Mrs W R Power, an old time resident of Halsey, died Monday night at Lebanon at 12 o'clock, as a result of a fall which broke her hip two days previous, which brought on pneumonia. We have received calendars from the Bank, the M V Koontz Co, and Cross & White and they are all works of art. The first is a pastoral scene where the shepherd is tending his flock beside the still waters. The second is a picture of a child and a dog that have lain down to sleep side by side. The third is a photograph of a train of cars running by the side of the Columbia river down near Astoria while a steamboat is sailing majestically down the river.

Last week the local town team organized for basket ball. A number of good players reported, among whom were Geo Alford, Chas Mornhinweg, W H Kirk, Jas Drinkard, Jess Cross and F A Goodbrod. The latter has had several years of playing with major teams and his addition will greatly strengthen the local aggregation. A series of games are being arranged for to be played shortly after the beginning of the year. They will endeavor to give the fans a high grade of basket ball.

Lake Creek To Have Extension School.

At a committee meeting in the Lake Creek church Friday of last week tentative plans were made for the second community extension school. A number of committees were appointed to arrange for the various phases of the work and comfort of the attendants.

This year's school is to be of three days' duration and according to preliminary arrangements the first will be "Farm Crop Day," second, "Poultry Day," and third, "Better Stock Day" for the men's division. The women are devoting their entire time to dress making and millinery.

The committee is working under a serious handicap on account of the resignation of County Agent Smith. However, the arrangements are to be taken up directly with the Extension Service of the Oregon Agricultural College and complete arrangements will be announced later.

Oregon Holstein Breeders to Be Honored.

Word has been received by the local Holstein breeders that President D D Aitken of the National Holstein-Friesian Association is to visit the Northwest and that he will spend some two weeks time in Oregon. C R Evans was in Portland Thursday of last week in conference with a number of Oregon Holstein men arranging for Mr Aitken's entertainment. He will arrive in Portland on Jan 23d and the following day will be the guest of the Arlington Club who plan a trip over the Columbia Highway and also a visit to the Pacific International Exposition building. The next day and those following during his stay in the state, Mr Aitken will be the guest of the Oregon Holstein Cattle Club. His itinerary includes visits to Astoria, Hillsboro, Tillamook, Corvallis, Eugene, Marshfield, and Redmond in the order named. He will also visit as many of the herds of Holstein cattle as can be conveniently arranged for.

Mr Aitken is not only President of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, but is a lawyer of extraordinary merit and capable of talking on any subject. Everyone, whether interested in Holstein cattle or not, is urgently importuned to attend at least one of these meetings.

AVOID CHRISTMAS TREE FIRE

Utmost Care Should Be Used in Trimming, Thus Preventing Fatalities in the Homes.

PEOPLE cannot be too careful in guarding against fire when trimming a Christmas tree, says a correspondent in Good Housekeeping. There have been scores of Christmas tree fatalities in homes and in might have prevented. The writer once set a tree in a blaze, consuming nearly half of it, tinsel ornaments going with the green branches. A candle had been wired too high, and it took only a few minutes of its brisk heat to char a branch above it and start a flame. A thick portiere was torn from its pole and thrown over the blaze. If it had not been at hand the light window curtains would have caught fire in another minute. Since that Christmas our tree has always been placed in the center of the room, and we have eschewed cotton wool, tissue-paper angels, and celluloid ornaments. First of all, we wire each candle securely in place at the furthest end of a branch which has nothing above it, either fir tree or trimming. Then as the tree is denuded we watch carefully the fast-disappearing candles. Sometimes one of them, nearly burned down, will topple over or be merely a spark of flame, but near to something inflammable and be a menace.

GOOD TURNS ON CHRISTMAS

Chance for All to Aid the Friendless in Having Happy Yuletide Season.

REAL purveyors of Christmas cheer may often find a market for their precious wares outside the pale of charity, for all homeless people are not necessarily poor, and neither are all childless homes necessarily unhappy. Housekeepers who are short on homes may combine these two lackings and make Christmas day a merry delight for the grown-ups in spite of these unfortunate conditions.

There is always something peculiarly pitiable in the idea of any one "flocking alone" which should appeal to the home-maker without a family, so that this should be the occasion for her to gather in all the bachelor maids and homeless men of her acquaintance and give them a joyful opportunity to "flock together." Even the Scrooges, if she knows any, should be rescued from their lonely bowls of gruel and persuaded to open their shut-up hearts and wear them outside for general inspection, as Dickens says, "For Christmas days to peck at." Therefore, collect six or eight of these birds of a feather who are destitute of near-by kith and kin and make your Christmas feast a center of good cheer for all the charming solitaires you are able to draw within its radius.—Woman's Home Companion.

Good Year for Violets.

Sweet peas have been forced for the Christmas market only for many years past. They must be started blooming before the cold weather begins. Then they will bloom all winter. Daffodils do not get in until February, but almost all the rest of the spring flowers, hyacinths, narcissuses, bavardias, and so on, are on the Christmas counters. Easter lilies, too, though rather cold and white for Christmas, are sold. Violets are fine this winter, deeply, darkly, beautifully blue. Some mignonette now comes in enormous sprays. There are carnations but the favorite, Holly comes from the hills of Maryland and the south. The wild holly supplies the market and there has never seemed to be any perceptible diminution of the supply. Great quantities of it are purchased by all sorts of dealers, who decorate their stores with it and send out a sprig attached to every Christmas parcel.

SAD FATE
Wooden Soldier: After faithful service in the nursery for a year, I will be cast aside for a new toy this Christmas.

Dumb Animals Remembered.

The noblest observances of Christmas are its charities. In all ages and among all peoples the poor have always been bountifully remembered on that day, and in many parts of England and Scotland even the lower animals are given an extra feeding that they, too, may have cause for rejoicing when all mankind are glad. Many readers will remember Burns' address of the soid farmer to his mare when presenting her with an extra feed of corn on New Year's day. "A guid New Year I wish thee, Maggie. Hae, there's a ripp to thy soid baggie."
