Halsey Happenings and County Events

Short Stories from Sundry Sources

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Bond were in Albany Saturday.

Evergreen blackberry pickers are busy around Sweet Home. In spite of the dry season there has been a large crop of berries.

Mrs. Mabel Miller of San Francisco arrived Thursday for a visit at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Brandon.

Misses Lucile and Pauline Stivers, who have been visiting at the J. S. Vannice home, returned to their home at Eugene Thursday.

Miss Winnifred Rose of the Marinello beauty parlors, Albany, has so well recovered from the injuries she received in an auto accident that she expects to return to the shop before the week is out. During her disability she has had a competent manager in charge.

Western Oregon soil loses lime and potash through leaching during our heavy rains. That is why the state grinds lime and sells it to farmers at cost. The Southern Pacific company has had printed a pamphlet telling how to get and use this lime and containing letters from farmers who have used it. Write to J. H. Mulchay, 705 Yeon building, Portland, if you want a copy free.

An item copied from and credited to another paper last week called Cecil Quimby's baby a boy. It's a girl, but that makes no difference now. She can vote by and by just the same.

Rev. Robert Parker and family were in Albany Monday.

Miss Countryman moves her "Marguerite Shoppe" beauty parlor from the Globe theatre building, Albany, to 110 West Second street, on the first floor.

J. B. Schroll drove over from Cushman Wednesday of last week and visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Schroll, till Thursday, when he went on to Portland.

Mrs. Preston Newton, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Forster, took the train for Eugene Friday to visit relatives. She recently had her tonsils removed and is not fully recovered.

Mr. Burbank proposes to build an automobile service station, with residence in rear, on the ground between the old livery barn and the alley south of it. The big barn is full of hay on storage, some of it two years old. As it is emptied out he intends to avail of it as space for autos, and it may come in for a remodeling.

F. O. Salmon and J. W. Pugh of the Oak Plain neighborhood each bought a new piano last week from the Davenport music house of Albany. That company is about to have alterations made in its quarters and on our front page it advertises a special sale of all kinds of musical goods to make room for the carpenters.

One of the opportunities that crop up for a farmer to get outside the rut and make a few dollars without increasing the competition in the main crops may be found in the advertisement of the Murphy Seed company on page 4. Italian and English rye grass are mixed all over the valley. Pure seed of each is in demand and the company offers a chance for those with clean ground to raise it. As "Mary succeeds on main street, so the farmer may succeed on the farm."

Commencing next week, the Enterprise will be published on Wednesdays. Correspondents are requested to bear this in mind and endeavor to have all copy in the office by Monday afternoon, the latest date at which it can be sent to the linotype in time for use the same week. Send in the bulk of your copy Saturday, and anything of importance occurring later can be handled if received Monday. The delay between receiving copy and publication is one of the handicaps in publishing a paper in a town too small to warrant a linotype.

A Clean County Fair

At most county fairs there are features, tolerated on account of the revenue from concessions, to which many object on the grounds that in one way or another they are demoralizing. The management this year proposes to utilize home talent, The development of home talent is what a county fair is or should be for.

The advertisement on the first page features the attractions for the second and third nights.

Manager Gilkey writes: "The two nights' pageants this year mark a new venture in fair entertainment. Mrs. Charles Childs of Albany, who improvised and is directing these pageants, feeling the need of a higher order of entertainment to take the place of the carnival and cheap attractions, is giving her entire time to give us something worth while."
