(Continued from page 5) R. L. Bilyeu was in Harrisburg Friday. Mrs. Bert Minkley was an Albany visitor Saturday. P. A. Pehrsson was a Junction City visitor Saturday. J. W. Drinkard attended a shoot near Jefferson Sunday. Miss Amanda Mitzner preached at the Methodist church Sunday evening and seven persons came forward for prayer. Mrs. Elizabeth English and daughter Edna returned to their home at Eugene Friday, after several days visiting with Prof. H. F. English and family. Mrs. D. S. Davis returned to her home in Albany Thursday, after a visit with her daughters, Mesdames John Willbanks and Lyle Chance. Mr. and Mrs. Ped Templeton, who have been visiting in eastern Washington, returned the fore part of last week, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas Lacey of Portland. Mrs. Lacey returned to Portland Thursday. L. L. Swan, one of this county's new assemblymen, says he will advocate a tax of 5 per cent on the gross earnings of motor stages operating between fixed termini and 3 per cent on autos operating for hire outside of municipalities.

We have a new restaurant building and it is painted bright red and yellow. When it gets into commission it will probably offer a varied diet, for a sign on the front reads, "Hamburger," one on one side "Shell" and on the other side "Shell Oil." Perhaps, too, it will serve oysters on the half shell.

D. J. Hayes was quite severely injured Friday night in attempting to alight from an automobile in which he had been to Harrisburg attending lodge with some friends. They had reached his home on their return and in getting from the automobile he was thrown to the pavement. No serious injury was suffered, however, and Mr. Hayes is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson of Albany spent the vacation with Mrs. A. E. Whitbeck and Miss Lillie Rickard.

Mrs. Lee Ingram's nephew, Wayne Hawke of Springfield, had his leg amputated early last week in a Eugene hospital. He was injured in a motorcycle accident about six weeks ago.

Thanksgiving guests at the Michael Rickard home were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rickard of Corvallis, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Roberts and children of Toledo, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKee of Eugene.

Guests at a Thanksgiving dinner at the J. H. Rickard home were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Jenks, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Jenks and children and O. E. Jenks of Langent and Mrs. Elizabeth Robison of Albany.

WASHINGTON BOY HOME FROM NEAR EAST

ALFRED MERRITT

Alfred Merritt, who has just returned to his home in Tacoma after three years service for the Near East Relief in Russian Armenia.

"Unless you have been over there and have seen thousands upon thousands of children gradually develop from practical savagery, to which they had been reduced, into happy useful self-supporting members of humanity you can never know what that country owes to America. The work is not finished yet but after this year should begin to diminish. With thousands of children still hungry in refugee camps this is no time to think of reductions or withdrawals."

clothing in Greece. He pays the refugee women, many of them expert needlewomen, a few cents a day for making over the clothing. Then if a man is able to pay any price whatever he is expected to pay all that he can afford, although often only a few cents, for the clothing. We are determined not to pauperize these people, who, until a few years ago, were prosperous and self-respecting. So carefully does Ted Gannaway handle this clothing that he actually turns back a profit each month, a profit which is used for the purchase of food for the children of whom there are thousands and thousands hungry in Greece today.

"The same sort of miracles are wrought with old clothing across the Black Sea in the Russian Caucasus where about half of the expense of the work is met through contributions of old clothing from America. The Russian government pays a stated sum for these tons of clothing, and they are furnished to workers who make them over and put them in shape for sale to the bazaars or shops. Again the people are not pauperized for those who can pay, pay a small amount, and only the cases of the most desperate need receive free gifts."

At present, Mr. Merritt says, the state of the Armenians is most unhappy. They are being forced out of Greece, and, as they are not allowed in Turkey or Russia, they have nowhere to go, but are gathered in refugee stations along the shores of the Mediterranean sea, waiting for the League of Nations to decide what is to be done with them. "Why the allies allowed the Turks to get off so easy is more than any of us can understand," he said, discussing the situation in the Levant. "That was certainly a most terrible mistake, and we have not begun yet to know how terrible it was."

Farmers Need Baby Chicks.

WHY? Money interest and family necessities come high. Big business is helping your dairy out the wrong way. Better price below cost of production. Get in the chicken game. They have no substitute yet.

I will take orders up to the 1st of January for baby chicks from the O. A. C. WHITE LEGHORNS at 12¢, cash at the farm, and guarantee a good, strong chick.

I hatch only from my own stock. They are as good egg layers as I can get. Order now. Have been in the business for eight years, raising chickens to lay eggs. You will be pleased.

RETURNING TOURISTS TELL SAME STORY

"One of the greatest encouragements in the eight years I have served as Director of the Near East Relief in Russian Armenia. The report brought back by returning tourists this year," states J. J. Handaker, Regional Director for Near East Relief for Oregon, Washington, British Columbia and Alaska.

