A union quarterly conference

Fred Fisk, democratic candidate for joint senator of the fourth senatorial district,

Fred Fisk, democratic candidate for joint senator of the fourth senatorial district, comprising Linn and Lane counties, has issued a platform and the following is a synopsis of same:

"The times demand candidates for office who have convictions and are willing to express them in public. We should not elect officials with our eyes cloosed, as we must pay taxes with our eyes open. Taxes today on farms and homes and those things which the assessor can see are burdensome and oppressive. Duplication, waste and extravagance should be eliminated, useless commissions and useless payrolls should be abolished. Permit the farmer to live, own his own land and property; permit the man of small means to own his own home and keep taxe; down where all owners can afford to pay them. I maintain that some of the present burdens of taxation should, by a state income tax, be shifted trom tangible property that is now paying 95% of all taxes to the income from intangible property that is only paying 4% of all taxes. All money raised by said income tax should be used to lower the tax on tangible property. I favor the compulsory educational bill on the November ballot. If our public schools are not good enough for any man's child, it is our duty to make them so. I am opposed to Chinese or Japanese land ownership. I am not in favor of the taxpayers of the state paying one cent toward financing the Portland 1925 fair. If elected to the office of joint senator, I aim to represent in an impartial way the interests of both Lane and Linn counties. As a decent American citizan I favor and if elected shall work for honest government, law enforcement and abolition of waste. If elected, I myself cannot accomplish any great reform, but pledge my undivided support to any worthy cause needing assistance."

MORE LIKE BOILER FACTORY

Infernal Din Has Routed the Scholas tic Atmosphere of New York's Public Library.

In the reading rooms in the New. York public library the conspicuous signs demanding "silence" are still in position as a reminder of the past, but the scholarly quiet of the great rooms is only a memory.

The din in many of the reading rooms resembles a combination of a boiler factory and a mowing machine, interrupted by shell fire. The wide windows on the Forty-second street side of the building, which are open in hot weather, give the readers the full benefit of the uproar.

From time to time there is a comparatively heavy bombardment. Minor noises help to swell the chorus. At frequent intervals the scoops of a great steam shovel are raised with a deafening racket and look in for a moment through the open windows. The steam of the conflict drifts in and from time to time the actual smoke of the battle. The explanation is very simple. A new subway is in course of construction alongside the library.

NO MORE MERE GUESSWORK

Possible Now to Make Adjustment of Carbureter a Matter of Perfect Accuracy.

Guesswork has been taken out of carbureter adjustment. The leanest adjustment which can be made without reduction of power may be accurately determined by means of an analysis of the exhaust gas with an easily operated carbon dioxide indicator, Drs. G. W. Jones and A. G. Fieldner of the bureau of mines laboratory at Pittsburgh explained to the American Chemical society meet-

MARTIAN RADIO SIGNALS

Again the radio perennial-Martian signals—is with us at least as this is being written. The reception of mysterious radio signals of great wave length from some unknown source is reported at regular intervals of about fifteen months. As a play to the imagination, nothing is more fascinating than the reception of these mysterious signals which are held, by some, to originate somewhere off in space, but nothing regarding these signals has ever been determined by true scientific methods. That they are received, there can be no doubt; but that these signals originate from some neighborboring planet, seems unlikely in the extreme. Most likely they are disturbances due to some natural or artificial cause right here on this little globe of ours .- Scientific American.

SARAH'S SPELLING

Little Louis had gone to the kitchen to observe old Aunt Sarah, the colored cook, at work making biscuits. After he had sampled one he observed:

"Aunt Sarah, I can spell now. These are made out of d-o, do."

"But that doesn't spell dough," Louis' mother corrected, as she entered the kitchen to give the cook some orders.

Whereupon, Aunt Sarah thought that she, too, would enter the discussion. So she said: "Dere's two kinds of do, chile

Saturday just as F. M. Gray, with A. J. It came down right side up with Mr. Gray lying senseless in the bottom, but he soon revived and though pretty lame has beed attending to business. Mr. Hill, at the moment of the impact, started straight for heaven, but came back from a pretty good hight, landing on his feet in the wagon. The horse was knocked into the ditch.
