Among the items quoted by last Sunday's Albany Democrat from its issue of 50 years previous was the statement that Halsey contained 25 houses.

Miss Cleona Smith spent the week end at home with her father, who has been on the ailing list, and returned to her school in Brownsville Monday.

The Karl Bramwell family celebrated Karl's birthday, which occurred Monday, by a fine dinner on Sunday at the home of his mother in Eugene.

Tom and Ernest Hover and J. P. Hunter returned Sunday night from a hunting trip near Grants Pass with several deer, one weighing 150 pounds. They report a fine time, but say the rain made the roads pretty bad.

Rev. C. T. Cook was summoned on Monday to go to Junction City to preach a funeral sermon Wednesday over John Ladene, who died there Monday, aged nearly 80. The only relative Ladene leaves is a daughter.

Dr. D. E. Ruff, 51 years old, a veteran of the civil war, died at his home at Junction City last Thursday and Rev. C. T. Cook of Halsey conducted the funeral there Saturday. Dr. Ruff had given up his practice several years ago as advancing years told on him.

Guy Bramwell and wife were guests of their parents here Saturday and stated they had disposed of their Brownsville property and had bought the Frank Cameron farm near Holley. They will remain in Brownsville until spring on account of the children going to school.

Dr. D. G. Barum of this city stood on his front porch the other evening and watched someone carry off a tire they had appropriated from the doctor's car. The next day he sent out strong warning notices and later the tire was found in his front yard.—Harrisburg Cor. Albany Herald.

Of Roy Lawrence, whose wife is one of the Brownsville school teachers, the Lebanon Criterion says: Miss Mary Lawrence and Mrs. Vivian Shaffer and little son Edgar of Salem passed through Lebanon Tuesday en route to Brownsville to visit their brother, Roy Lawrence, who is critically ill at his home in that city, with little hope being entertained for his recovery.

WISCONSIN GIRL DEFIES HANDICAP

Develops System of Conversing With Others Not Equaled Even by Helen Keller.

IS BOTH BLIND AND DEAF

By Placing Her Fingers on Vocal Cords of a Person She Can Tell What Is Being Said Before Words Are Actually Spoken.

Janesville, Wis.—Overcoming the handicap of both blindness and deafness in a manner which has astonished all medical authorities who have heard of it, Miss Wileta Huggins, sixteen years old, a student of the Wisconsin School for the Blind at Janesville, has learned to listen to the conversation of others through the medium of placing a finger on the vocal cords of the person with whom she is talking.

Denied the power to see or hear, this girl has acquired through practice senses so keen, so accurate and so marvelous that she is believed to have a system of understanding which has never been equaled even by Helen Keller, famous blind girl.

Wileta, through some strange and unexplainable sense, can tell who is in a room with her or in adjoining room, if she has known the person for but a short time.

Converses With Two at Once. Through this strange means of conversation, Wileta may carry on a conversation with two people at the same time simply by placing any finger or one hand on the vocal cords and telling by the vibrations just what is being said before the words are actually spoken.

She is of normal build for a girl of sixteen years, robust and has a healthy color in her cheeks. Unless one studied her eyes they would not readily note her great affliction as she walks with as steady a gait as a normal person would. Upon entering a room where there are visitors she will walk without faltering up to J. T. Hooper, superintendent of the school. Wileta is unable herself to understand or explain the reason for her strange method of hearing. It just came to her; this is her only explanation. She has been at the school for six years.

May Develop New Method. During her first year at school Wileta was not a very diligent student and was especially backward in studying the point system of reading. She mastered the reading system, however, knowing that it was only a matter of time when she would be unable to see.

The achievements of Wileta Huggins are attracting such wide attention that one of the large women's magazines of the country contains an interview with her and a story of her success. It is the opinion of psychologists that a new method of teaching the deaf will be developed as a result of the tests which have been made on Wileta Huggins.

Woman's Heel Gets Tangled in Plane

London.—A woman's heel, becoming jammed, caused the wreck of an airplane and the loss of three lives, at Fort Melbourne, Australia, according to a Central News dispatch from Melbourne to the London Daily News. H. G. Ross, an aviator, took Miss Jessie Dorman and a young man for a flight. Miss Dorman's heel became jammed between the rudder bar and the wooden bar, and the pilot was unable to turn his machine, which crashed heavily, all three occupants being killed.

