The county has graveled the road practically all of it from Alford station to the corner a mile west of town. Mr Davis has two men fixing the culvert near the Suddell place. This road was in rather bad condition the latter part of the winter, but is in very good shape now.

The Woman's Study Club held an unusually interesting meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs G T Kitchen. Several members participated in the lesson on Oregon Industries which was interesting and enlightening. The annual election of officers was held with the following result: Mrs B M Bond, president; Mrs J W Drinkard, vice president; Mrs Roll Templeton, secretary; Mrs G W Laubner, treasurer. The club decided to serve a chicken dinner in the near future, proceeds to be used for the benefit of the Public Library. Mrs Frisbee and Miss Maude Henderson, house guests of Mrs Bond, added much to the meeting by their presence. Mrs Kitchen was assisted in serving by Mrs S J Smith. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs R L Winniford, and will complete the club work for this year.

L E Walton and J W Moore went to Eugene Wednesday to be with J C Walton when he underwent his surgical operation. They report that the operation was successful and that there are every hopes that Mr Walton will get along all right.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rattling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. These conditions can be relieved and this cure restored to its normal condition, leaving no mark on the system. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane. Dr. J. J. Cheney's Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Dr. J. J. Cheney's Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, etc.

Indians in Film.
Several native Indian actors take part in George Melford's big production, "Behold My Wife," which will be the feature at the Kialto Theatre Friday.

The story was adapted from a popular novel of the Canadian Northwest from the pen of Sir Gilbert Parker. Frank Condon made the film version. The story centers around the regenerate son of an aristocratic English family who, in a moment of rage against his folks, marries a crude Indian girl and sends her overseas to disgrace them. But she turns the tables upon her husband in a most novel and dramatic manner. Elliott Dexter, Milt in Silks, Mabel Juliette Scott, and Ann Forrest are included in the cast.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Working with others.
Ye are the body of Christ, and severally members thereof. 1 Cor 12: 27.

Paul illustrates with the body and its many members, each made by the Creator for all the rest and to be of use to one another. This brings us the thought of working together. May our young people get the thought that the principle of team work so much practiced in athletics should be applied in every day life. "What did God give you the crook in your arms for? Why surely to hook into some other fellow's." God ordained that we should work together, for the welfare of each depends upon all. Never before were the needs, the necessity of working together for the coming of God's kingdom so great as in this year 1921.

Ninety and nine were present at Sunday school last Sunday morning. Let us go out before next Sunday and ask those who are not coming to come up to the Lord's house.

The Mothers' Day service crowd was great, every seat was full. The flowers, music, songs and readings by our young people, the thoughts expressed were all so sweet and sacred.

Twentynine were present at the young people's prayer meeting on Tuesday evening and the interest taken is very encouraging.

We are very glad that so many of our High School students took the state examination on the New Testament last Friday and we are looking for all to pass with good grades.

The W F M S spent last Friday afternoon with Mrs D S McWilliams. Thirtyfive ladies were present. As a result of the mystery box contest the hostesses were Mesdames Cook, Hadley, Marsters, Taylor and McWilliams. A program was rendered and refreshments were served.

The pastor's subject next Sunday morning will be Spiritual Power.

HAVE KEEN EYE FOR DANGER

Hunter Asserts That It Is Practically Impossible to Surprise the Mountain Sheep.

"The mountain sheep is one of the most difficult of all our American game to approach in the open," says Charles L. Smith in an article on the "Rocky Mountain Sheep" in Boy's Life. "It has eyes like a telescope for keenness and can discover and make out a man farther away than any other animal of which I have any knowledge, and where any considerable herd have been feeding one will see usually one or more standing on some prominent point where they can get a view of the surrounding country. I know of no more inspiring sight than one of those old rams with his massive horns outlined against the sky, standing as motionless as a statue. And it is a wonder to the hunter how they get across the rock slopes with such ease and grace. There has been much written of the mountain sheep, of its wonderful feats of springing from ledges and lighting upon its head and horns, which is without foundation in fact. While it is true they can stand an immense shock in battle, yet if one of those sheep weighing 300 pounds should drop from a ledge of any considerable height and land on his head his neck would be broken. I spent several years in the sheep country in the Canadian Rockies and was near the sheep or among them during all seasons of the year and they seem to be less sensitive to the rigors of winter and the ever-changing elements of the high altitudes than any other animal except possibly the mountain goat, and of these animals I think they have the advantage, because I have a number of times found mountain goats jured in the deep snow in places where food was scarce, but I have never yet found mountain sheep in this condition."

FINE HAT MAKING A PHILIPPINE ART

This Filipina is making a Philippine hat, which is becoming quite popular with both men and women in the United States, and is usually a source of great pride to the wearer.

FILIPINO INDEPENDENCE, BUT NO GUARANTY

(Chicago Tribune.)
We do not blame the Filipino people for wanting their complete freedom. It is the natural aspiration of mankind.

School of Journalism in Philippines
Manila—A school of journalism, the first in the Far East, has been established at the University of the Philippines, in Manila.

Admission to the School of Journalism is limited to third and fourth year students who have shown marked ability in the use of English. The course is open to both men and women. A class of about 50 registered at the opening of the journalistic course.

As a Modern Filipino Actually Looks

There are hundreds of thousands of this type of young men in the Philippines. They are to be the future rulers of the destinies of the islands.

The Filipino has been much misrepresented in the United States. This is largely because the Sunday supplements have made a specialty of portraying the semi-civilized non-Christian hill tribes as "typical" Filipinos, which is far from the truth.

The total population of the Philippines is 19,250,640, of which 9,496,272 are Christians and civilized, and have been so for 200 years, possessing a culture and refinement that will compare favorably with that of other countries. The number of non-Christians is 9,754,368, and only a small percentage of them are uncivilized. They are fast becoming educated, and will ultimately make good citizens.

Seventy per cent of the inhabitants of the Philippines over ten years of age, according to the last census, are literate. This is a higher percentage of literacy than that of any South American country, higher than that of Spain, and higher than that of any of the New Republics of Europe whose independence is being guaranteed by the Allies.

Here's a Real Argument For Philippine Independence

A Typical Philippine Homestead

The United States isn't the only country that has homesteaders—those enterprising pioneers who leave thickly populated districts and take their families into virgin territory to create homes for themselves. The Philippine islands have thousands of thirty homesteaders.

The above photograph shows a picture of a Christian Filipino homesteader and his family near Pikit, Cotabato province, Mindanao, P. I. Five years ago he was a cab driver working for low wages at Cebu, a thickly populated city. He went into the then wilderness of Mindanao, planted hemp and coconuts, paid for his land and has become wealthy. Thousands of similar instances could be cited. One Mindanao homesteader is worth $200,000.

The Philippine government is encouraging the immigration of Filipinos from the thickly populated sections into Mindanao. This is the second largest of the islands of the archipelago. It is still sparsely settled, although it is one of the richest and most productive islands in the world. Many Americans have established plantations there and become rich. Filipinos are using the stories of the many successful Filipino homesteaders as an argument for independence. They make the point that a people that can go out into a tropical wilderness with no capital save their patience, perseverance and energy and win homes for themselves, have the necessary stamina to run their own affairs.
