

The Halsey Enterprise

An Independent Newspaper

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

CHAS. BALLARD, Editor

Entered as second-class matter October 3, 1912, at the post office at Halsey, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Devoted to the material upbuilding of Halsey and surrounding country and Linn county generally. Subscription rate $1.50 per year in advance.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE OF HEARING OF FINAL ACCOUNT.

Notice is hereby given that the final account of H. C. Davis as administrator of the estate of Clara B. Davis, deceased, has been filed in the County Court of Linn County, State of Oregon, and that the 24th day of February, 1920, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., has been duly appointed by said court for the hearing of objections to said final account and the settlement thereof, at which time any person interested in said estate may appear and file objections thereto in writing and contest the same.

Dated and first published January 22 1920.

H. C. DAVIS,
Administrator of the Estate.
Amor A. Tussing,
Atty for Administrator.

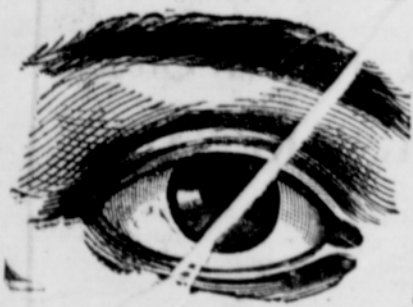

1-22 to 2-19.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD 1920-21

PRACTICALLY A DAILY AT THE PRICE OF A WEEKLY. NO OTHER NEWSPAPER IN THE WORLD GIVES SO MUCH AT SO LOW A PRICE.

The present Presidential campaign is the most important in our history. The Thrice-A-Week World which is the greatest example of tabloid journalism in America will give you all the news of it. It will keep you as thoroughly informed as a daily at five or six times the price. Besides, the news from Europe for a long time to come will be of overwhelming interest, and we are deeply and vitally concerned in it. The Thrice-A-Week World will furnish you an accurate and comprehensive report of everything that happens.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled paper and THE HALSEY ENTERPRISE together for one year for $2.30. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

Why pay more for your shoes than you pay for your glasses? Nothing is good enough for your eyes but the best.

E. S. Meade
Optometrist.
ALBANY, OREG.

Harold Albro, Manufacturing Optician,

Dr. HAROLD E. JACKSON
Dentist.
304-305 1st National Bank Building.
ALBANY - - - OREGON

REEFER'S MORE-EGG TONIC.
Good for Moulting Hens. Gets More Winter Eggs. See Mrs Steinke at Tulsa.

Our Sermonette.

The fear (reverence) of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. Ps 111: 10.
This is the only proper attitude of the creature toward the Creator, the author of our being, and the Creator, Preserver and Lord of the whole universe. When he speaks, therefore, our ears should be reverently attentive to his voice, and every power alert to do his bidding. Our safety, our happiness, and that nobility of character which prompts to love and gratitude, and which promptly and wisely heeds instruction and advances in knowledge and wisdom, all depend primarily upon our supreme reverence for the Lord. And therefore the Lord would foster and cultivate in us that becoming, filial reverence that is due to his name.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Items From Brownsville Clipped From The Times.

Farwell, the four-year-old son of Mr and Mrs C F Klopfen, last Monday fell from a straw stack and broke his arm. He was taken to a doctor where his injury was attended to.

The Red Cross field sale of Christmas seals reported in Brownsville was $34.50, Lebanon, $55.90, Harrisburg $12, Halsey, $6.60, Tangent $2.20, and Shedd $1.20.

The Linn county farm bureau sold the remaining 40,000 pounds of wool a week ago Saturday at 52 to 37 cents, according to grade.

W R Scott of the Albany cannery, spent Wednesday of last week here arranging for a meeting of the Linn county fruit growers on January 24 at Albany.

Miss Mary Schedler of Tangent arrived Wednesday for a week or ten days' visit with friends and also to attend to business in connection with her property here. She will visit Mr and Mrs Theodore Tetzie and Mr and Mrs Anna Schaezle.

Wednesday of last week when Mrs Iva Waters was dressing chickens for a banquet to be given for one of the local organizations she found two small gold nuggets in the gizzard of one. Too bad that pullet could not speak in our language so that we could find out where she had dined and who was throwing out gold nuggets to feed chickens. Another reason for H C L.

