

Albany Directory

This is good advice: "If you live in Albany, trade in Albany; if you live in some other town, trade in that town." But in these automobile days many residing elsewhere find it advisable to do at least part of their buying in the larger town. Those who go to Albany to transact business will find the firms named below ready to fill their requirements with courtesy and fairness.

San Juan Sends Word.
They arrived at Castle creek, the south fork of the Rapid, above the eight-mile canyon and near where gold was discovered in June of the preceding year. Within two or three miles of where the Custer trail leaves the valley they halted for dinner. The spot was a small bar and, despite his haste to leave the band on the divide far behind him, Pyrites took time to wash out several pans of gravel. He said the bar would pay two cents to a pan in fine gold.
Dinsdale was not impressed and declared it would not pay for a man's tobacco. His contempt diminished when Pyrites tested another spot and found it to yield fifteen cents to a pan. A second pan, luckily catching several small nuggets, he said would weigh six dollars.
That night as they smoked before their tent Pyrites enlightened his friend as to the nature of traveling before them. At times they would be within four miles of Spring creek, and again twice that distance. Below the canyon was their objective, Rapid City, where several hundred miners were still pursuing their luck.
"Any good pickings in the canyon?" asked Dinsdale.
"Nothing for us to try for there, but we can, if we have time, test a yarn that's been floating through the hills ever since the first rush, that was known in frontier towns long before that; I'm speaking of the gold cached by one of the party that entered the hills way back in 'fifty-two and went as far north as what's now Deadwood Gulch."

"I've heard that ancient yarn dozens of times," a warily remarked Dinsdale. "A hundred men bound for California, Minstee, quit the main body at Fort Laramie to investigate the gold stories told about the hills. They reached a creek, where high water prevented mining."
"This very creek!" broke in Pyrites.
"—So they pushed on and made Deadwood Gulch. They struck it rich, but were surrounded by Sioux. Only one man escaped. You see, I know, it as well as you do. Queer how one man always escapes. Just one. And he always dies after telling his story to some one. If two or more men escaped there wouldn't be any story, as the other survivors would speak and say it was a lie."
"Lie, no hing!" hotly cried Pyrites. "Tom Renshaw did escape. He was out hunting when the Indians rushed the camp. He was returning with a deer why in the smoke from the burning shacks and cabins warned him to be care ful. From the top of a bluff he

Halsey Happenings
Miss Doris Lake visited her sister in Eugene Sunday.
Mr. Hoffman's meat market has been newly shingled.
Judge Bingham refused to modify the Armstrong divorce decree.
James Cook has the W. C. Smith farm. The Smiths go to Bandon.
The Staffords got home Sunday night from a much-enjoyed two-weeks vacation.
Mrs. Jake Houck committed suicide at her home near Waterloo Wednesday by taking poison.
Mr. and Mrs. James Drinkard drove to Albany Thursday evening to visit at the Z. H. Rudd home. Mr. and Mrs. Thad Young of Portland were also guests there.
Mrs. Frank Gansle and daughter Leila, in company with Charles Gansle of Eugene, drove to Oregon City Sunday to visit relatives.
The Albany Electric store, Hodish and Willard, is expanding and moving from 202 West Second street to the new Bikman building, at first and Lyon streets.
W. L. Wells and wife and Lawrence and Mrs. Adda Ringo drove to Cottage Grove, where they visited Mrs. Ringo's father, R. H. Kenady, who is also a cousin of Mr. Wells Sunday.
Representatives of Linn, Deschutes, Jefferson and Crook counties at Bend last week formed a committee to work for the proposed road up the Santiam and into eastern Oregon.
Grain growers were not the only ones surprised to find themselves so little injured by lack of rain this season. A. C. Armstrong visited his ranch at Oakland last week and found his sheep as fat as he could wish, and the streams surprisingly well-filled with the life-giving fluid.
Wade Spurlin and family, from Harrisburg, spent Sunday at the home of his brother-in-law, Ralph Miller. His mother, Mrs. William Spurlin, accompanied him. His mother, Mrs. L. E. Mors of Salem, Mrs. Spurlin's mother, 87 years old, was also a guest at the Miller home. Mrs. Mors was a sister of the late R. M. Wade, well-known hardware man of Portland. The old lady is healthy and vigorous.
Mrs. W. S. Koontz of Waterloo, instead of raising wheat and asking the government to artificially lift the price or bankers to lend her money, got two Toggenberg goats a couple of years ago. She bought more later. Twenty-three kids have been born to them in the two years, some of them triplets and twins. She beats the "land of cheese, trees and ocean breeze" by selling cheese for 30 cents a pound and she gets 35 apiece for spare kids. It takes about $5 a head to winter them and in summer they clear land and board themselves.
