With the late large shipment of apples from the Willamette and Umpqua valleys on its way to England in the steamship Nebraska, the apple shipping season in those districts is completed. These apples were shipped by the Oregon Growers' association. In spite of the general sluggish condition of the market throughout the shipping season, there was a good demand for large apples of nearly every variety if they could be laid on the market early. Small apples are hard to dispose of even in a year when the demand is good.

In order to protect the street from caving, a retaining wall had to be constructed under the walk along the east side of the south approach of the bridge. The high water cut away a good deal of the gravel and dirt filling and was endangering the paving. Superintendent Blakely with a force of men did the work, which promises to prevent further trouble.

The flood last week was not nearly so serious as the one two weeks previous; still a very large volume of water came out of the hills and spread over the valley near the river.

"The disarmament conference must be successful. No opposition, specious or political, will be countenanced. There might be a fleeting temptation with a few to visit upon Lodge and his associates the same methods that he himself invoked against humanity, but it will be overwhelmed in the larger consideration of the general welfare."—M. Cox, who ran against Harding for president.

ALFALFA SEED THIS SEASON

According to Reports to Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates Production is Larger.

A somewhat larger production of alfalfa seed this year than last is indicated by reports to the bureau of markets and crop estimates. Dry, hot weather interfered with the crop in portions of the Southwest, but elsewhere the crop is larger than usual.

Who Shall Enter. Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 8:21.

Patching Wallpaper. To match wallpaper successfully, instead of cutting the paper tear it across irregularly. The white edge made by the tearing will not be on the patch, but on the unused paper. By matching the design the patch will be almost invisible.
