State fair weather was one day late in arriving, but it was here in full force Tuesday—Oregon mist.

Last Sunday's Sunday school lesson was ready for the press when the Enterprise was printed, but was crowded out by news.

A handsome matched pair of black horses, weighing 2800 pounds, failed to evoke a bid at the Marsters auction, which fact is comment enough on the rise of the auto and the decline of Dobbin.

O. A. C. advises sowing treated and untreated strips of cheat and observing the effect of the treatment on rust. The Murphy Seed company in an advertisement this week offers treated seed, ready for sowing, and also sells the powdered copper carbonate for those who prefer to treat their own.

Mrs. May Ward has come from eastern Oregon with her four children to take advantage of the Halsey schools. She makes her home with her mother, Mrs. M. B. Southern.

Miss Marie Sneed held a place in the public library at Seattle and one of her specialties was the conducting of a "children's hour," which was greatly enjoyed by the little folks. She surprised her parents, N. T. Sneed and wife, by coming home Saturday for a visit of a week. On her way home her parents expect to accompany her as far as Corvallis, where they will visit their son and brother Erzell at O. A. C. Miss Sneed is a student at the University of Washington.

G. T. Hockensmith and wife of Albany were visiting their relatives, the Bonds, Sunday.

The Koontz family visited Salem Sunday.

The Albertson family, from Porter, were in town Tuesday.

C. A. Overton of Brownsville was fined $10 Monday for leaving a campfire burning on Tombstone prairie.

C. P. Stafford and wife dined at Prof. English's Sunday.

T. J. Skirvin went to Eugene Tuesday.

W. C. Templeton of Brownsville is the fourth candidate to file petition for candidacy for sheriff.

Vick Bros. of Albany have sold a Jewett car to Mr. Nolan, the Shedd Methodist minister.

Delbert Tan'y is visiting in California.

Homer Mornhinweg and wife came up from Shedd and went picnicking with the gentleman's parents and his sister and her children.

D. S. McWilliams visited Portland the latter part of last week on insurance business.

Delora Wells has come back from her home near Junction City to live with her grandmother, Mrs. L. A. Pray, and go to school.

Three carloads of Linn county stock were gathered for exhibition at the state fair.

Mrs. Mary West of Brownsville is with the Henry English family again for the winter.

J. S. McMahan has been appointed administrator of his father's estate, valued at $2000.

Harold Hamilton of Shedd married Mary Christensen of Medford last week. They will reside at Medford.

A burned-out trestle a mile south of Harrisburg caused trains to take the west-side route and give Halsey the go-by Friday forenoon.

Mr. Rowman has added a dozen looms from Philadelphia to those he bought in southern Oregon for the Brownsville woolen mills.

The red spider flourished in hops in the recent dry weather and caused some in the Brownsville section to be abandoned, unpicked.

Hugh Vincent has left Brownsville for Iowa and it is rumored that he goes disappointed because J. F. Verner, another civil war veteran, cut him out in the race for a bribe.

Rev. C. T. Cook was at the state fair Tuesday and Wednesday.

Glenn Frum and Dolie Hillman attended the state fair Wednesday.

G. W. Walker and family went to Salem this morning to attend the fair.

Rev. C. T. Cook will go to Salem Saturday morning to bring Alberta Koontz, Nora Pehrsson and Geraldine Cook home for a week-end visit. The girls are attending Willamette university.

Ralph McNeil is learning the "black art" trade in the Enterprise office during his spare time.

Next Sunday is rally day at the Christian church.

Not many towns as small as Halsey get such an excellent run of moving pictures as Mr. Kessel is bringing here.

N. C. Smith of Canby has acquired the interest of the other heirs in the farm of his father, the late T. F. Smith, and expects to move on with his personal belongings tomorrow.

Rev. Mr. Nolan of the M. E. church at Shedd was a caller at the M. E. parsonage Monday.

Rev. C. T. Cook announces that he will conduct preaching services at Harrisburg at 10 and here at 11 every Sunday. Prayermeeting will be held in Harrisburg on Wednesdays at 7:30 and here on Thursdays at the same hour. The changes of the evening services will be: Leagues from 6:30 to 7:30 and preaching from 7:30 to 8:30.

Mrs. N. E. McCully, now of Eugene, has gone for a visit of a few months with her daughter, Dr. Cora E. Toll in Arizona.

Everybody who follows the reports of the doings of Jiggs and Maggie knows that they have met several delays in their start for China. Now they have concluded to do better and come to Halsey instead. They will be at the Rialto theater Monday evening.

