But in these automobile days many residing elsewhere find it advisable to do at least part of their buying in the larger town. Republican Propaganda

dent Coolidge because of his failure to approve the bill to increase salaries of letter carriers and postal clerks, but, according to the Republican State Central committee headquarters here, this adverse comment comes from persons not familiar with the facts.

The committee points out that two measures for relief of the underpaid postal workers were considered, one that had the approval of the administration and was recommended by Postmaster General New. Mr. New, moreover, is the only postmaster general who has ever proposed higher pay for all postal workers.

The administration measure carried an expenditure of $48,000,000 and would have been signed by the president had it passed. But the postal employees stood out for their own bill, appropriating $68,000,000 and, unlike the other, providing no means of meeting this added expenditure.

It was that bill the president vetoed, his reason being that the measure did not provide for the proposed expenditure and he was compelled to give it his disapproval. His action, viewed in connection with the administration bill for the relief of postal employees, did not show him out of sympathy with the needs of the postoffice workers.

CITIZEN AWAY FROM HOME MAY CAST VOTE

Oregonians may vote even if away from their own precincts on election day, it is pointed out by the Republican State Central committee. There is a provision in the election laws that will permit this practice, so that none need lose his vote November 4.

Because of the livestock show at Portland closing just before election day, it is thought a number of persons may not return home in time to vote and the way this can be accomplished is pointed out.

Anyone who expects to be at a distance from home on election day should provide himself with a certificate of registration that he may obtain from his county clerk. By presenting this certificate, he will be entitled to vote in any county of the state for state and national tickets.

In case the absent voter has not obtained a certificate, it will be required that he swear in his vote. This can be done in Multnomah county by six freeholders, but in other parts of the state, two freeholders may make affidavit.

Coolidge on Taxation.

It is impossible to escape the conclusion that high taxes make high prices. So long as the cost of government is high, the cost of living will be high. This is usually a source of misunderstanding and always a source of discontent. The duty that government now owes to the people is to reduce their burdens by paying off the obligations that came from the war rather than imposing additional burdens for the support of new projects. Having met our war obligation to pay, let us meet our peace obligation to reduce our taxes.

Democratic Propaganda

can, refused to enact such a measure until his term had almost ended, in an effort to discredit him? Mr. Wilson vetoed the measure Congress passed, on the ground that its provisions affecting the Comptroller General invaded the prerogatives of the President. That he was right the Republicans themselves admitted a year later.

"Again, there is the triumph of a tax reduction, with Mr. Coolidge urging it. But Mr. Wilson when the war was over went to Congress to propose a tax-reduction bill. Beating that bill was meat for a Republican Congress. It fitted in with the accepted Republican tactics of making the Wilson Administration as unpopular as possible.

"Moreover, when a tax reduction bill was ultimately passed it was a Democratic measure that won votes enough to break a deadlock. Mr. Coolidge had put himself behind a plan that favored 6,000 people who pay taxes on incomes of $70,000 or more at the expense of the 6,000,000 people who do not. Had he stayed there, and a compromise not been effected on a Democratic bill, the country would have no reduction in taxation now.

"Finally, among the major Republican achievements in economy, there is the President's claim that the Government has 'liquidated' the country's foreign loans. Mr. Davis has pointed out that this does not mean all it says. Liquidation is not quite the right word when nothing has happened but the execution of a new set of loans.

"Three old friends are missing when Republican leaders talk of economy and point with pride. There is Chas. R. Forbes, who wasted $225,000,000 in the Veterans' Bureau. There is Albert B. Fall, who cost the Nation 200,000,000 barrels of its navy's oil supply. And there is the highest and most prohibitive tariff in the country's history adding to prices at every turn.

"A good deal of the economy in the record of the Harding-Coolidge Administration suggests a policy of penny wise, pound foolish."

HERE IS C. W. BRYAN'S FAVORITE PUDDING

Mrs. Charles W. Bryan, wife of the Governor of Nebraska, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, is noted in her State as a good housekeeper. In answer to a request, she has given the Governor's favorite dessert, a "cottage pudding" with "dip." "It is the dessert that he always has capacity for," she writes.

The recipe follows: Two cups flour, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoonfuls of butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk and 3 even teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in a medium hot oven and serve hot with liquid sauce. The recipe for the sauce is 1 cupful sugar, 1 tablespoonful flour, 1/2 nutmeg grated and a pinch of salt. Mix with a little cold water. Pour over it a pint of boiling water and let it boil a few minutes. Add a teaspoonful of butter just before taking up. Flavor with lemon or with a teaspoon of currant jelly.

HONEST GOVERNMENT DAY BY DAY WITH DAVIS

SISTERS, 96 AND 84, TO VOTE FOR DAVIS

Two sisters, one 96 and one 84, walked eight blocks to the polling place nearest their home in St. Louis, Missouri, on registration day, so that they would be on the books to vote for John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan on November 4. They were Miss Eliza Alter, 96, and Miss Lucille Alter, 84. They have never voted before, because only lately have all of the men members in their family died.

EXAMPLE OF DAVIS' QUICK "COME-BACK"

John W. Davis' speed on the come-back is interestingly demonstrated in a skit printed by Theodore A. Huntley in his "Life of Davis" (Duffield & Co., N. Y.), which is just off the press. The story follows:

"When the so-called Five Per Cent cases were before the United States Supreme Court Davis appeared for the government on a certain Tuesday. On the following Monday the court issued an order for a re-hearing. John J. Fitzgerald, of New York, counsel for the defense, gathered several other lawyers around him and called Davis over.

"Here he is," Fitzgerald bantered. "Has to argue the case again. Can't make the court understand what he is talking about."

"Nothing of the sort," Davis retorted, "I got an encore."

J. W. DAVIS OFTEN MAKES POINTS WITH STORIES

Early this spring John W. Davis was at lunch in a New York club when he was approached by "Dick" Hodgkin, one of the enthusiastic organizers of the "Davis for President" Club of Washington, D. C. Mr. Davis introduced Hodgkin to the friends with whom he was lunching, and Hodgkin said:

"I've just organized a club in Washington that is going to make Mr. Davis President."

Mr. Davis laughed and said: "I feel for you the same sentiments expressed by the Western tourist who watched a drunken cowboy lasso the smokestack of a fast-moving locomotive. The tourist remarked dryly, 'I admire your nerve but think you have rotten judgment.'"
