May For Swine.
Well cured alfalfa and clover hay make splendid foods as a part of the winter ration for both old sows and growing pigs. Cowpeas and other legume hays are almost equally valuable. Some legume crops can be seeded this spring for hay and thus help to reduce the cost of raising fall pigs. Let us not forget that grain will be high in price for years to come and that we must learn to grow all our meat animals more largely on roughage than has seemed necessary in the past.

Best Potato Soil.
To grow good, sound, smooth potatoes you simply must have a rich, loose, moist but wet, mellow soil, where the growing tubers can expand freely and rapidly and form a smooth, even shape and surface, and must have also plenty of available plant food. This last point is where commercial fertilizers give most and cheapest help.

Care of Farm Tools.
No farmer who owns his farm should delay the erection of a shed or building large enough to store all the farm implements, and he should further make it a point to teach the boys on the farm, and the hired help as well, to bring in all tools when no longer needed in the field.

Ringworm on Cattle.
Scrub the spots perfectly clean and then wet them at intervals of five days with a solution of two pounds of sulphate of copper and one gallon of water. Pure tincture of iodine applied twice daily is also effective. Cleanse, disinfect and whitewash the stable.

Late Hatched Chicks.
Although the hatching season proper should be considered at an end by May 1, it may be feasible in some sections of the northern and northwestern part of this country to continue hatching until July. Chicks hatched at that time, with proper feed and management, will frequently begin laying in January of the following year. The maturity of fowls hatched late can be greatly increased if the mother hens are confined until the chicks are weaned. In this way feed that is furnished the chicks produces growth instead of energy to follow the mother.

THE STOCKMAN.

The neck and shoulders of most horses are all the time changing. The collar that may be all right this year may need considerable readjusting another year.

A good hog pasture cuts the cost of growing pigs and hogs in two.

Get the sheep out on the pasture while the life is short. Give a good feeding of hay in the morning before turning to pasture.

Some blacksmiths seem to think they must earn their money paring off the horse's hoof. Result, thousands of poor sore footed horses.

The feeding period of the hog is short, and the more quickly it is grown the greater the profit.

Provide a lamb creep so the lambs can be fed an extra ration of grain by themselves.

Increasing the Egg Supply.
The number of marketable eggs can be increased by following a few practical suggestions, says the United States department of agriculture. Among the most important of these are the production of the infertile egg after the breeding season is over and the proper handling of eggs by the farmer before sending them to market. The infertile egg is obtained when all male birds are removed from the flock. This does not decrease the number of eggs produced, but it does increase greatly their keeping qualities. The production of the infertile egg and the proper handling and marketing of eggs by the producer would increase tremendously the number of marketable eggs each year by diminishing the quantity that are rendered unfit for food.

Mrs. B.—I don't know, but their manners couldn't be any worse if they had been living at home all their lives.—People's Home Journal.

Fall Farrowed Pigs.
The earlier fall pigs are farrowed the better; hence sows that have not yet been bred should be prepared for breeding as soon as practicable. The early fall pig, because it can make greater use of fall and winter pasture, has a decided advantage over the late arrival, while at the same time its greater size enables it to better stand the winter weather.

Chloroform and Uniform.
There sure never was a more self-important lieutenant than Smithers. One day off parade he remonstrated with Private Spudlock for some trivial reason, and the old soldier resented the unjust dressing-down.

"You think you know army matters better than I do?" barked the bumptious officer, superiorly.

"Well, I don't know, sir," he drawled; "but I reckon I've been in chloroform as long as you've been in uniform."

Stomach Troubles

If you have trouble with your stomach you should try Chamberlain's Tablets. So many have been restored to health by the use of these tablets and their cost is so little, 25 cents, that it is worth while to give them a trial.

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends
Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war

Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war-crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition" under the direction of Caroline Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER, better home-making is the ideal back of TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE, its reason for existence, its earnestly planned-for goal. Better home-making in its largest sense, with the spiritual and mental no less than the material needs of the family in view; home-making as the biggest of woman's opportunities rather than house-keeping as the most dreary of woman's drudgeries.

While Today's Housewife stands in a class by itself in its practical value to homemakers, it is also noteworthy for its wonderfully inspiring editorials and special articles, for its clean, delightful stories, and its beautiful illustrations and covers by leading artists. Over one million women agree that TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

You can save 45 cents by subscribing by the year through us instead of buying single copies. Call at our office and examine the current issue or mail your (new or renewal) subscription to us at once. Remember, a year's subscription for only 75 cents for the magazine that would be cheap at $1.50.