D. J. Carey died at Salem Tuesday evening. He was the father of W. A. Carey and Mrs. F. W. Robinson.

Dr. Hugh Gleason of Butte, Mont., was drowned Tuesday night when his auto ran down the steep incline on the Harrisburg side of the ferry at that city and went to the bottom of the river.

Mrs. Mary Arnold, mother of Mrs. Brown, the schoolma'am, was over from Shedd visiting her Sunday. So was the teacher's brother Karl.

W. J. Moore, the only democratic candidate for sheriff, has charge of the Brownsville exhibit at the county fair.

Thomas B. Slate of Albany has won his four-year legal battle for the invention he patented and used in airplanes during the war.

BEATING THE POSTOFFICE

The Enterprise frequently receives cut-rate clubbing propositions from periodicals. One just at hand from a professional circulation bureau, offers this paper and four magazines—The Peoples, Popular Monthly, Good Stories, The Household and Farm Journal—all for $1.55 for one year. It proposes that The Enterprise go into the pool at $1.00 and the four magazines at $.55, or less than fourteen cents each. It is probable that the circulation bureau would get more than the fourteen cents for handling the business, and the magazines would violate the law in availing of the postal department, special mailing rate to publications.

The law admits to the mails at the special rate only papers sent by publishers to bona-fide cash subscribers, and these club copies sent for less than cost, could have the benefit of that rate only by practicing a fraud upon the government—a fraud that would touch the pocket of every citizen by increasing the annual postal deficit.

Any of the publications could afford to pay a quarter of a million dollars for the privilege of sending a million dollars' worth of copies to readers, because it could rake in a profit over all, on the advertising it could obtain based on such a circulation.

The Enterprise could not be sold for $1.50 a year were it not for the receipts from advertising, and it is not going into a conspiracy with other publications to sell for less than cost, and violate the postal laws.

We give to our subscribers, whose patronage makes the publication of the paper possible, the benefit of the only discounts we make on rates. That is when, once a year, we offer to paid-in-advance subscribers, the privilege of sending the paper to their friends a year for a dollar as Christmas presents.

A. D. Cornelius, our watch and jewelry man, has pulled up stakes and moved, bag and baggage, to Drain, a town about twice as big as Halsey, where Mr. Prault, once publisher of the Enterprise, is publishing a paper which he christened the Drain Enterprise.

J. W. Drinkard and wife and Mrs. M. V. Koontz and Miss Cleona Smith drove to Salem Sunday.

Once in a while a story is written, a play produced or a picture filmed, which rises so far above the common creations of art as to stand alone in teaching great neglected truths about life. "Les Miserables," "Vanity Fair"—these were such stories. "Human Hearts," written by Wallace Reid's father; Hal Reid, was such a play, and "Human Hearts," the picture, carries forward onto the screen the great facts of the play. The photoplay is a Universal-Jewel starring House Peters, directed by King Baggot. It was considered such a worthy epic when completed that the executives of Universal classed it as one of the three biggest productions ever made by that company, associating it in this respect with "Foolish Wives" and "The Storm." It comes to the Rialto theater Friday.

Obituary

Samuel G. Robertson was born in Indiana July 29, 1841, and died at the home of his son, W. H. Robertson, in Halsey last Tuesday evening.

He served in the civil war and was advanced to the position of first lieutenant. He was with Sherman on his celebrated march to the sea.

He married Evaline Hazlitt of Ohio in 1866. They had three children, one of whom died at the age of 8. Mrs. Hortense Hull of Enid, Mont., and W. H. Robertson of Halsey, at whose home his last days were spent, survive him.

Mrs. Robertson died in 1893 in Nebraska, where their home was. Mr. Robertson came to Oregon in 1910 and located at Halsey, where he joined the Christian church three years later.

Since he fell and broke a limb about a year ago he has been confined to the house the most of the time. The immediate cause of his death was an internal hemorrhage. His last words were: "This is the end; don't worry about me."

Funeral at the Halsey Church of Christ at 2 today and interment at Pine Grove.

October 7 to 14 has been proclaimed by the governor as fire prevention week. This does not mean that less effort should be made on other weeks to prevent fires but a special effort be made during that week to enlighten the people on means of preventing a recurrence of such fire as in the past five years have cost Oregon $10,395,286 and many lives. In schools it advises that "a part of each day be given to fire prevention talks." And if cigarettes could be banished about one-half of the fires would be avoided.

In an item on page 4 the statement is made that the bullet fired by robbers at L. E. Walton struck the bank. The reporter was mistaken. That bullet went the other way, missed Mr. Walton and went through two walls at the railroad station and Agent Boyd found it on the floor of the office. The hole in the walls can be seen still. We hope to have space for further remarks on the subject next week.