"It is a very significant thing that these tourists all come back with the same story. Some saw one part of the work and some another. But all unite in saying that the Americans engaged in the work are of unusually high type; that the work is economically and efficiently done, and if America only knew the need and how far the need is being met with the money available, there would be no lack of funds."

"Among those recently visiting the Near East and whose reports have been uniformly enthusiastic, are Mrs. C. S. Jackson and her secretary, Miss Julia Hobday, of the Oregon Journal; Miss Cornelia Marvin, State Librarian; Mrs. Louisa Kellems, of the Eugene Bible University; Prof. W. J. Sly, Linfield College; Miss Mella Smith of the Portland Public Schools, and Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Coe of Portland, philanthropists. Dr. J. R. Wetherbee, former President Portland Chamber of Commerce.

"Acting on the advice of the National Information Bureau, the Community Chests of Portland, Tacoma and Seattle include the Near East Relief for generous appropriations. The purpose of this bureau is to investigate the workings of relief agencies, both at home and abroad, and no Community Chest will give a penny to an organization not approved by this bureau. Investigators have found that the money gets there - if we give it."

The Near East Relief offices are at 613 Stock Exchange, Portland and 389 Burke Bldg., Seattle.

Cuthbert, King, Latham, Marlboro Better Berries

The tendency of the everbearing red raspberries to produce fruit in the fall does not interfere with the formation of fruit the following season at the usual time of ripening. Unfortunately, the quality of the fruit of most fall bearing varieties is not of the best, and this applies particularly to the St. Regis. They are not comparable to the old well known sorts like the Cuthbert, King, Marlboro, Latham, etc. Not only are the berries of the St. Regis poor in flavor, but the fruit is under sized, which makes the picking of them slow work.

This tendency to ripen fruit in the late summer and fall is but rarely seen on the better varieties but is common to one or two sorts like the St. Regis and because of this it is made much of by some nursery men. Because of the showing that it has made many folks will be persuaded to plant it next season. Of course it will produce fruit for the canner and well to pass them up and confine their planting to the better varieties mentioned above.

Brownsville Briefs

(Enterprise Correspondence) Miss Marvel Lawrence spent her Thanksgiving with home folks.

Mrs. Dr. Fanning of Salem is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lynn Sawyer.

Miss Gretia Harrison, who is taking nurse's training in Corvallis, spent Thanksgiving at home.

The turkey shoot at the Ivan Paine ranch last Tuesday was attended by people from all over the county.

H. Ackerman is the new chaplain of the Linn-Benton Pomona grange and Mrs. Hazei Ackerman organist.

Little Helen Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Paine, died at their home in Sheridan. It is feared the child had diphtheria. The Paines formerly lived in Ash Swale.

Mrs. May Dickson is still lingering close to death at the hospital with tumor on the brain. The doctors have given up all hope of recovery.

Dr. Fox of Crawfordville was run over by Arvid Nelson in his Ford last Friday in front of Charley Howe's store. While not seriously hurt, he was taken to the hospital, where he is nicely recovering. Mr. Nelson was exonerated, as the fault lay with Dr. Fox, who was reading a newspaper while crossing the street.

E. J. Pearl was a passenger to Portland Thursday.

Frank Crabtree and Chester Rice were Albany visitors Friday.

Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Torbet and son spent Thanksgiving in Albany.

Henry Otto went to Albany Saturday to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Otto.

Miss Bernice Coshaw returned to her work at Corvallis Friday, after spending Thanksgiving with home folks.

The will of R. A. Sanders leaves his property mostly to his grandchild, with Aubrey Tussing as administrator.

Mrs. E. Simpson of Marion, Iowa, who has been visiting Mrs. F. S. Walker, left Friday for a visit with friends in Albany.

Mrs. Delbert Blackburn and daughters returned to their home in Salem Saturday, after a visit at the A. H. Blackburn home.

Thomas Kirk returned to school duties at O. A. C. Saturday, after spending Thanksgiving with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Harrison.

Serle Daugherty and R. D. James returned to Corvallis, where they are O. A. C. students, Saturday, after spending their holiday with Brownsville friends and relatives.

Feed Flax Straw to All Classes of Live Stock

Flax straw can be fed to any class of live stock. Cattle, horses and sheep will eat it in the absence of a better grade of forage. When feeding flax straw one should bear in mind that flax straw is not of very high feeding value. Flax straw contains much crude material that is indigestible and although an animal may fill up on flax straw nevertheless the animal does not receive such nourishment from such "filling," consequently flax straw is made use of by live stock men as a filler, says a writer in the Dakota Farmer. The animals are permitted to run to the flax straw after they have received their usual ration of other materials.

Flax straw should not be fed to pregnant animals, this is especially toward the spring months when the sheep are showing lamb and the cows in calf. Flax straw should not be fed. On account of so much crude material flax straw often causes excessive constipation, consequently animals fed this material should be closely watched for this condition.

Occasionally when flax is frozen the straw may be poisonous. We have had such results in North Dakota. However, when not frozen flax straw is not injurious other than being rather indigestible and of low food value.