Moral: Take a Chance. The man who tries his best will not always win, but he will win oftener than the man who doesn't try except when he knows he will win.—Boston Transcript.

Brownsville Briefs

The improvement of the road to the cemetery has been completed. Raymond Fox dislocated his right arm in a gentle game of football.

In his second siege in a Portland hospital with his broken leg a piece of bone from his shin was grafted into William Howe's wound and recovery is hoped for.

(Correspondence) Some of the fruit men in this vicinity are experiencing difficulty in securing apple boxes. Mr. Stratton last week had to go to Salem to procure a supply.

Perry Sullivan, living on the Brownsville-Halsey road, about a mile from town, is out on crutches after being laid up something like eight weeks with an injured foot and ankle. In some manner he got his foot between the water tank and wagon wheel, cracking the heel and tearing loose some of the ligaments about the ankle. It was a very painful injury and will not be fully healed for some time.

Mrs. R. B. Forbes of the Dunlap Drug company returned the latter part of the week from a stay of several months at Newport

Mrs. Forbes owns a cottage at Newport and enjoys entertaining her friends who visit the coast. She was much benefited by the outing.

Mrs. McKay is here from California visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wells, and a sister, Mrs. Loomis, living on what was the Otis Taylor fruit ranch near town which they purchased last spring. So well pleased is Mrs. McKay with what she has seen of this valley that she hopes some day that she and her husband may become residents.

Oren Stratton has his third car of apples from his orchard this fall ready to ship. Since it takes about 750 boxes to fill a car these shipments represent about 2200 boxes. He expects to get more than $2 a box, possibly $2.25. There will be several hundred boxes in addition for the local trade, beside inferior grades and culls.

William Lentz, son of Mrs. Loomis, died at the family home near town Tuesday night. The death was very sudden, few having heard of his illness, which was of but a few days' duration. He was about 20 years of age and of unusually well-developed physique, with every promise of a long life of usefulness. He was one of the dependable assistants in putting in the pavement just a few weeks ago.

Dr. Howard of Corvallis was called in consultation with Dr. Waltz, but with their skill, aided by the help of trained nurse, was unavailing. Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. M. McClain, assisted by Rev. W. P. Elmore, and interment followed in the Masonic cemetery.

A stranger was here Tuesday to interview Loeb, the sawmill man, and was greatly surprised to learn that he had closed his mill and gone elsewhere several months ago.

The Brownsville and Scio football teams met on the Brownsville gridiron Friday afternoon, the game resulting in favor of the home team, 31 to 7.

The popping of guns in every direction Saturday heralded the opening of the season on pheasants. The birds seem quite plentiful. The farmers no doubt have fed them well, so that they are in prime order for the city and town nimrods to shoot and carry home with them. Not a very profitable division of results, so far as the farmer is concerned.

A great deal of difficulty is being experienced in Brownsville getting carriers for the Portland dailies and many subscribers are having their papers sent through the mail.

Miss Anna Warmoth, on Blakely avenue, is very sick. Mrs. Will Teapleton cares for her during the day. Her niece, Miss Lillie Warmoth, a teacher in the school, is with her except in school hours.

The exterior of the Baptist church has been beautified with a liberal coat of white paint. Local artists did the work and the job reflects credit on their skill.

Miss Ruth Beatty, who, as her churches dismissed their regular services Sunday evening and united with the Methodist people in a welcome to their new pastor, Rev. C. T. Morris, who with his family arrived the evening before from Yoncalla. The two visiting pastors assisted in the service, as did the retiring Methodist pastor, Rev. T. H. Downs, who had not yet gone to his new work at Sutherlin and Wilbur. The service was a pleasant one thruout, and the new pastor gave evidence that he will be a worthy helper in the fight of the churches against all forms of evil in the community.

Instead of the regular services Sunday evening the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor society in a body attended the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Christian church, returning a visit the latter society had paid them some weeks ago. It is good to see the young people working and fellowshiping together in such Christian harmony.

The latest report from Edwin Sawyer is to the effect that he may be able to return home this week.

The programs are out and final plans about completed for the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the dedication of the Brownsville Presbyterian church next Tuesday, Oct. 25. A great time is anticipated.
