near. Isaiah 55:6.

We are glad to note the increase of attendance in the Sunday school.

Our S. S. superintendent is attending the convention at Turner a couple of days this week.

Union service at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Enterprise ads bring results.

M. E. Church Notes

"Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto Jehovah, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon." Isaiah 55:7.

The Sunday school should lead its pupils to a concrete understanding of the business of God in the world.

The W. F. M. S. will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Brandon at 2:30, to which all are invited.

Some of our members have been away on vacations, and with the coming of cooler weather we are hoping for a renewed interest.

Do you owe the printer?

The HALSEY ENTERPRISE

MAKES CLUBBING ARRANGEMENT WITH

THE OREGON FARMER

Offers Unusual Opportunity To Its Readers

AMONG our large circle of readers there are a great many who are interested directly or indirectly in fruit growing, dairying and other branches of farming. All of these naturally wish to keep in close touch with agricultural activities throughout the state; and to know about any fight which is being waged for the measures Oregon farmers want and against all sorts of schemes that are detrimental to the people and agricultural interests of this state.

We have, therefore, made a special clubbing arrangement with THE OREGON FARMER whereby any farmer or fruit-grower, who is one of our regular subscribers and who is not now a subscriber of THE OREGON FARMER, will be entitled to receive THE OREGON FARMER in combination with this paper at the same rate as for this paper alone.

This offer applies to all those who renew or extend their subscriptions as well as to all new subscribers. If you are interested directly or indirectly in Oregon agriculture, do not miss this unusual opportunity but send your order in now.

THE OREGON FARMER is the one farm paper which is devoting itself exclusively to the farming activities and interests of Oregon. It has a big organization gathering the news of importance to farmers, dairymen, fruitgrowers, stockraisers and poultrymen; and it has the backbone to attack wrongful methods and combinations and bad legislation, and support honest leaders and beneficial measures. We are confident that our readers will congratulate us on our being able to make this splendid and attractive clubbing offer.

Halsey Enterprise, one year	-	-	-	-	$1.50
Oregon Farmer, one year	-	-	-	-	1.00
					2.50
By our special clubbing plan, both for	-	-	-	-	1.50

THE ENTERPRISE, Halsey, Oregon

The Oregon Fire Relief Assn., of McMinnville, writes more insurance than any other two companies in Oregon. Has operated almost 22 years. Has assets of more than $250,000, including premiums in process of collection its assets exceed $300,000. Has paid more than $1,125,000 in losses to its members. Has paid every loss dollar for dollar. Investigate this company and insure with it. Spend Oregon money at home. Miller & Walter, Agts., Corvallis, Ore. A card will bring us to you.

Get that splendid farm paper, the Oregon Farmer, free by paying your Enterprise subscription now. Both for $1.50.

A few old newspapers for sale at the Enterprise office.

Dr. Geo. J. Kenagy

CHIROPRACTOR

Specialist in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel Troubles.

Spinal Analysis and Prognosis Gladly Given.

Kindly Write or Phone for an Appointment.

Both Phones.

Take ELEVATOR to 4th Floor First National Bank Bldg.

ALBANY, - ORE.

For a good cold drink or a dish of delicious ice cream go to Dean's Confectionery.