HALSEY HAPPENINGS AND COUNTY EVENTS

Short Stories from Sundry Sources

Miss Ida Jackson went to Albany yesterday.

Miss Clarice Gourley is helping at the Hugh Leeper home.

Arthur Foote and family are expected home from Ohio tomorrow.

D. H. Pierce of Albany seeks a republican nomination as county commissioner.

Prof. English and family visited his mother and sister in Eugene over the week end.

Mrs. Lois Hathaway and little son of Brownsville took the train here for Detroit yesterday.

G. T. Kitchon and son Lavelle drove up from Portland Saturday and took Mrs. Kitchon home.

Mrs. Esther Rike came from Corvallis and spent the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Straley.

Wellington Bond and parents visited Mrs. Bond's cousin, Miss Maude Henderson, in Albany Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hill, Mrs. J. J. Corcoran and Mrs. G. W. Mornhinweg motored to Albany Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Miller and daughter Gardie spent Monday with Mrs. H. M. Miller and daughter Beulah.

Mrs. T. I. Marks and Mrs. James Drinkard motored to Harrisburg Tuesday and visited with Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Walton.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Shook of Portland visited their son Olin and wife at Shedd Saturday and their other son, M. H., here Sunday. The two Shooks have the cream of business in Halsey and Shedd. They run the two cream stations.

G. R. Walker's auction Saturday drew an immense crowd. The best draft horse brought $180. Total receipts were $1863.80. Ben Sudtoll was auctioneer and Ball Bond clerk.

William Smith, a newspaper man and several other things, passed through town yesterday on an exploration trip by automobile from Portland.

Just think how much more joy there would be in living if we had had a game commission when those animals pictured on the front page were in bloom! We might now have a saber-toothed tiger in the front yard or a two-horned rhinoceros in the frog pond.

Jay W. Moore is not only Halsey's candidate for the republican nomination for the assessors but he has many friends all over the county. He has the education requisite for efficiency, he has had extensive field experience as deputy assessor and as a realtor he is well posted on real estate values.

Doubt is expressed of the possibility of financing a community building large enough to meet all of Halsey's most crying needs. Perhaps the ambitious ones would do well to read the verses referring to the Ladies' Aid which were published in last week's Enterprise and then organize a Halsey Ladies' Aid. If a job is too big for the men let the women try it.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" will be shown at the movie theaters in Brownsville and Harrisburg Tuesday and Wednesday. See the advertisement. The writer of this saw it at the Globe, in Albany, and, aside from interest in the story, thought it worth many times the time and "tin" it cost to see Lon Chaney changed in form and features, even to the teeth in his mouth, into the misshapen wretch who is the titular character, and performing "human fly" stunts while maintaining the grotesque character in every detail.

A "made-in-Oregon week," beginning last Wednesday and continuing all the week, is in progress in the building on Third and Broadalbin streets, Albany, recently vacated by the Fisher-Braden Furniture company. Cooking classes are conducted each day by Mrs. L. A. Humphrey. A small admission fee is charged, and proceeds go to the college library fund. Perhaps the most important feature is a baby clinic, which is open from 10 to 12 and 1:30 to 5 daily, with an entrance fee of 50 cents. Miss Milgate, state health nurse, and competent local physicians are in attendance and ready to give advice to mothers of all babies whose health is less than perfect. It is a made-in-Oregon show, but imported babies are not barred.

HORNER'S SHORT HISTORY OF OREGON

A Few of Our Predecessors in the Land

1—Mastodon. 2—Broad-faced Ox. 3—Three-toed Horses. 4—Tapirs. 5—Saber-toothed Tiger. 6—Hippopotamus. 7—Oregon Rhinoceros. Beyond the Palms are Camels and an Elephant. Insert—Rhinoceros, lived prior to the Mammoth

Prof. J. B. Horner's "Short History of Oregon," just out, will be a great help to those who, lacking time to study an elaborate historical work, would like to learn the outstanding facts and events in the development of this state. It will probably find its way into extensive use in the schools. He deals with all phases of Oregon history, down to a late date, but has devoted much time to delving into the evidence of prehistoric events, and several pages of the new work are devoted to this subject. We reproduce the frontispiece, which depicts ancient animal life here as antiquarians see it through evidence they have unearthed.

The book is liberally illustrated and has been beautifully executed by Dimm & Sons of Portland, who are well known as printers in Eugene and as at one time publishing the Springfield News.

The edition is prepared as a text, giving a concise and authentic historical outline of the history of the state in chronological order covering the early explorations, early life in Oregon, the Indian wars, and the religious, literary and governmental advancement of the state. The time is divided into six epochs.

Shedd Snapshots

By Anna Pennell

Professor William J. Sly, of Linfield College, who spent last summer in the Near East, travelling in company with Alice Hegan Rice, the author of "Mrs. Wiggs," and others, states that he found all the orphanages clean, the children well-behaved and passionately devoted to the American Relief workers. After the Tuscania tourists had visited the orphanages and as they were leaving the Near East, they assembled on deck one day and contributed $12,000.00 to the Near East Relief funds.
