The Porter Brothers have started hulling clover again with the Jackson huller.

Mr. and Mrs. James Drinkard and Herman and Martin Koonta visited Cascadia Sunday.

Little Buddy Holt had tonsils and adenoids removed recently and got along nicely, apparently making less fuss about it than lots of grown-ups.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Workinger and children and Mr. and Mrs. George Workinger and son attended a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Workinger Sunday.

George Ribelin and family called to see the former's father, W. J. Ribelin, Sunday, and from there drove to a hop yard near Portland to pick during the season and took W. J. with them.

A mistake was made in stating Dan Hayes was the man who had been longest on the rural route out of town. Grant Taylor carried it several years before Mr. Hayes, stayed the first year on route 2.

Mrs. Mary Smith and daughter, Mrs. Jordon, and son, all of Independence, and Miss Viola Smith, a nurse at McMinnville, called to see Mrs. Eliza Brandon Sunday. They were on the return trip from Klamath falls, where they visited Dwight Smith and family and also went to Crater Lake. Viola expects to drive up to British Columbia to spend the rest of her vacation. Mrs. Smith and daughter formerly lived at Halsey.

The public service commission has issued an order instructing the Southern Pacific Railroad company to restate and place an agent at Crabtree, to look after the freight and passenger business of the corporation. Harding grass, a new kind of forage for cattle that withstands long dry spells, is causing quite a sensation among Albany cattlemen and dairymen. A small patch of the grass was sown by J. Stambaugh, a farmer living near Albany. It grows luxuriantly in any kind of soil.

LINN COUNTY FAIR A COMMUNITY AFFAIR

Promises to Eclipse Anything of the Kind in the History of this Section

This is a paid advertisement, but it is written and indorsed by the editor of the Enterprise

Originality

In past years Leonad Gilkey has been famous as a resourceful and successful collector and exhibitor of community products at autumn fairs and his selection by officials of our county association as manager of this year's fair was a logical result of his demonstrated energy and versatility.

Children's Day

On the first day, Wednesday, Sept. 17, the most interesting novelty on the entire program, the pageant in costume and competitive exhibition by children from every school in the county, is scheduled. Secondary to this exhibition of the county's most important products—the children—will be community singing and other entertainment features and even the address by our farmer governor.

Community Displays

Twenty communities in the county are preparing to compete in the exhibition of their products.

Pure-bred Stock

The barns will be full of registered cattle, for which Linn county is famous from ocean to ocean. To view these animals intelligently will be an education in itself. Such stock will be a factor in placing the occupation of the American farmer on a basis of prosperity.

Legion Drum Corps

At least five of the largest American Legion drum and bugle corps will give a competitive exhibition and program Wednesday evening.

Other Features

Thursday—Big historical and religious pageant, directed by Mrs. Charles Childs of Albany college. Style show.

Friday—Grand pageant, "Winning of the West." Styles.

Cholera Loss More Than $27,000,000

Much Can Be Prevented by Proper Sanitation.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Hog cholera caused a loss of more than $27,000,000 to the swine industry of the United States during the year ended April 30, 1924, according to a recent compilation by the United States Department of Agriculture. More than half of the total loss occurred in the corn belt states, where hogs are especially numerous. A comparison of the number of hogs with the loss caused by cholera in each state, shows that the ravages of the disease are approximately in proportion to the hog population.

In comparing the losses from hog cholera, specialists of the bureau of animal industry estimate that 50 per cent of losses from all causes are due to this dread disease. Most of this loss can be prevented by the proper sanitation and the preventive-serum treatment. Bulletins giving full information on hog cholera, its control and prevention may be obtained on request from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

NEWS NOTES FROM ALL OVER OREGON

Epitome of Events in the Beaver State

North Bend will soon have free delivery of mail.

North Bend has expended about $155,000 this year in extension of the paved area in the city.

Applications for entrance into the University of Oregon are coming in at the rate of 100 a week.

The city of Pendleton has started legal action to collect from Umatilla county some $30,000 in back taxes.

Carl Taylor brought to Hood River from his west side ranch place a tomato weighing 28 ounces, 17 1/2 inches in circumference.

The state bonus commission has appointed Robert Johnson, H. C. Herrod and J. F. Porter members of the board of appraisers for Benton county.

After having been closed down most of the summer, the Eugene woolen mills are again running at full capacity. More than 50 people are employed.

The city of Marshfield has taken an option on 40 acres of wooded land for an auto campground, athletic field and city park. The price to be paid is $47,500.

The re-establishment of the office of county agricultural agent was sought by a delegation of farmers and Eugene business men who called on the county court.

Plowing for the winter grain crop which has been held back by the dry condition of the soil, is now under way in Oregon, particularly in the western counties.

Oregon City celebrated when officials of the city and state and members of the highway commission formally opened and dedicated the Canemah bluff section of the Pacific highway.

A monkey, 3 years old and only the size of a man's hand, was received in Portland as a belated wedding present to Mr. Walter de V. Bealey, from Captain Baxter Thornson, stationed in Ecuador.

Portland was chosen as the place for the next convention in 1927 of the order of Orangemen, in session in Boston. Among other officers elected was Fred Bourne of Oregon as deputy grand master.

Fishermen on the lower Coquille river, believing they are not getting sufficient for their salmon, will not deliver to the cannery at Bandow. The fishermen ask 40 cents for silver-sided and 60 for chinook.

Two hundred sixty-four young China pheasants, raised at the state game farm at Corvallis, were released in the Mosier orchard sections. They were the first pheasants released by the game commission in that district.

The mystery of two recent barn fires in Milwaukie was cleared up with the arrest of J. R. Snyder, 20, of that city, who admitted that he had set the blazes by throwing lighted cigarettes into the hay stored in the buildings.

Following a conference with F. A. Elliott, state forester, Governor Pierce revoked the proclamation issued by his office closing the forests to hunters until September 20. The order revoking the proclamation became effective at once.

Evergreen blackberries will again be an asset to Lincoln county. Representatives of several Williamson valley canneries are already in the field contracting for berries. The crop always a big one, will be enormous this year as the recent rain came at just the right time. Canneries are offering 3 1/2 cents per pound and a good picker will be able to average 100 pounds a day.

Seven crews have completed placing the last girder in the seventh span of the Waucoma Interstate bridge across the Columbia between Hood River and White Salmon. The total length of the seven piers, which reach from an 1800-foot wood trestle on the Oregon bank to the channel span, is 1456 feet.

Riveters will complete their work on the steel this week. Crews of the Gilpin Construction company are now concentrating their efforts on three piers on the Washington side of the Columbia. When these are completed two 208-foot spans and the channel span of 252 will be laid, completing the structure. It is anticipated that the bridge will be ready for traffic by late October.

Come on Boys

OF COURSE, no boy will really test his shoes with a saw, an auger or a chisel, but it does seem so, especially when mother just finished lecturing about the care of new shoes and father just paid the bill. And to make boys take care of their shoes all the time would be to take half of the joy out of their lives.

The solution of the problem is to buy WEYENBERG SHOES at the start

They "Stand the Gaff"

Weyenberg Boys' Shoes are made "All Solid Leather"—cut from the best part of the hide. They are not made like so many boys' shoes, from the culls or left-overs of leathers used for men's shoes. That's the reason Weyenberg Boys' Shoes wear so much longer and better than other shoes. The boys like them because they "stand the gaff."
