Relief for German Children is Sought

Effort to Raise $100,000 in This State

Germany has bankrupted herself to defraud her creditors. She has paid wages to idle railroad hands and miners in the Ruhr to prevent them from working for good wages offered by the French. She has spent money making arms she had promised not to make and training soldiers she had promised not to train. She has made her paper money valueless by recklessly issuing amounts never approached anywhere any time. Her ex-kaizer and her war lords are well fed, but thousands of children in that country are inappetently fed today and must perish before spring unless help comes from the outside.

What are we to do? We cannot visit the sins of the fathers upon the children. That code is too primitive for Americans of today to administer. It may prevail in Asia Minor, but not here. Let us feed the innocents in bedeviled Germany and the near east, if we have to go short of tobacco or pie to do it.

Robert H. Strong, of the Portland firm of Strong & MacNaughton, who directed the campaign for foods for starving peoples of Europe for Herbert Hoover here in 1921, has accepted the chairmanship of the Oregon state committee for the relief of starving German children. This is affiliated with the American Committee for Relief of German Children, of which Major-General Henry T. Allen, who commanded the American forces on the Rhine during the occupation, is chairman for the United States. It is backed by Herbert Hoover, former Oregon boy, now secretary of commerce, and is endorsed by President Coolidge and was likewise endorsed by the late President Harding.

Pine Grove Patters

(Enterprise Correspondence)

Nearly 200 people attended the Christmas tree at the Pine Grove schoolhouse. The program was very much enjoyed.

Mrs. L. E. Eagy made a trip to Portland Thursday, returning Saturday.

An entertainment was given at the school house Saturday evening and a community club organized. Officers are: President, George Chandler; vice-president, Dean Bilyeu; secretary, Laurel Chandler; treasurer, Fred Sylvester; sergeant-at-arms, Jake Heinrich. The next meeting will be January 11.

Ray Hover was an Albany visitor last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Faber and children, who have been in the O. Becker home for some time, returned to their home at St. Paul Sunday.

O. Becker, who was hurt recently, is able to be around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Campbell and children visited at the J. A. Johnson and George Bain homes during the holidays.

Misses Sophia and Anna Heinrich were at home for Christmas.

The cottage prayer-meeting was held at the Gibson home Thursday evening.

Miss Etta Morgan of Lebanon visited at the W. G. McNeil and R. K. Stewart homes Saturday and Sunday.

1924 in the Spotlight

Old winter got here a week and a half late, according to the calendar, but when he did arrive we all knew it. Monday morning there was enough snow to make the landscape white, and by the next night people were worrying in fear of frozen and burst pipes.

Old Man Fahrenheit's glass was not very full new year's morning. Its contents rose only ten degrees above 0. Portland was four degrees warmer and Albany three colder. But there were plenty of other glasses in the country whose contents were low, as was shown by the small police court business in most cities Jan. 2. Chicago was as drunk and law-defiant as ever, but Hollywood, too, had its usual expose of drunken movie stars and speculators, with gory pistol trimmings, but the country as a whole answered in the affirmative to the question: "Does prohibition prohibit?"

Bad whisky (Is there any other kind) did the fool-killer's work in a number of cases.

Jack Frost did fancy work on many windows Monday morning.

Tuesday night the temperature rose a little, with clouds hampering the radiation of heat, and yesterday snow fell about all the day, though it amounted to only about five inches, and last night it began to slink off the eaves and down the gutters.

As a whole Oregon was as white and beautiful yesterday morning as she ever is, but today her ermine begins to look bedraggled in places.

OREGON OCCURRENCES RECITED FOR READERS

Epitome of Events in the Beaver State

The San Francisco section of the American Mathematical society will meet in Eugene next winter.

A record breaking enrollment of pupils in the Eugene schools is reported by Joseph T. Glenn, city superintendent.

Umpqua post of the American Legion at Roseburg is ahead of all other posts of the state in the matter of paid-up membership for 1924.

The Gilpin Construction company will begin the filling of the streets in the devastated district of Astoria about the middle of the month.

The epidemic of diptheria and measles prevalent in Portland for the last three or four weeks is on the wane, according to City Health Officer Parrish.

