The Goat Riding.

Last Friday night the Sophomore class had a goat riding party at the city hall in which each separate member of the Freshman class had to show his or her particular skill.

The goat was something like the ones that rode it, some what fresh, and the antics it cut up was some thing to appall the hearts of some of the bravest. The penalty for being thrown a single time was a ducking in the waters of Lake Ogle. (One of the keepers of the goat told us that himself.)

Part of the time the goat had its victims crawling on the floor and at other times executing a high vault, but the riders clung to that goat like grim death.

One of the victims came near to being thrown but fortunately managed to hold on by his whiskers. (The goats whiskers we mean.)

The goat keepers, realizing that the victims might be thrown or dragged over the floor, graciously permitted the male candidates to wear their coats wrong side out so as not to soil them.

After the initiatory rites were over refreshments were served.

To the Voters of Linn County.

I earnestly solicit your support of my candidacy for the office of County Clerk. Having had two years Business college training I am qualified for the clerical work of the office.

If elected I will give my whole time and attention to the office, and in filling vacancies in the office force I will give preference to disabled soldiers, they being qualified for that work.

If you believe in injecting new blood into public offices occasionally, and think that your interests will be best served by having a taxpayer from outside of Albany on the Board of Equalization, I will greatly appreciate your support.

Respectfully yours,

Henry Nolan, Lacombe, Ore.,
Democratic Nominee for County Clerk.
