Harold Stevenson to Graduate from the OAC School of Pharmacy.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis. Harold Stevenson, son of J A Stevenson of Halsey, will be graduated from the school of pharmacy in the spring. Mr Stevenson is a graduate of Halsey High school, treasurer, president, secretary of the Senior class, winning a college scholarship.

He is a member of Aristochlithononary pharmacy fraternity, and of the pharmaceutical association. He is a registered pharmacist, having had four years experience at the business. Stevenson holds the rank of captain in the ROT C at the College. During the war he served in the army.

Pharmacy is a rapidly growing course at O A C, 194 students having enrolled in the work this school year. The demand for educated pharmacists has never been so great as at the present time. Employers are looking for college trained men. All graduates pass a successful examination before the State Board of Pharmacy, this makes them eligible to practice pharmacy in 43 other states, without examination.

Definitions, Not Found in Webster's Dictionary

Eugene, Ore. April 12.—Violent disagreements with the late Mr Webster, he of dictionary fame, develop at the University of Oregon as regularly as vocabulary tests are called in the freshman classes in English composition.

Following are some of the more startling revisions of the English language accomplished in the last examination:

- "Barnacle"—An eyepiece affected by Englishmen.
- "Trite."—1. A kind of a fish. 2. Lining of a cow's stomach.
- "Altruist."—1. A mountain climber. 2. One who doesn't believe in future life.
- "Larynx."—A precious stone.
- "Lave."—Gaelic for "leave."
- "Asterisk."—1. A beautiful flower. 2. An insect.
- "Clairvoyant."—A lawyer.

A Tribute to Johnny Standish

Choteau, Mont.—John "Red" Standish is becoming a cartoonist with a successful future if he develops his talent as much next year as he has the past few months. He is studying under W L Evans, one of the foremost cartoonists of the middle west.

"Red" Standish attended school in Halsey last year, and it was through the principal of the school that he took up cartooning and caricaturing, which he expects to complete next winter.

He is specializing in animated cartoons for the motion pictures, such as "Bringing Up Father," "Mutt and Jeff" etc. Mr Nolan of the International Film Service Co of New York is giving him all the assistance that he can.

Johnny Standish was for a brief time a "devil" in the Enterprise office.

Mrs E T Cross was an Albany caller last Friday.

W F Carter opened up his Meat Market again last Saturday.

W C Shirling shipped his household goods to Troutdale last Saturday.

Alvia Leeper from Eugene, spent a few days with his parents. Henry English was a week end caller in Eugene.

Glenn Chance was an Albany visitor Monday.
