"Try It Out Yourself" says the Good Judge

And you will find how much more satisfaction a little of this Real Tobacco gives you than you ever got from a big chew of the ordinary kind.

The good, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long you don't need a fresh chew nearly as often. So it costs you less.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

A Long Distance Charivari

Perhaps our readers will remember that we told them last week that we were going to shivaree (that outlandish 'charivari' is too much for us) the newly wedded couple, Charles Poole and bride, in this issue of the Enterprise.

Perhaps some who have never had any experience in a newspaper shivaree will wonder how it is done. Of course we can't beat on tin pans and cans nor make night hideous with our howls through a newspaper, nor would we do so if we could, but we can make a person feel just as uncomfortable in our way as any band of calathumpians could with their tin horns, blunderbusses and hideous howls, if we cared to do so, but we don't.

We can pat them on the back and say pretty things to them just as well through the paper as if we were talking to them personally and perhaps better, and pass all kinds of compliments upon them deserved or undeserved, and praise them up to the highest heavens if we cared to do so, but we don't.

We will just give a few facts and let it go at that and close with a Sara Neighed, (serenade.)

The groom is well known in this community in business, religious and social circles and has the esteem of every one so far as we know. He may have enemies, most people have some, even editors have been known to have them, but if he has we do not know about them. He has built up a good business in his line and we have not heard of any other undertaker burying any body in this community since we came here.

His bride is an estimable young lady, the daughter of Mr and Mrs Wm Curtis of Lebanon, formerly of Halsey. They are jovial people and the editor has had several friendly bouts with Mr Curtis. Their daughter Ethel is a trained nurse and has the name of being a good one. She has many friends in this community and we are sure they all wish her joy in her new venture.

Undertaker and nurse go well together. The nurse looks after the people in sickness and is well qualified to take care of them in death. Most undertakers advertise lady assistants. We do not know who would make a better assistant than an undertaker's wife who is a nurse.

They will make their home in Brownsville, and we extend our congratulations and benediction.

We close this writeup with our

SARA NEIGHED.
Chas Poole thought he wanted a wife
To help him pull his load through life,
"To meet him with a pleasant smile
And thus his weary hours beguile.

"To sew the buttons on his pants
And thus his comfort to enhance,
To brush his clothes, tie his cravat,
And do such little things as that.

"To wash and iron and scrub the floor
And each day do it o'er and o'er,
Three times a day to cook his meals
No matter then how tired she feels."

To listen in patience when he growls,
To keep on smiling when he scowls,
To share his sorrows and his joys,
And be the mother of his girls and boys.

"She no doubt thought 't would be grand
To always have at her command
Some one to love, some one to scold,
Some one to care for her when old.

"Some one to brush away her tears,
Dispel her sorrow, calm her fears,"
Buy her dresses, toy with her curls,
And be the father of her boys and girls.

"Summerslump" has not hit the Bible school very badly if the attendance of last Sunday is any criterion. Keep up the good work.

will be as usual. Brother Phillips will be with us at 11 a m with a message from The Word. It is so long since he has been with us at the morning service that we are sure we may count upon every member doing his or her best to be present.

The Endeavorers are very much alive and will meet as usual at 7 p m. The topic is "The beauties and wonders of God's world." Ps 65: 1-13. Leader, William Robertson.

At 8 o'clock the union service will be held in this church when Bro Clemo will bring us another of his helpful sermons. These union meetings have had a very beneficial effect, giving the pastors an opportunity to reach some whom they otherwise would not, and making it possible for many to gain a helpful thought from the sermons they would ordinarily miss. During the few weeks that remain of this arrangement let every one show their appreciation by their attendance.

Methodist Church Notes

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Beginning of Solomon's reign. The fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding. Job 28: 28.

King Solomon was a young man only 20 years of age when he began to reign over Israel. He realized his ignorance and danger of leading his people unwisely. He asked God to give him an understanding heart that he might discern between good and bad.

May that be the prayer in our hearts today.

And God gave Solomon a wise and understanding heart; He gave him great wisdom. We might ask ourselves some personal questions. What occupies most of my thoughts? What possession would make me happiest, and what lack causes me most discontent day by day? Where am I living? What are the accepted ideals of polite society today? For what did Jesus labor and sacrifice? Where may we get wisdom? Nowhere but where Jesus got it: by living in daily, constant companionship with God.

The receipts of the League from the ice cream social last Saturday night amounted to about $35. The net balance will be expended in a worthy cause.

Miss Ruth Green of Creswell, well known here, was a welcome guest at the Sunday services. She returned home Wednesday noon after a visit with Gertrude Porter.

The business of the fourth quarterly conference was transacted on Wednesday evening with Dist Supt Jas Moore in the chair.

The services next Sunday will be as usual with the union service at the Christian church and the sermon by Brother Clemo.
