The Yellowstone Park Trip

Our party (consisting of Messrs Laubner, Marks and Penland and their wives) left Halsey July 27th, 1920, making our first stop at Highway Garage at Albany, leaving there at 8:30 a.m.

We spent the first night at Rivera Park on the Columbia Highway. We spent half a day taking in the sights of the Highway, then continued on our way, taking the route through The Dalles, reaching Moro the second evening.

Next we went to Kent, Grass Valley, Shaniko, Antelope and camped beyond Mitchell. The next day, Antone, Dayville, Mt Vernon, John Day, Prairie City, to the Blue Mount Hot springs where we rested until Sunday and caught the speckled trout.

After leaving the Blue Mount we traveled over VERY rugged country and some of the worst road we encountered on the whole trip and landed in Vale HOT, TIRED and DIRTY, where we remained over night.

Our next stop was in Boise, Idaho. Here we saw one of the best and largest irrigated valleys. We stayed in Mountain Home one night. From there we went through Idaho desert to Lily Hot Springs where we came in contact with our first electric storm crossing the desert.

Next day going through Du Bois we met Dr Frank Davidson, formerly of Halsey, now located there. From there we went to Spencer, Nevada, and entered the west entrance of Yellowstone at 2:30 p.m.

Yellowstone National Park is located in northwestern Wyoming and a small part of Montana and Idaho.

The road is a one way loop road which consists of 148 miles in the main loop with side roads making about 234 miles of splendid roads.

We entered the park by the west gate called West Yellowstone. 30 miles from this west entrance, we came to the Lower Geyser Basin (7240 ft) which is the largest of the park geyser basins which contains many curious geysers, especially the Mammoth Paint Pots of different colors.

Next the Upper Geyser Basin where the largest and finest geysers of the world are found. In this basin is "Old Faithful" located, the tourists' friend. Here we camped the first night.

"Old Faithful" spouts at regular intervals of 70 minutes for 10 minutes a column of hot water 60 ft high. 8 and one-half miles from "Old Faithful" we crossed the Continental Divide, altitude 8240 ft, through Craig Pass alongside of a little lily covered lake, whose waters in Spring time hesitate whether to flow out one end into Pacific waters or out the other into Atlantic waters but usually goes in both directions.

From here we descend to the West Thumb of the Yellowstone Lake where we saw more Paint Pots. They are not so large as the ones in the Lower Geyser Basin, but are more brilliantly colored.

The road from Thumb follows the shore of Lake Yellowstone. As the road passes around Thumb Bay fine views of Mount Sheridan, Knotted Woods and the Natural Bridge can be had.

As we leave Yellowstone Lake we enter the Grand Canyon which contains the Crystal and Lower Falls and can be seen. Mount Washburn, 10830 ft, Lower Falls and Inspiration Point. A short distance from Inspiration Point is the Glacier Boulder which must have been brought a distance of at least 20 miles by the ancient glacier that carried it and dropped it here for the wonder of the tourists.

From the Grand Canyon the road leads to the top of Mount Washburn where we saw snow by the roadside. Descending Mt Washburn we enter Tower Creek. The road after leaving Tower Creek passes, first, the towers or minarets, that give this section its name; then passes close to a wonderful cliff of columnar basalt that overhangs the road. This is the famous overhanging cliff. Shortly after, the Needle is reached. This is a long slender spire that starts at the river's edge and mounts up nearly 300 feet.

Then there is a long steady descent to Gardner river, within 2 miles of Mammoth Hot Springs which consist of large and beautiful hot springs and terraces. The most beautiful are Angel and Pulpit terraces which are formed almost exclusively of carbonate of lime and are different from those of the geyser basins.

Other sights to be seen here are Jupiter Terrace, Canary Spring and Devil's Kitchen.

This article will run in at least one and possibly two or three more issues of the Enterprise. Don't fail to read it all, as you will find it interesting.