Efforts to find H. C. Topping, sheriff of Jefferson county, charged with converting to his own use more than $2000 belonging to the county, have so far been unavailing.

Automobile insurance rates for collision and property damage are due to be reduced throughout this state in the near future, in the belief of a number of insurance men.

In 1923, for the first year since 1909, when the Port of Portland commission took over the towage service between Portland and the sea, it has been operated at a profit.

The Southern Pacific company has a report filed in the offices of the public service commission, indicating that the corporation now has a surplus of 1493 cars in Oregon.

The recently organized Portland Pulp & Paper company will erect a paper mill costing approximately $1,200,000 on North Portland harbor, according to plans of the company.

The 1922 season brought court convictions to 167 persons for carelessness with fire in the national forests of Oregon and Washington, according to a report given out by the district forester's office in Portland.

Authorization by congress is not necessary for the construction of the Sellwood bridge across the Willamette river at Portland, as the river is entirely within the confines of the state, Secretary of War Weeks has advised.

Sheriff Hurlburt's tax collection department in Multnomah county has collected and turned over to County Treasurer Lewis this year a total of $14,390,399.94, which exceeds the amount of taxes on the books for this year by $250,241.22.

The Upper Columbia Athletic League instituted by the principals of the schools of Sherman, Gilliam, Morrow and Wheeler counties last spring, will open its series of basketball games this week. The series will include 70 to 75 inter-high school games.

Oswald West, Fern Hobbs and H. M. Parks are the incorporators of the Fort Rock Development company, for which articles of incorporation were filed with the corporation department at Salem. Capital stock is to be $10,000, and Portland will be headquarters.

The lowest bid opened at Portland by Captain George Mayo, corps of engineers, U. S. A. for the delivery of 230,000 tons of rock to be used in jetty construction at the mouth of the Umpqua river, was $1.43 a ton. It was filed by Joplin & Eldon of Portland.

E. B. Watters, postmaster at Stayton for the past two years, has been removed from office, following a visit of a postoffice inspector from Portland who, it was said, found the postmaster $1200 or $1300 short in his accounts. Miss Mildred English has been appointed acting postmaster.

There was only one fatality due to industrial accidents in Oregon during the week ending December 27, according to a report prepared by the state industrial accident commission. The victim was Robert Williams, a laborer, with headquarters at Prospect. A total of 505 accidents were reported.

Contracts for construction work on the third unit of the Southern Pacific system's new main line in Oregon between Klamath Falls and Eugene have been let to the Utah Construction company of Ogden and San Francisco and the Stewart & Welch company of

ROBERT H. STRONG
State Chairman, American Committee for Relief of German Children.

The Oregon committee is to launch soon a campaign to raise $100,000 in this state, half in Portland and half in the out-state districts. Headquarters for the work have been opened in 715 Corbett building, Portland, with H. L. Eddy in charge as director. It has been endorsed locally by the Portland Council of Churches, the business interests of the city and by the Central Labor Council, all of which have declared that, whatever may have been done to bring about starvation conditions in Germany, certain it is that the little children there should not be blamed and that they must be fed and clothed.

Brownsville Briefs

Walla Walla forbids cigaret advertising on billboards. Tell the Brownsville city council.

W. M. King of Brownsville has cut and D. E. Wolgamott has transported 1000 cords of white fir wood for the paper mill this year.

J. B. Hughes of Marshfield visited his former home at Brownsville Christmas. His daughter-in-law and two granddaughters were with him and stayed for a longer visit, but he has gone back to Marshfield, which he says is a very lively town these days.

Christmas day 34 people gathered at the 31st annual reunion of the Dunlap family at Fayetteville. The Dunlap sisters and Mrs. Forbes of the Dunlap drug company at Brownsville and their mother were in the party.

George Morse is working for the Southern Pacific at bridge work.

Miss Marie Wolgamott came home from San Diego for the holidays.

The long-standing appeal for a better road from Mountain Home to Brownsville is becoming lively again. The condition of the road sends much trade to Lebanon that would naturally fall to Brownsville.
