Greatly Benefited by Chamberlain's Tablets

"I am thankful for the good I have received by using Chamberlain's Tablets. About two years ago when I began taking them I was suffering a great deal from distress after eating, and from headache and a tired, languid feeling due to indigestion and a torpid liver. Chamberlain's Tablets corrected these disorders in a short time, and since taking two bottles of them my health has been good," writes Mrs. M. P. Harwood, Auburn, N. Y.

A Letter from Overseas

Through the kindness of Ralph Miller the Enterprise is enabled to publish the following letter, which will be of interest to many of its readers. The letter is dated "Somewhere in France" August 18:

"Dear Friend Ralph:— This finds me on French soil, having landed July 21. First we made the south coast of England. Remained there a day or two, then re-embarked on another steamer and crossed the channel. The passage was smooth and uneventful and consumed 8 days. We were convoyed by destroyers and hydroplanes at either end, but no subs. were seen, tho' we were on the lookout for them. It took 6 days to cross the continent. This part of the trip was more interesting, being more comfortable and less monotonous. We passed thro' Chicago, but did not stop any length of time. The odor of the stockyards still lingers in my nose.

"In New York City I had a pleasant time. Looked up a distant relative whom it had never been my pleasure to meet, with the result of a personally conducted tour thro' the city, including Coney Island. Pretty soft for me. A well-informed pilot is of incalculable value to one who has never been there and has but a few hours in which to do it.

"France is some country. Rich, fertile, productive. As we passed thro' the wheat was being harvested by the old men, boys and women. They do it in the old primitive way. An old-fashioned mower, or sometimes just the crooked knife. I did not see an up-to-date scythe, and saw but one binder. The grain is taken up and bound into bundles by hand. In fact the people live as they did one thousand years ago. They think the old way is the best and carry forward the manners and customs of their forefathers. Everything is built with an idea of permanency. The houses, fences and bridges are of stone. Wheat, oats, barley, buckwheat and some clover are grown, besides, of course, the inevitable grape.

"The French as a people have been more or less maligned for their bibulous propensities. The answer is found in the unsanitary conditions abounding thro'out the country. The fact that 40 percent of the babies up to one year old die is proof conclusive of this fact, so it is easily seen why wine is the universal beverage and thirst-quencher.

"As you know from the reports from the front, our boys are showing results over the top. The Bosches are more keen to surrender than to fight. If we are to believe reports, they are literally throwing themselves at our boys, hands down. We are sure seeing a lot of German prisoners these days.

If things are so bad for the kaiser now, I wonder what he'll think when our big drive begins. Probably that all hell is tumbling about his ears and his "gott" has forsaken him. It should not take many months to clean this job up.

As yet I've had not a letter from home since leaving Camp Lewis June 27. In this connection let me say that the arrival in camp of a batch of mail is a great event, and the boys fairly buzz about, eager for their expected letter. And disappointed is that one who fails to draw his letter. I believe if the people at home knew—if they could see the thing from our angle—they would write more letters. It is really important in keeping up the boys' spirits, which is no small thing. This is a good way to "do your bit." Pass the word along, please. There's a reason.

Regards to all who know me at Halsey. Often I think about the old ranch and other nooks about the berg.

Your friend and schoolmate, Jason F. Van Winkle, 364 Field Hospital, 316th Sanitary Train, A. E. F.

D. W. Griffith's latest spectacle "Intolerance," which will appear at the Halsey opera house Thursday, Nov. 21st, is such an extraordinary theatrical offering that words fail to convey any idea of its magnitude and grandeur, its marvelous spectacular effects, its human interest and its amazing reproduction of historical events.

Halsey again has a resident physician, Dr. H. Garnjobst, who left here several months ago to locate in Salem, having decided to relocate here. He has rented the Wilson property west of the Implement store.

About Croup

If your children are subject to croup, or if you have reason to fear their being attacked by that disease, you should procure a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and study the directions for use, so that in case of an attack you will know exactly what course to pursue. This is a favorite and very successful remedy for croup, and it is important that you observe the directions carefully.

EVEN IF a man's shoes are NOT in style, he may still be, as the old Scotch proverb says, "a man for a' that. But he doesn't look it and will find it very hard work to feel it.
