More meat and lard was consumed per capita in 1925 than in any other year since 1908. This increase in consumption was primarily in pork and lard. According to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, in addition to providing the amount needed for domestic consumption, enough meat and lard was produced to export over two billion pounds, which is equivalent to about 18 pounds more per capita. As pork production is now being curtailed, the 1924 figure of meat consumption is not likely to be equaled in 1925.

Send in notice of church service in Halsey and neighboring communities and they will be welcome to any space in the Enterprise up to two inches.

The Enterprise has regularly published church notices, with the understanding that if there were changes of program it would be notified in time, preferably by Monday. One would think that in a live church there would be at least one member who would attend to the matter. Meeting Lon Chamlee Friday, the editor learned that he was out of the local pastorate and the notice in the Enterprise has been erroneous. To avoid such errors in future we shall publish church notices only on the week they are received at this office. We furnish postpaid envelopes for the purpose on request.

Another Pioneer Gone

Mrs. Nancy E. Palmer died last Friday morning at her home in this city, after several weeks of illness. Her funeral and interment were at Pine Grove Sunday, after brief services at the home.

Mrs. Palmer was born April 10, 1848, at Seward, N. Y., the youngest daughter of Nicholas and Patty Otman. She married Lyman B. Palmer in 1866 and two years later they came around Cape Horn to Oregon and bought the farm owned by Mrs. Dyck Brock where her husband died 36 years later. She then moved into town, residing here about 21 years. She had been a Rebekah for many years.

Not long after she came to Oregon Mrs. Palmer lost trace of all her relatives, but two years ago a niece, Mrs. Carrie Beadle of Los Angeles, passing through Oregon, stopped off in Halsey, made inquiry at the Halsey State bank, and was directed to the home of the old lady. The lonely woman was nearly shocked into fits at the sudden appearance of a relative after so many years. Mrs. Beadle wrote to Mrs. Palmer's sister Lydia and brother John in New York and correspondence followed.

These three and another niece in New York are all the known relatives of the deceased except her descendants in Oregon.

Mrs. Beadle was at the bedside at Mrs. Palmer's death.

Administration's Pet Baby Lauded

Washington.—The administration's stand in favor of American participation in the world court was reaffirmed by President Coolidge in an address delivered at the White House to delegates attending the national conference on the cause and cure of war.

This step the president characterized as the next move that should be taken by the United States toward outlawing war.

He suggested also that the nation and the world should "turn the light of more information and better understanding upon the problems of diplomacy."

Meantime, the president declared, the United States should in the interest of peace continue its readiness to associate itself with whatever measures would tend to maintain security, but should avoid the danger of "a super-government."

PUZZLES SEND 5 INSANE

Latest Fad Adds to Population of Oregon State Hospital.

Salem, Or.—That the advent of the crossword puzzle, like other similar fads, would contribute its quota to the insane population of the state was evidenced by a report issued by officials at the state hospital here.

During recent weeks five patients suffering from an overzealous attempt to solve these crossword puzzles have been received at the state hospital, three men and two women, from widely scattered sections of the state. Two of the patients were brought here in strait-jackets.

Finnish Plan Saves Uncle Sam's Face

Geneva.—The League of Nations anti-drug conference reached a turning point favorable to the American program when Viscount Cecil and Congressman Stephen Porter personally agreed upon the principal points under discussion.

A joint conciliatory commission will attempt to find a suitable date to start a 15-year period within which signatories will suppress opium smoking and production and definitely limit manufactured drugs.

Separate conventions will be launched covering both subjects.

The conference was saved from a break-up when the conferees unanimously adopted the Finnish project providing for appointment of a joint commission not only to consider the entire American proposals but also all conciliatory projects.

25 OREGON CITIES ORGANIZE

Amendment to Constitution to Guard Rights Will be Asked.

Portland, Or.—The League of Oregon Cities, with a charter membership of 25 municipalities, was organized at a meeting in the council chambers of the city hall Saturday.

A definite program for work at the state legislature was adopted and a legislative committee appointed.

Cities in the league membership are: Troutdale, Gresham, Toledo, Gold Hill, Drain, Tualatin, Hillsboro, Albany, Marshfield, Milwaukie, St. Helens, Astoria, Baker, Yamhill, Forest Grove, Beaverton, Oregon City, Salem, Eugene, Silverton, Cottage Grove, Scappoose, Warrenton, Prineville and Portland.

The legislative program calls for submission of a constitutional amendment guaranteeing to the cities of the state full control of their own affairs, and restricting the legislature in interference with the home rule prerogatives of the cities.

Nomination of Warren is Shelved.

Washington, D. C.—The nomination of Charles B. Warren of Detroit as attorney-general was shelved by the senate judiciary committee to await the outcome of a fight against confirmation of the promotion of Attorney General Harlan F. More Klux Killings at Bloody Herrin

Four Dead as Result of Latest Outbreak Between Two Factions.

Herrin, Ill.—With militiamen again patrolling the streets of Herrin, order prevailed Sunday after the latest outbreak of klan and anti-klan warfare Saturday night in which four men were killed, including S. Glenn Young, klan liquor raider, and Ora Thomas, deputy sheriff, recognized outstanding leaders of the two factions.

The two others killed in the revolver battle in a maid-street cigar shop were Ed Forbes and Homer Warner, both reputed klansmen and companions of Young.

Young died from a bullet wound through the heart, although he was shot also in the right breast. These shots, according to reports, came from the two revolvers handled by Thomas.

When citizens entered the cigar shop a few minutes after an exchange of 40 or 40 shots they found Young dead and Warner unconscious. Thomas slumped to the floor with bullet wounds in his body and died on the way to the city hospital.

Forbes lay dead on the sidewalk outside, shot through the base of the skull. Warner died in the hospital about two hours later.

Versions of the battle vary. It is known, however, that the shooting took place in the Canary cigar store and barber shop operated in the front of the European hotel.
