Brownsville Briefs

(By Elaine Woodworth)

Cecil Harrison, Jack Bartram and Clarence Boggie made a business trip to Portland Monday.

Fred Harrison and family are contemplating a trip to Riddle, Ore., the latter part of this week.

Frank Newland has been quite worried because someone has stolen his Stutz Bearcat automobile. Anyone knowing its whereabouts is requested to return it to the owner.

Harold Stevenson has a good radio outfit which he constructed himself. Mr. Stevenson said that twenty dollars covered all the expenses.

Harvest was delayed somewhat for a while by the recent rain, but the farmers were glad to see it nevertheless.

M. S. Woodworth motored to the county seat Thursday of last week.

Rev. Earl Cochran, a former pastor of Brownsville Baptist church, will preach at the union services next Sunday evening at the Methodist church. His many friends are glad to hear the news.

Irene Harrison and Carmelita Woodworth have recently made arrangements to do light house-keeping and attend college in McMinnville this winter.

EXAGGERATED IDEA OF HONOR

Vienna Student Kills Himself Because Unable to Give Enemy Proper Satisfaction.

The recent tragic death of a young engineering student in Vienna shows to what the exaggerated code of honor still upheld in some Continental countries is liable to lead, remarks the Vienna correspondent of the Times.

A few weeks ago the police raided the rooms of the Saxon Students' association and prevented a duel which was about to take place between two of its members. The duel was no ordinary "mensur" bout, but a serious encounter which was to settle an affair of honor. The quar-

Short Stories of Happenings in Linn County Generally and in Halsey Particularly

Will Berne and wife were visitors in Albany Friday.

G. T. Kitchen and family went to Gosben Sunday.

Mrs. Hugh Leeper made a visit of a couple of days at Tangent this week.

Frank Porter's household goods were shipped to Portland this week.

John Reese Mallow and Miss Dora Harris, both of Shedd, were married Monday.

Mrs. Stewart, late of Stewart & Price confectionery, and Joan went to Lebanon Tuesday.

H. E. Davis and wife went to Albany by auto and returned by train Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Winniford and friends from Albany went to Crabtree Sunday on a picnic.

Lawrence Taylor, Glenn and Carl Frum left this morning for Crater Lake in the Frum car. They will be gone about two weeks.

Mrs. C. H. Koontz and sons Herman and Martin arrived home Monday evening from their vacation at Newport.

Harry Harget of Harrisburg died last Wednesday. He fell from a load of hay in a field near Junction City the previous Saturday and fractured his skull.

Mr. France, recently in charge of the railroad station here, has located at North Bend. C. R. Alberts of Portland is handling the office now. A permanent appointment of an agent here is expected by September 1.

Mrs. Ida Cummings came from the county seat Tuesday to look after real estate property here, returning home the next day. She stopped at the home of her brother, George Maxwell.

There were two pairs of baby twins at the Christian church last Sunday and an effort will be made to have four pairs there next Sunday and have them photographed. It looks as though that church was growing.

Karl Bramwell has bought the pretty modern dwelling owned by Frank Porter on the corner of Fourth and J streets and moved in. Mr. Ganzel is expected to forthwith proceed with his garage plans on the place the Bramwells have occupied.

Mrs. Opal Higbee and twin boys Clair and Clarence of Tangent are visiting Mrs. Higbee's sisters, Mrs. W. H. Robertson, Mrs. E. C. Miller and Mrs. I. E. Gardner. The boys celebrated their second birthday Monday, August 14.

The Southern Pacific has had a crew of men doing a job that a few years ago would never have been thought of. Rails wear faster at the ends, where wheels first strike them, than anywhere else, with the result that there is a little depression, which causes a jar to the car, at every joint. Modern welding can be done without placing the iron in a forge, as of old, and a crew of men has been welding enough steel to each end of each rail to bring it back to its original level with the rest of the rail.

Undertaker Delbert Starr of Brownsville met Saturday's train from Portland with his hearse and took the remains of Mrs. Mary Hume of Portland, widow of Peter Hume, to Brownsville. Mrs. Hume resided at Brownsville for many years and her funeral was at 2:30 Sunday at the residence of her brother-in-law, Joseph Hume of that city.

"Why Girls Leave Home" at the Rialto Monday drew the first full house since vacation time began. The play was full of interest and its moral tone unquestionable. It emphasized the part of parental negligence in the delinquencies of the young and the need of intelligent, comprehending sympathy and comradeship between parents and children.

Mrs. M. M. Ward, Karl Bramwell's grandmother, 81 years old, resides at Brownsville. She arrived in Halsey Tuesday, after a tour including Albany, Eugene and other places. Mrs. Ward is as spry as the ordinary person of 60 and seldom wears eyeglasses. Mrs. Miller of Eugene, Karl's mother, came with her from there. (Continued on page 3)

WHERE WOMEN DO THE DIVING

Japan Has a Settlement Where the Fair Sex Bring Up the Pearls.

