Miss Lily Rickard of Alford took train Tuesday for Milton, where she intends to enter college for the winter.

J. E. Bowers left here Tuesday for his home in Lebanon. Mr. Bowers was a shoemaker here some four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Robinson of Portland were arrivals here Tuesday to be over-night guests of G. T. Kitchen, who is Mrs. Robinson's brother. They had been visiting friends in nearby cities and left for Portland Wednesday.

On page six of this issue you will find an advertisement of the auction sale of J. C. Walton, which takes place September 16, on his farm, as he desires to quit the farming game. It will be a large sale, as can be seen by consulting the bills that are out.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamey who spent the greater part of the summer here visiting Mrs. Hamey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chancy Sicksel, left on Wednesday's train for their home in Dayville, Ore.

The Neighbors of Woodcraft met last evening. Two members were taken in by transfer and five by initiation, after which a musical program was enjoyed. This was followed by a real banquet, the kind that Halsey is noted for. It was the last meeting of Mrs.

Harry Taylor with the circle prior to her departure for Albany and she was given the honors.

There was a small attendance at the Rialto last week, though the play was a good one, considering the subject. Metempsychosis is one on which, like that of the leap of the dead, there will always be a difference of opinion, and many will be indifferent, but tomorrow evening's presentation of Churchill's "The Inside of the Cup" ought to fill the house. Not only the story one of the most popular in the language, but it has been prepared without regard to expense or presentation on the screen.

The Halsey schools will open September 19 with the following corps of teachers: Principal, Henry F. English; assistant principal, Esther Bond; seventh and eighth grades, Agnes Brown; fifth and sixth, Ethel Bray; third and fourth, Nora Pehrson; first and second, Minnie E. Cross. The principal says he is here to serve the best needs of the school and the community. He will be glad to meet at his residence, east of the hotel, any of the patrons who wish to consult him in regard to the school work.

James McWilliams has been circulating a petition to the game authorities for a perpetual closed season for Bob White quail. He got 75 signatures in a short time. Nobody refused to sign. Farmers regard these birds as friends that destroy injurious insects and do no harm.

A Wedding

Miss Effie Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walton, residing near this city, became the bride of Wade McKee of Shedd Tuesday, Sept. 6.

The ring ceremony was performed at the M. E. parsonage in Albany by Rev. Mr. Spencer in the presence of the immediate family of the bride and a few close friends.

Mr. and Mrs. McKee departed on the noon train for Portland and points in Washington. After the trip they will be at home near Independence.

Garrulous Person Unpopular.
Talkative people who wish to be loved are hated; when they desire to please, they bore; when they think they are admired, they are laughed at; they injure their friends, benefit their enemies, and ruin themselves.—F. D. Trench.

Brownsville Briefs

A. B. Miller came over from Albany Saturday evening to spend Sunday with his family, returning to his work Monday morning. He expects soon to return to Brownsville to reside.

Mrs. John Warren, residing on Halsey avenue, fell from a wagon at the Hume hopyard one day last week and quite seriously injured one arm. However she was too plucky to quit the job and went right on picking hops with the uninjured hand. Mrs. Warren is quite advanced in years.

Mr. King of Silvertop, an old-time resident of Brownsville, was crossing palms with his many friends here Saturday while looking after business matters.

Professor Raymond Baker and family moved their household effects here last week. They appear to be very wide-awake people and will receive a cordial welcome in the educational, social and religious circles of the community.

Professor Weber and family of Harrisburg spent Sunday at Brownsville relatives and friends. They will always receive very cordial greetings whenever they return to Brownsville, where the professor was for so many years the efficient head of our schools.

Thursday of last week on a considerable mountain near Riddle occurred the somewhat romantic wedding of Dr. Harney A. Dewey, a chiropractic physician of Portland, and Miss Sylvia Lee, daughter of Mrs. Charles Burr of Brownsville. Quite a company of friends autoed from Brownsville to Riddle to witness the nuptials.

B. W. Loucks and son "Bob," on west Halsey avenue, have been in Corvallis for some time building fireplaces and doing other mason work. He has a number of contracts in the college city.

Before this item falls under the eyes of the reader, if all goes well, Brownsville's paving will have been completed and turned over to the city. It is certainly a fine improvement and the general impression is that it will greatly benefit the town. The completed work is the consummation of many years of agitation.

A community house for Brownsville is a nearby possibility. Calacoola post of the American Legion is backing the enterprise, and, since the point is to have quarters in the proposed building, will enter into the program with enthusiasm and zest that will probably spell success. Such a building is admittedly much needed.

Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23 and 24, are the dates of the Calacoola valley fair to be held in Brownsville. The first day will be largely devoted to placing exhibits and arranging displays. A program of sports has been arranged for the second day. There will be open-air dances both evenings. The good people of Halsey and vicinity are invited to converse and help celebrate the completion of the paving, which is to be a part of the second day's program, and enjoy the other interesting features.

This week will see the finish of hop-picking in the Hume-McHargue yard. Hops are reported lightly under weight this year. Several other yards are in operation. No lack of pickers is reported.

The combed payment seems to have introduced the speeding bullet and the Enterprise correspondent may soon have a "frightful accident" to report.

George Wolf, whose critical illness was chronicled last week, now seems to be safely on the road to recovery. His twin brother Harry was called home from southern Oregon and a sister, Veva, from Washington.

Mrs. Park B. Beattie and daughter Ruth are spending a week at McCredie Springs trying the benefits of the hot baths.

Miss Ruth Beatty has secured the Union Point school and will begin teaching the fall term in about a week.

At a business meeting followed by a social hour at the manse Monday evening, the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church elected the following officers: President, Miss Helen McElain; vice president, Miss Ruth Beattie; secretary, Miss Eva Miller; treasurer, Lloyd Stone. There were twenty-five present and a delightful evening was spent.

George Tetrie, who knocked W. M. King down because he thought he had helped cause his arrest for maintaining a nuisance at the slaughter yard, was indicted for assault and battery and pleaded guilty and was fined $50.

The Times thinks there is a good prospect of enough money being raised to build the much-needed community building and make it a monument to the local boys who served in the world war.

Elmer Henderson's farm has been legally christened "Sunkist Crest Ranch."

What About THE New Prices?

You no doubt have been disappointed in what some merchants have told you were new prices, when they were not. Many have tried to hold to the old prices as long as possible in order to sell the stock they bought at the peak price.

Again, some have held sales in order to make the public believe they were getting bargains when in many cases the new market price was as low as, if not lower than, the so-called sale price

We have taken our loss and you can depend on buying clothing and furnishings here at the lowest possible price for quality merchandise. We are quoting below a few items out of each line with the old price and the new
