Mrs. Mary C. Fish, 78, died at Plainview Sunday.

A car crank (not the two-legged kind) kicked and broke Pearl Hathaway's arm at Harrisburg.

Burglars tried Beard's store at Harrisburg Friday night but were scared away after they had cut the putty from a pane of glass.

First inspection was given 354 acres of potatoes in Oregon this year, six acres of which were in Linn county. There will be more certified seed available than ever before.

Smallpox cases are reported at Albany, but that is nothing new in Oregon as winter approaches. The cases are popularly called "Filipino itch" and are quarantined and do not become epidemic.

Ray Logan, well known here but now residing at Athena, made a hunting trip to the Canadian Rockies and came home with some fine trophies. He and two companions exhibit the antlers of three moose and three caribou, the legal limit. Logan's moose antlers have a spread of 47 inches, and his caribou had 21 points. He tracked a grizzly bear one day but did not get him. They used boats in hunting moose and packhorses when they got the caribou.

In the Harmony community fifty people gathered to observe the culling of 150 brown Leghorns by County Agent Heyman. Mrs. Spratt reported the following results: In seven days previous to the culling 150 hens laid 351 eggs; at the demonstration 70 hens were put into the cull flock and during the seven following days the 80 select hens laid 312 eggs while the 70 culls laid only four eggs. With the flock almost cut in half nearly as many eggs were received the seven days following the culling as the even days previous.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ringo, with friends, motored to Brownsville.

Sunday evening and attended the Baptist church at that place.

The annual Red Cross baby clinic opened Tuesday at the community house in Albany with 137 babies registered. Each day doubtless others will enter the contest.

M. W. Hayes of Asbland left on Wednesday's train for Salem for a visit before going home. He had been a guest at the home of his brother who is assistant postmaster at Brownsville, and who with his wife accompanied him to the train.

By reading the chapters of the serial on pages 4 and 5 of this week's Enterprise and the Lincoln page in our supplement you can learn more about Lincoln's first love, Ann Rutledge, than you could in any other way.

About 150 individuals enjoyed the elaborate cafeteria dinner at the Christian church last Sunday. It was served on the lawn and a grand time was had. At the regular service in the evening there was a large attendance.

In a running race at the county fair yesterday a horse bolted the track and broke a leg of C. Vandran of the Vandran hotel, broker R. Christopher's collar bone and bruised up Philip Caron, a Los Angeles jockey.

Mrs. W. A. Ringo is the proprietor of a fine new electric washer received this week. It was ordered through G. W. Mornheweg of the implement store. This does not mean that the aforesaid lady will do washing for anyone beside her own family, but it does mean that her work will be the lighter. Go thou and do likewise.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Warmoth of Salem arrived today. Mrs. Warmoth is the daughter of Grant Taylor and a cousin of Will Kirby and lived here most of her life.

D. Wesley of Halsey went to Albany today to take in the fair.

THE TOP COAT OF OPOSSUM

The wise woman now is taking thought for her winter wardrobe. Here is a charming full top coat of Australian opossum. The full lines and the "runs" of the opossum pelts afford especial interest.

An Economist. "Are your boy's tastes expensive? Not always," said Farmer Cornsossel, hopefully. "I have noticed that Josh would rather hear a 50-cent jazz record than the highest priced grand opera that the phonograph affords."

Daily Thought. I never knew any man in my life who could not bear another's misfortunes perfectly like a Christian. — Pope.

Brownsville Briefs

Quite a number of our people are wrestling with the flu. Have heard of no serious cases.

Dr. O. H. Kent and family visited Sunday in Albany with Mrs. Kent's mother and sister.

At the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, in connection with communion service, eight new members were publicly received.

Grandma Cooley and Mrs. W. C. Cooley visited at the Drinkard home near Harrisburg a few days. Mr. D. is a son-in-law of the elder Mrs. Cooley and she remained for a longer stay with the family.

While riding his bike Sunday evening Harry Sawyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sawyer, in some manner took a header, landing off the pavement on the crushed rock and cutting the left arm severely. Dr. Fanning took five stitches to bring the wound together.

Rev. Mr. Martin and Rev. Mr. Rorabaugh, representatives of the American Sunday School Union, were here a few days in the interest of their work. The former spoke in the Baptist and the latter in the Presbyterian church. They relate some almost incredible instances of ignorance of the Bible and all religious experiences right here in Linn county.

The Presbyterian people are arranging to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the dedication of their house of worship, which falls on the 25th of this month. Rev. J. E. Snyder, D. D., who was pastor when the church was built, Rev. Harry Templeton, D. D., Rev. James Thompson and Rev. George Pratt, all at one time members, but now in the active ministry, have indicated their intention to be present and assist, and the occasion promises to be one of great interest to the congregation.