Near the city of Ishinomonsky, in Japan, is a settlement in which woman's rule may be said to be complete. The wives support the husbands and are the acknowledged heads of the family. The men keep house and do other work that usually is performed by women.

This condition of affairs is due simply to the fact that the women are more proficient in the chief industry of that vicinity than the men.

The settlement is on Schiam bay, where pearl shells are abundant and are taken from the bottom of the sea, says Asia Magazine. These women pearl-divers think nothing of working at their task for ten hours a day, remaining for two or three minutes at a time below the surface of the water.

The birth of a boy is considered bad luck, while great rejoicing hails the arrival of a baby girl. Men are regarded as inferior in every sense. At the early age of four years girls are taken to the sea and taught to swim and dive. At fourteen they begin in earnest. At forty they usually "retire."

It is not uncommon for many of them to have become grandmothers at that age or a little later, and the rest of their lives is spent in educating younger generations in the art of swimming and diving.

KING'S ESCAPE FROM ARREST

New Fuad I, New Ruler of Egypt, Checkmated the British Resident.

In 1913 Fuad I, the new king of Egypt, was an unsuccessful candidate for the Albanian throne, after having been colonel of artillery in the Italian army. When he became sultan of Egypt his role under the protectorate of England was not always easy to maintain.

One day a messenger of the British resident asked him to sign an ordinance against the Egyptian nationalists. He refused. And the messenger of the resident signified to him with the utmost courtesy:

"I shall then to my regret have to arrest and imprison your highness."

"Permit me," replied Fuad Pasha, to go to my room for a moment to reflect."

A few moments later Fuad came back in the uniform of an Italian colonel.

He was not arrested.—New York Tribune.

SONGS BRING FORTUNE

Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond, the American woman who has made a fortune as a writer of popular songs, was a poor widow when she took to song writing. She obtained the means for publishing her first songs by painting china—and also by going without food and warmth. Altogether she has written more than four hundred songs, and has built up an immense publishing business, which her son now manages.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

"What's the name of this town?"

"Cliggersville," said the conductor of the limited.

"What did you stop here for?"

"To take on hooch and water."

"Uh?"

"There's a tank up where the engine is and I notice the smoking car is catching a good many rough-looking citizens with paper suitcases."

—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Stayton had a $40,000 fire yesterday which destroyed the Commercial hotel and two general stores and damaged other buildings.

Shedd Shots

(By Anna Pennell)

Alton Coates of Albany, with his family, visited his father and mother here Sunday.

Roy Kendall is carrying mail for Kenneth Robson while he is on his vacation.

Fred Sprenger and Zella Kennedy were Albany shoppers Tuesday.

Mrs. L. G. Thompson spent the week in Portland.

Mrs. Bud McElvain of Portland is visiting her husband in Shedd.

Mr. and Mrs. Troutman and daughter Gail, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer and daughter Thais and Arthur Allet visited at Barnes' at Jefferson Sunday.

Alice Powers of Albany is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jack Cornett.

Grace Elizabeth Beals of Brownsville is visiting at Elmer Margason's.

Rev. Mr. Reed left Monday for Portland, where his son was operated on for a growth in his nose.

Home-Made Dress Forms?

The dress-model invention that has been introduced by department of agriculture experts and the O. A. C. was demonstrated Tuesday at the residence of Miss Nettie Spencer, she being the subject. The O. A. C. furnishes an outfit for $1. This consists of an undershirt, a razor and enough gummed paper tape to make the dress form. Sound: funny, doesn't it?

Here is the process: The subject dons the undergarment and takes position. The operation takes a wearisome length of time, during which she must stand rigidly in position, therefore assistants support her arms and help her. Wearing the undergarment, she is wound about with the gummed paper tape until she is completely covered with it from neck to waist and half way to the elbows.

As soon as it is dry the razor is used to cut the tape-covered garment apart down the front and back and it is taken off in two parts, fastened together again and filled with excelsior on which to fit your dress.

Fifteen ladies were present and each of them in turn, with the assistance of the others, expects to have one of these models made, upon which she can fit her dresses hereafter.

Congress is asked for $30,000 for an electric light plant for the Oregon caves.

Can You Guess Her Name?

A Halsey girl danced in private theatricals in Portland and had her "picture taken" but will not show it except to the very elect among her friends. The photographer, being bound by no promises, let a copy out to an engraver. You never saw the costume. If you recognize her in this disguise just ask her and she will probably not deny her identity, but don't ask the printer man, for he is not permitted to tell. She wore French heels only in the play, and would not wear short skirts even there. Sensible girl!
