Brownsville Briefs

(By Ralph Lawrence)
The following pupils wrote on one or more subjects in the state examination for the eighth grade given by Mrs. Lawrence Thursday and Friday: Doris Drinkard, Lois Henderson, Bonnie Kitebon, Harvey Walker, Paul Riffey, Edna Tull, Mary Wooddy, Hoyt Boles, Dan Sawyer, Frank Hale and Faye Holland.

Vida Miller has gone to Toledo, where she is to teach this year.

Irene Harrison leaves soon to take her position as teacher in a rural school on the Halsey road.

Elaine Woodworth has gone to Creswell, where she will attend high school this year. She is staying with Hazel Moyer.

Mr. Walker of the woolen mills is to move into the Lerwell property on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Claire of Salem are moving to Brownsville to make their home. Mrs. Claire is to teach the Union Point school.

Game Law is Expensive

(Joseph Patterson in Yaquina Bay News)
Next week the now celebrated game case of the state versus Winkley et al of Corvallis will again come to trial at Corvallis.

The case cost Benton county possibly $2,000 and a petition signed by a large number of heavy taxpayers was sent to the game warden asking him to drop the proceedings. The request of the taxpayers was not granted; the game wardens were not paying the taxes.

Much of the revenue derived by the game commission is from convictions of persons hunting or fishing without having one of the high licenses in their possession. Linn county, for instance, has sold only about 50 per cent as many licenses as last year. The present fees are too high except for prosperous sportsmen and they should be reduced at the next legislature, even if so doing would necessitate reducing the salaries and expenses of the many deputy game wardens now enjoying official ease.

A few experienced trappers who may be unfamiliar with running expensive automobiles and living luxuriously might be employed and sent into the byways to kill off the predatory animals which not only prey upon game but also destroy sheep and goats, in such quantities in some localities that they cannot be raised profitably on that account.

School Opens Monday

Prof. English and wife and the young gentleman of the infant class with whom they reside and whose orders they are bound to obey are home for business, as school opens Monday.

It is important that every pupil be on hand the first day. A few days lost at the beginning are liable to have a bad effect on the rating all the way through.

The personnel of the teaching force this year is: Henry F. English, principal; Inez Freeland, assistant principal.

Grade school, Agnes Brown, seventh and eighth; Ethel Bray, fifth and sixth; Amanda Mftzner, third and fourth; Minnie Cross, first and second.

The following courses are offered in the high school: 1 English 1, 2 and 3; 2 bookkeeping; 3 ancient history; 4 French; 5 Latin 1; 6 plane geometry; 7 algebra 1; 8 general science; 9 physics and 10 civics.

How easy for a printer to make a little mistake that will loom big when the paper is printed. At the bottom of column 1, page 3, this week are twenty-nine lines that should have followed the first two lines on column 3 of that page. See how a little transposition musses things up!

The Enterprise, by a freak of types, represented the horns of Frank Porter's prize cattle as too long. It called them shorthorns instead of red pointed. Their horns are not short, but non-existent.

Polgar, the famous bull owned by William M. McBride of Shedd, has taken his place as the first of the Jersey breed to qualify for the medal of merit, the American Jersey club has announced.

Sam Surber says the stories the papers are publishing about big cucumbers, make him tired. He would have brought his biggest one to town but he could not find a wagon big enough to haul it on, and after he had chopped it up with an ax a wagon load of it wouldn't have been worth showing.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 17

THE MESSAGE OF MALACHI

LESSON TEXT—Mal. 3:1-4.
GOLDEN TEXT—Return unto me, and I will return unto you, saith the Lord of Hosts.—Mal. 3:7.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—II Kings 17-23; Isa. 6; Ezek. 21-7; Acts 20-36; II Cor. 4:1-9.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Promise of the Savior's Coming.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Offerings That Please God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What We Should Give to God.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What the Bible Teaches About Giving.

The subject of today's lesson is broader than the text, especially the verses printed. The best way to teach this lesson is to give a survey of the entire book.

Malachi was perhaps contemporary with Nehemiah; probably sustained the same relation to Nehemiah that Haggai and Zechariah did to Zerubbabel. After the completion of the walls of Jerusalem Nehemiah seems to have been called back to the Persian court, but returned to Jerusalem after a few years. Though outwardly the lives of the people were correct, the prophet pointed out the sins of a corrupt priesthood, mixed marriages and a failure to pay tithes.

I. Israel's Base Ingratitude (1:1-5). God approached them with the tender affirmation "I have loved you." It was the prophet's burden to declare this fact unto them (v. 1). So formal and worldly were the people that they failed to see God's hand upon them. The attitude of Israel to God is shown in the skeptical insinuation "Wherein hast Thou loved us?" The prophet answers this by showing God's choice of Jacob and His passing by Esau; His destruction of Edom and saving Israel.

Shedd Shots

(By Anna Peunell)
Robert Toms and wife and son of Bandon visited George Strange and wife a few days last week.

Leo Harris of Albany spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. P. I. Troutman.

Mrs. Charles Pugh and daughter Merle and Kathryn and son Harold drove to Newport Friday to be gone several days.

Lyman Pennell went to Portland on business Saturday, returning Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. Reid are preparing to leave Shedd some time this week for Tacoma, where they expect to make their home.

C. A. Troutman and wife and daughter Gail, Mrs. Ray Myers and daughter Thais and Mrs. Lyman Pennell drove to Eugene Saturday.

Excitement reigned high in Shedd for a while Saturday morning when the Sunday school quarters of the U. P. church caught fire from a defective flue. Some of the members were cleaning up after a banquet of the night before and burning up some paper plates, when the roof caught fire. A bucket brigade was formed and the fire was soon extinguished, only damaging the roof.

Lotus Pennell returned from Canby Saturday evening. He had been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. L. C. Pennell.

Jim Tait, the barber, spent Sunday and labor day at the county metropolis.

This week will end the paving season in Shedd. Most of the paving crew will then go to Newberg, where the company has a contract to resurface about seventeen miles of road.

Tom Henry and George Gould and their families left Sunday for Newport for an outing.

The Corvallis branch of the Ro-coe Ames hardware company has sold more Marion county hunting licenses than there have been sold of Linn county licenses through all agencies. That store took in $270 for such licenses last month and over $500 in May.

One reason for this, Mr. Ames says, is the big labor pay rolls which make money more plentiful there. Many men there, having the money, get licenses early. He expects an increase in license sales here when the time for hunting fowls arrives.
