

The Halsey Enterprise

An Independent Newspaper

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

CHAS. BALLARD, Editor

Entered as second-class matter October 3, 1912, at the post office at Halsey, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Devoted to the material upbuilding of Halsey and surrounding country and Linn county generally. Subscription rate $1.50 per year in advance.

We are in receipt of a paper from Minonk, Illinois, whose editor is a man who entered the Ursa Trumpet office as apprentice to the present editor of the Enterprise, when he was editor of the Trumpet in Ursa, Illinois, over twenty-five years ago. He was a boy only about fourteen years old at that time.

The Best Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound over the seat of pain is often more effectual for a lame back than a plaster and does not cost anything like as much.

In Whitley county Indiana, there is an organization that is called the "Endless chain Pig club." One of the conditions under which a pig club member in the county receives a club pig is that the member shall return two pigs from the original gilt. These pigs are then distributed to new club members and thus the membership increases. The boys and girls are taking hold of it in earnest. Some progressive farmer in this county or community might start something of that nature. We are not informed as to all the terms of membership in the club, but it looks like it might be a paying proposition.

A Bilious Attack.

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter.

Value of Bees.

Every farmer should have two or more prosperous colonies of Italian bees. The honey bee is our expert carrier of the pollen from one flower to another of fruits, vegetables and other crops. The fertilizing of one flower by pollen from another is the rule among honey plants and self fertilization is the exception. If your fruit blossoms fail to set fruit perhaps a few colonies of bees would help. The $2 to $10 worth of honey from a colony of bees is a mere pittance of their real value on the farm. And yet from the point of view of honey production alone there is no legitimate enterprise from which a larger per cent of profit can be secured on the necessary capital invested and labor expended. No other enterprise fits in so well with general farming and offers such attractive inducements to the faithful and industrious.

Cure for Dysentery.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially for his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He stated that he had also used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."

To Improve Your Digestion.

"For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them did I find the right treatment. Since taking them my digestion is fine."—Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana, Pa.

The Railroad Appeals for Co-operation to Prevent Car Shortage

L. Poyd, agent for the United States Railroad administration at Halsey, makes the following appeal to all shippers in this vicinity in connection with the threatened car shortage.

"Minimum and small lot shipping of all classes of freight, which was resorted to by shippers following the cessation of last year's hostilities and the subsequent removal of Government loading restrictions which had been in effect as a war measure, has resulted in many more cars being used to handle the freight presented for shipment than should actually have been required for the transportation of that amount of tonnage, a shortage of cars now exists and grows more serious from day to day.

"Without your assistance, the railroads cannot expect to provide cars to move the enormous crops and productions being offered for shipment and the hardships which are certain to result from the congestion which is the inevitable result of a car shortage cannot be underestimated, and for the purpose of relieving this condition as far as may be possible, I earnestly solicit your co-operation to the following extent:

"Those of you who have seasonable crops to move can help out greatly if you will, without delay, advise me the approximate amount of freight you will require to be shipped together with the closest approximate date shipment is to be made. This will permit of arrangements being made to consolidate small lot shipments where full car capacity shipments can not be secured, as well as afford this company greater opportunity for securing suitable equipment to fit the shipments that no available car space need be wasted.

"Other shippers can greatly assist by making all available equipment carry its maximum load and further soliciting the aid of their consignees to the end that orders can either be increased or the trade lot adjusted so as to permit of consolidation of shipments and double loading.

"It is of national importance at this time that business conditions be not affected in the manner which would result if definite steps are not taken to improve the condition above referred to. Railroad representatives will gladly furnish you with any information and assistance which may be consistent and, in turn let us be favored with your co-operation that our service to you may continue uninterruptedly."

There was a very delightful reunion of the McFarland and Cooley families on Sunday last at the home of C. H. McFarland. One of the interesting features of the day was the dinner served on the lawn under the shade of the trees. Among those present were

The third fatal accident in a week occurred at camp 14, near Mill city, Friday, when George Allen, a hook tender, was killed by the top of a stub which broke off when the bottom of it was struck by a log he had just hooked. The falling top struck him and broke his neck. His home was with his 90-year old mother in cottage Grove. Two of his brothers had been killed in the woods within two years. On Monday Paul Schonagle, head loader, had been run over by a car and fatally hurt at camp 14, and Samuel McQueen had been killed at the Hall camp the same day.

Christian Church Notes

The weather of last Sunday was evidently church going weather if the attendance at the regular services of the church was any criterion to go by. This is a habit well worth cultivating in every community, for the people that are spiritually and morally lax seldom constitute a good and prosperous community. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these (material) things will be added unto you" is the promise of the Lord. Come to church next Sunday.

The topic for discussion at the Bible school hour is the parable of the "Good Samaritan" from which many good, helpful lessons may be gained as to our duty to one another. 10 a. m. is the time and there is a class for you.

Bro. Phillips will speak in the morning at 11 and has chosen for the title of his discourse, "Campbellism exposed." Every one interested in religious matters should hear this.

The C. E. meetings of late have been particularly good. Here is presented an opportunity for young people to offer their views and thoughts in their own way and at the same time to express themselves in a satisfactory manner in public. Many a young man and woman owe their success in the Christian life to the early associations of the C. E. meetings. Come at 7:30 p. m. next Sunday and stay and take part in the song service at 8:30. The evening service is always good we are told, and many favorable comments were heard last week concerning the pastor's sermon. He will present another one on the same topic, "When the power of God is powerless." Church Reporter.

Methodist Church Notes

Sunday school, the Christian Ideal of Human Brotherhood. As we have opportunity, let us work that which is good toward all men. Gal. 6; 10.

This lesson should teach us that the religion which Jesus taught and exemplified in his life unites men and strengthens them in their convictions of right, of truth and of justice. It emphasizes the Christian's responsibility for the welfare and safety of his fellows.

The Board of Stewards held a meeting last Monday night preparatory to getting the finances closed up for the fourth and last quarterly conference which meets next Monday night. District Superintendent Jas. Moore will be here at that time. Be prepared friends to bring up all arrears. It is right and honorable to pay up all claims and have nothing to worry about.

The Communion service will be observed next Sunday morning to which all are invited.

News has come of the arrival of a fine baby boy in the home of Rev. Paul Green at Freewater, Ore. Congratulations from his many admiring friends in Halsey. Church Reporter.