Fred McHargue and family arrived in Brownsville Saturday afternoon with their household effects and several cows, and the same evening transferred their goods to the Charlie Hand farm, near Holley, which they have leased. The cattle having been off feed two days were corralled on the Washburn place for rest and feed until the first of the week. Mr. McHargue is a nephew of Mrs. Joseph Hume and Mrs. Ida Hansen and came in from Marshfield. A daughter makes her home with her aunts and attends the Brownsville schools.

Mrs. Eliza Robe, Main street, South Brownsville, accompanied by her son-in-law, Elias Marsters, living on the Brownsville-Halsey road, came Sunday to see the new great grandson, born to Mrs. Mildred Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marsters, the last of the week. Mrs. Smith's home is in Klamath Falls, but she has been with her parents for several weeks. Mrs. Robe is a widely known pioneer of the coast country, having come west with her husband, the late Rev. R. Robe, when there were comparatively few settlements in Oregon. She has passed her 80th birthday anniversary and for 73 years she has been a devout member of the Presbyterian church, in which her husband was an active leader for so many years. She is remarkably well preserved for one of her years, and thoroughly enjoys life. Her life has been a benediction to this community and every other where she has lived.

After the attack of the preachers on the American Legion's community building movement the Odd Fellows' lodge and the Ladies' Study club gave the army boys their public indorsement. Those pastors builded better than they knew or intended.

The exhibits from the Calapooia valley fair, contributed by Brownsville, Crawfordville and Holley, attracted much attention and favorable comment at the county fair.

A Brownsville dispatch in the Oregonian says of Cyrus Newland's dog: Mr. Newland, when alone on his farm and far from the house, was suddenly smitten recently with a severe attack resembling apoplexy. He fell and could not even crawl toward the house. The dog whined and seemed to indicate that he would help. Thereupon Mr. Newland clung to the big creature and was half pulled home, where he finally managed to call a doctor on the telephone.

FASHIONS IN WINTER FURS

Wide Diversity Shown in Styles of Peltry to Have Milady's Favor for Coming Season.

A passing glance at the fur garments displayed shows a wide diversity in style. There is no set fashion even in silhouette. One wrap may have close-fitting capes that form the long straight lines, while the next garment may be developed in wide, outstanding circular effects. There are many charming models and those built on the lines of a cape are popular. It is quite certain that there will be no difficulty in expressing individuality in the furs we wear next winter. It is apparent that black fur garments will be especially favored. Handsome models in caracul, baby lamb, Hudson seal and astrakhan are plentiful. Next to black the gray furs will be in demand, so there are charming models in mole and squirrel. Of course, the beautiful mink coats and wraps will continue to be worn for evening functions.

A new fur which is a mixture of chinchilla and opossum is shown in trimmings and is also used in wraps in combination with fur fabrics. In neckpieces the animal skins seem to be the first choice. The pointed fox and fisher are being shown in large quantities, and there are handsome models in sitka and white fox.

FOR MEDIUM SIZED WOMEN

This chic little black velvet hat is not designed for tall women. Huge bows of black velvet, lined with white silk, constitute the trimming.

LEAVES THE FOREHEAD BARE

New Coiffure Difficult to Wear and is Suitable for Only Certain Types of Faces.

It is to be noted that there is an increasing tendency toward coiffures which leave the forehead bare—so much, in fact, that one questions whether it is not being carried a little too far, for it is a difficult coiffure to wear and there are many women who are not of the type to attempt it. With certain faces it is ideal. One young woman at Paris fete, for whom this arrangement was most charming, was a blonde of the romantic type, a fact which she accentuated cleverly by dressing her hair in the manner of the heroines of Balzac, with a little "heart-breaker" curl drawn forward to the middle of the cheek, vastly becoming to her type of beauty. She wore a girlish frock of white mousseline, with a fichu and individual little sleeves.—Vogue

Just Like a Relative. A little girl being asked at school how she liked her teacher, replied: "I don't like her at all. She's just as mean to me as my mother."—Boston Transcript.

When Mr. Stivers, pastor of the First Christian church at Eugene, took the pastorate he astonished old fogey members by spending hundreds of dollars in advertising its services in the newspapers. He still keeps up the practice, and the church has doubled and trebled its membership and last Sunday its Sunday school attendance was the largest in the history of Oregon.

Laudable Ambition. Marjorie—Do you know what I'm going to do, Rosie? I'm going to be a book here when I get a little bigger, and then I can boss mamma.—Edinburgh Scotsman.