Happenings of Harrisburg Clipped from the Bulletin

Wiley Ingram closed a deal this week for furnishing the local mill with a half million feet of logs. He purchased the timber a short time ago in the neighborhood of Coburg.

C E Booth sustained a badly sprained arm and other bruises last Saturday afternoon when he fell from the staging of the new Hill & Co garage. He laid off from work several days.

An all day community meeting will be held at Lake Creek, Saturday, Jan 31st, under the supervision of the Linn County Farm Bureau. Everybody invited. Bring lunch and make it a social as well as a business affair. By order of the secretary.

Mr and Mrs A Schortgen arrived Sunday evening from Portland accompanied by their daughter and daughter-in-law. They will reside on the Smith farm located near Alford station which their son Ed already occupies. Mr Schortgen has been working at carpenter work in Portland but says he is willing to take farming in preference for a year or two.

The S P Rapine residence caught on fire Tuesday afternoon thru a defective flue. The upstairs rooms filled with smoke and fire was eating its way along the ceiling when the garden hose was brought into play. Very little damage, most of that being by water. The local company responded to the alarm and made a good run, however, none of the equipment was used.

Be Prepared For the Income Tax Collector.

To the Public.
Notice is hereby given that Deputy Collectors Williams and Roberts will be at Albany, Oregon, from and including Feb 5 to 14, 1920, to and including March 3 to 6, 1920, for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in making their 1919 income tax returns.

Jan 17, 1920

Court Appoints Election Judges and Clerks.

We notice the following names of parties selected as election judges and clerks in and around Halsey.

The law provides that all returns must be filed on or before March 15, 1920; and any persons delinquent in filing will be subject to the heavy penalties imposed thereby.

It is, therefore, urged that each taxpayer affected, prepare a statement of his entire receipts from all sources during the year 1919, and also of the amounts to be claimed as allowable deductions arising through the conduct of his business, or otherwise, and be ready to submit the same to the said deputy at the time and place designated. All possible assistance and instruction will be afforded the taxpayer in arriving at the amount of his tax, but his co-operation in having available the necessary figures and data will greatly facilitate the taking of returns.

If the taxpayer has received a blank from this office for the purpose of making his return, it is requested that the same be presented to the deputy for use in the connection mentioned.

Respectfully,
Milton A Miller,
Collector.

We understand that the deputies will be in Harrisburg March 3d to 5th, and in Brownsville Feb 19 to 21.

Pure Bred Stock Association Held Meeting Last Saturday.

About fifteen directors of the Linn County Pure Bred Stock Association met at the St Francis Saturday noon to discuss future plans for the promotion of the stock and poultry industry of the county.

At a recent get-together meeting of the breeders of the county, a board of directors was selected, each class of stock or poultry to have a representative on the board. Hon Frank Porter of Halsey, was elected president, and County Agent S V Smith acting secretary.

The purpose of the organization is to promote the interest of every man engaged in the raising of pure bred stock or poultry by publishing a directory of the breeders in the county and the breed of stock they raise, and to pool the stock and conduct public sales of pure bred stock when deemed most advisable.

This county has the distinction of being the leading county in the state, and with the plans for the future policies which were perfected Saturday, the organization is destined to be a great factor in the promotion of the pure bred livestock industry, not only in the county, but the entire state. The organization is making special effort to have a fine display of blooded stock at the annual county fair at Albany this fall.

YMCA to Help Ex-Service Men. Linn County Ex-Soldiers, Sailors and Marines May Receive Educational Aid.

The National War Work Council of the Y M C A had left over considerable of a fund from their war work in this country and Europe. At the direction of the War Department this money is to be apportioned among the different states of the Union, and is to be used in assisting ex-service men in obtaining an education.

$15,000.00 of this amount has been apportioned to Oregon as its share for the balance of this school year. There will be an additional apportionment next year. Linn County's share of this amount, for this school year is practically $450. A committee has been appointed to award this money to worthy ex-service men from Linn county who may make application for assistance. The money so obtained may be used in attending any school the applicant may wish to attend, including automobile and engineering schools, provided it is evident that the money is being used in good faith, and in a way that will bring results. The money will be turned over to those who receive assistance in monthly payments for the balance of the school year.

