CALVIN COOLIDGE

He is Our President Be Loyal

YES, THIS IS REPUBLICAN YEAR

The Nation, State and County Follow the Elephant Rural Vote is for Income Tax

LaFollette "also ran" it's Coolidge and Dawes.

New York is a Coolidge state. McNary and Hawley go back to their jobs.

The third party is still third—very much so.

The elephant is still bigger than the jackass.

In wild and woolly Illinois a few men were killed in election rows.

Halsey elected the former officers and for councilmen Koonitz, Hill, Taylor and Gansle.

For the two vacancies on the Oregon supreme bench Belts and

Kelly were leading at last report, but Cushman was gaining as outlying districts reported.

With the republican national landslide about all the republican candidates in Linn county won.

L. L. McMahon, interim appointee, is the new circuit judge, succeeding the late George G. Bingham.

The income tax probably is sustained, as cow country reports will overcome the city showing.

Gompers and the beer-guzzling wing of union labor, with all LaFollette's other support thrown in, "don't amount to a hill of beans."

High School Notes

(School Reporter.)

An unusually large group of young people enjoyed the hallowe'en party given Friday evening. In addition to the varied forms of amusement Mrs. Shotwell told a story, suitable for the occasion, that held the audience in a suppressed state of excitement. Black and orange was the appropriate dominating color scheme carried out in the decorations. The affair was a "hard-time" festival and most of the costumes were characteristic of the occasion. Although the rain performed its part, no dampened spirits were in evidence. The science classes find it much more convenient in their laboratory work since the apparatus was moved from room 2 to 4. Many steps have been saved to both the teachers and the pupils.

The rainy season has awakened an interest in indoor sports. The girls who are planning for a basketball season, met and elected their manager. It is hoped that Halsey high will make even a better showing, if possible, than that of last year.

The program rendered by Mr. Rudeen Friday afternoon was well attended by the students of both the grammar and high school. A number of town people were also present to enjoy the entertainment. A few were fortunate in having lucky tickets which enabled them to sit in a chair supposedly made by the father of Abraham Lincoln and used by that famous personage himself.