It is the intention not to award this money in large scholarships, but rather to assist a number of men in amounts from $50 to $75. In making these awards the committee will take into consideration the applicant's service record, moral character and general ability to make good.

All ex-service men who are interested will be furnished an application blank by writing to or calling on the secretary of the Linn County Committee, H W Forbett, First Savings Bank, Albany, Oregon. All applications must be received by the committee on or before Feb 15, 1920.

He turned to savagely resume pacing his cell.

His furious anger at first kept him from realizing the peril which Hardinge had depicted. He tried to believe that such an atrocity would never be permitted, even under the official sanction of a provisional government, such as the Englishman had declared to exist.

Then he suddenly remembered the indignation in El Paso the night he had last started for El Tigre.

Men in the hotel were discussing the latest dispatches from Washington—ordering all Americans to leave Mexico forthwith, after turning over to North Brownsville; judges, G W Drinkard, Ida Warmoth; clerks, Minnie Harrison, Amy Standish, Ben H Goble.

North Brownsville; second board; judges, R V Henderson, Ned Calloway; clerks, Harvey A Stanard, Georgia Ann Morse, Iva Sterling.

West Brownsville; first board, judges, Rowena Blakely, McLain W Davis; clerks, Mabel L Sawyer, Geo C Hume, Ida Ann Hansen.

West Brownsville, second board; judges, Joseph McHargue J A Dougherty; clerks, T C Isom Nadine Sayer, W R Kirk.

East Halsey precinct; first board; judges, J W Miller, Mary L McWilliams; clerks, Geo Laubner, Charity C Clark, Jay W Moore.

East Halsey precinct; second board; judges, Geo Taylor, Beulah A Miller; clerks, H C Davis, GdoHayes, Veda P Bramwell.

West Halsey precinct; first board; judges, W L Wells, S S Leeper; clerks, Gertrude Smith, Letha M Stahlaker, W P Wahl.

West Halsey precinct; second board; judges, O G Coldiron, E D Isom; clerks, Thomas J Jackson, Edith Robnett, Clara P Cross.

Knox Batte precinct; judges, H L Kizer, Anna May Caldwell; clerks, Margette Miller, LE Cox, H L Burck.

Shedd precinct, first board; judges, C H Davidson, H C Poland; clerks, E N Shedd, Mrs Dorra Davis, Mrs Ida Robson; second board, judges, C A Pugh, L St John; clerks, Vera E Sprenger, W M Beals jr, Lura P Malson.

Peoria precinct, judges, F L Bayne, Ernest Abraham; clerks, Dick Duncan, A M Taylor, Lola M Shaw.

the American consul in their locality a list of the property they left behind.

Everyone thought the story improbable at that time. It sounded altogether too ridiculous for belief. But now, in the fetid cell, with Hardinge's threats still ringing in his ears, the mine-owner realized that it must be true.

Because of this, the more he analyzed the situation the more he felt sure Hardinge had voiced no idle threat. If a New York gunman will kill a man for a thousand dollars, why should Hardinge get squeamish now, when his prize was five millions?

The syndicate agent had never shown an oversupply of conscience, and he would run little danger in a country where anarchy had replaced law and no one knew from one day to another what might come next.

Buck's thoughts leaped back to the property. He recalled the covetous look on the face of Manuel Pacheco the day Williams had personally followed a small "vug-hole" of ore into a chamber which had panned out a cold fifty thousand—a sheer accidental discovery made while drifting down on the main "lead."

No one could say how much El Tigre would ultimately pan out.

He believed so thoroughly in the property that he already regarded himself as an embryonic millionaire. He was almost in striking distance of the five-hundred-foot level.

The great vein was constantly widening and growing richer. Once into the main ore-body the values would be fabulous.

As he thought it all over he cursed himself for his fatuous blindness. Pacheco had undoubtedly been drawing double pay all the time he had been foreman. A Mexican is always an uncertain, treacherous proposition.

He will smile at you, and when you turn knife you in the back without warning if he thinks by so doing he can get an extra peso to wager on a cock-fight or spend for mecal.

"What a trio of crooks!" muttered Buck, clenching his hands in futile rage. "Pacheco tells Hardinge how we are getting on with the development; Hardinge goes to the smelter, bribes a clerk and gets copies of our liquidation sheets, confirming Pacheco's information; Moreno promises Hardinge El Tigre in return for financing his revolution; Pacheco is made a captain. All of the time I have been digging a mine—not for Buchanan Williams, but for the United Kingdom Exploration company—and the minute I am back here like a prize boob I cinch the whole game for them."

His bitterness grew.

He wondered where Scotty was and if he had succeeded in getting through to Culiacan along the coast route and arousing the other Americans still in that city until they realized the urgent necessity to stand together. But, even if he had, Buck could not reasonably expect a rescue.

The time was too brief—he would be shot at sunrise—unless Hardinge had lied.

Scotty might never learn where he was until long after the execution. Besides that, a handful of Americans, no matter how well armed and brave, would have their work cut out for them, fighting from Culiacan to Zapatlillo—thanks to the military organization Moreno had built up with the syndicate's generous subsidies.

"There's one silver lining in all the clouds, anyway," mused Williams. "Pacheco got his. That was a devilish funny thing—swift, sure annihilation. I wonder what killed him?"

The door opened suddenly. An officer and a file of men stood in the corridor.

"Senior Williams!" called the man in command.

"What do you want?" growled Buck.

"General Juan Moreno presents his compliments and requires your presence, with that of your servant."

The American squared his shoulders, threw back his head, and strode toward the open door. Jitendra, without a word, rose and meekly followed. The file of men, with fixed, murderous bayonets, closed round the pair and the procession moved down the corridor.

CHAPTER VI.

Strangely Set Free.

"My friend, we have less than twelve hours to live."

Buck Williams gazed down at the stoical Jitendra. The Hindu was sitting in one corner of the cell, a dark blotch against the gloom, save for his snowy turban and gleaming eyes.

The farcical court-martial was concluded, Mexican justice had been done, and Hardinge's prophecy verified in detail.

"I am very sorry you persisted in following me into this diabolical country," regretfully went on the mine-owner. "I knew there was bound to be trouble. You have sacrificed yourself uselessly."

A paradoxical expression swept over the Hindu's face.

"What is to be, will be, Sahib Buck. It is as Vishnu and Siva ordain—but we are not yet dead."

The reply irritated Williams.

To be continued.

Swami Ram's Reincarnation
By FRANK BLIGHTON

Copyright.
SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—While his train is held on a siding Tom Davenport, engineer of the Pacific Limited, becomes interested in the furtive movements of a small brown man, evidently a foreigner, and investigates. While he discovers sends him back to his cab in a hurry. Buchanan Williams, mining man, boards the train and makes the acquaintance of the stranger, Jitendra Jitendra, who proves to be an East Indian. The limited is wrecked.

CHAPTER II.—Williams, though patently burned, saves Jitendra, who had been pinned under the wreck. The Hindu vows eternal gratitude. Williams' revolutionists have seized his mine, known as "El Tigre," and killed or driven off the Americans.

CHAPTER III.—On his way to the mine alone, Williams discovers that Jitendra is following him, and he orders him to turn back. The Hindu apparently acquiesces, but when Williams reaches the mine he finds Jitendra there.

CHAPTER IV.—The Hindu declares Fate has bound him and Williams together, and asserts mysteriously that the gods Vishnu and Siva are with him. Williams, somewhat touched, allows him to stay. While in a sleep of exhaustion Williams is made prisoner by a Mexican force headed by Manuel Pacheco, his former mine foreman. With Jitendra, also a prisoner, the party sets out for Zapatlillo. On the way Pacheco brutally strikes Williams and almost immediately falls from his horse dead, apparently without cause.

CHAPTER V.—Arriving at Zapatlillo Williams and Jitendra are placed in a filthy cell. Williams is visited by Herbert Har-dinge, representative of a rival mining company. He offers Williams his liberty if he will abandon El Tigre and agree to leave the country. Williams indignantly refuses.

He turned to savagely resume pacing his cell.

His furious anger at first kept him from realizing the peril which Hardinge had depicted. He tried to believe that such an atrocity would never be permitted, even under the official sanction of a provisional government, such as the Englishman had declared to exist.

Then he suddenly remembered the indignation in El Paso the night he had last started for El Tigre.

Men in the hotel were discussing the latest dispatches from Washington—ordering all Americans to leave Mexico forthwith, after turning over to