This is forest week. Halsey has no forests.

P. H. Freerksen and wife were Albany visitors Saturday. Mrs. J. C. Standish and Mrs. L. C. Merrian were in Albany Friday.

J. W. Stevenson and wife and Mrs. Bass were in Albany Friday.

The Lebanon strawberry fair will be June 5 and 6, weather permitting.

J. W. Clark is painting and overhauling at the residence on his farm near Brownsville.

Rev. Joshua Khamis, a refugee from Syria, will speak at the Church of Christ Sunday evening.

Freda Koch and some friends from Portland called on Hans Koch and wife Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. O. B. Stalnaker of Corvallis was with her parents, T. P. Patton and wife, here last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zimmerman of Albany were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Zimmerman Sunday.

Mrs. Josie Heckter and daughter Rena of Albany called on Henry Abraham and family Sunday afternoon.

If you are driving an auto and drunk, keep out of Albany or they may fine and jail you under a new ordinance.

Mrs. Cecil Quimby and little daughter are visiting her parents. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dykstra. Cecil went home to Alsen Saturday.

Miss Ruby Schroll planned to return to Halsey about this time to reside, but she writes that she has decided to prolong her stay at Rex.

Curtis Veatch and wife, Miss Beulah Miller, H. C. Davis, E. B. Penland and H. Zimmerman were at the county seat one day early last week.

Rev. Robert Parker and Frank Hadley, with carloads of young people attended the Epworth league at Grants Pass, Friday to Sunday.

We Oregonians find fault with the copiousness of the spring rains, but they have certainly been good for spring wheat, much of which was sown where fall grain was winterkilled.

M. H. Shook and daughter Mirtle came up from Portland last week. The Shook family are remaining in Mrs. Dean's house for the balance of the school year, while M. H. is in the commission business with his father in Portland.

Attempted Jailbreak

Thursday, as Sheriff Richard was preparing to lock up the prisoners at the county jail for the night, Harry T. Ramsey, held for burglary, jumped on him and he and another prisoner had the sheriff down when State Prohibition Officer Duckworth appeared, knocked Ramsey senseless and put an end to the insurrection.

Robin Somers, Holley moonshiner, was one of Richard's assailants and a third is believed to have been Ehrenreich, a chronic defendant in the courts.

Ramsey has a long California criminal record.

Ottawa.—While Canada will not offend Japan, there are evidences that the Japanese immigration question as affecting the Pacific coast is again to come up for discussion.

Persistent demands from members of parliament representing British Columbia constituencies for further restriction of Japanese immigration into this country will, it is now understood, form the basis of an investigation by a sub-committee of the cabinet.

The chief matter for investigation is the charge, freely made by the British Columbians, that the Japanese are not strictly adhering to the restrictive agreement between the Canadian and Japanese governments.

Colorado Seeks Authority in Parks.

Washington, D. C.—The right of states to exercise police authority in national parks was argued in the supreme court in a case brought by Colorado against the superintendent of the Rocky mountain national park. Special stress was placed by the state upon what it termed the monopoly granted for the use of the highways to a transportation company. Complaint was directed against regulations of the secretary of the interior to be enforced by the superintendent of the park. The state held the park roads were necessary connecting links of state highways.

No Relief Asked by St. Paul Road.

Washington, D. C.—In a statement regarding the receivership of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, the interstate commerce commission declared that no formal application for financial relief ever was filed with it in behalf of the corporation prior to its announcement of inability to meet obligations. The commission explained that proposals looking to relief had been discussed by President Byram of the road with some of the commissioners, but that the action had not been followed up.

Court Suspends Packers' Decree.

Washington, D. C.—Indefinite suspension of the operation of the consent decree by which the big five meat packers agreed with the government to divorce themselves from unrelated lines of business was ordered by the District of Columbia supreme court.

Governments to Survey St. Lawrence.

Washington, D. C.—Agreement between the American and Canadian governments as to the scope of the proposed investigation of a joint board of engineers into the project of a St. Lawrence waterway was announced by the state department.

Kellogg Favors World Tribunal.

Washington, D. C.—Secretary of State Kellogg, in an address here before the American Society of International Law, declared himself unreservedly in favor of submission of all international disputes to an international tribunal. Kellogg did not refer specifically to the world court, "I am heartily in favor of a judicial tribunal to which nations may present their problems and their international disputes," he said.

The state board of control has remitted to the city of Astoria approximately $28,000, representing the first half taxes for the year 1925 paid by the property owners of the municipality.

Under a law enacted at the 1923 session of the legislature state taxes paid by property owners of Astoria were to be remitted to the city over a period of seven years.

Questions are being asked of other railroads in this state to determine if there is any opposition to the application of the Oregon, California & Eastern railroad, known better as the Strahorn line, to the interstate commerce commission for the right to extend its line to Lakeview from near Klamath Falls, the system headquarters.

Legionnaires from all American Legion posts in central Oregon will join in an attempt to make the McKenzie highway across the Three Sisters divide passable before the latter days of June, when the state convention of the legion will be held in Prineville. The legionnaires plan to co-operate with the bureau of public roads.

dium hands and feet; skated well, danced well, talked well. Read the books you had read. A companionable girl. Loads of money but never spoke of it. Traveled. Her hand met yours firmly—and it was just a hand. At the contact no current darted through you, sending its shaft with a little zing to your heart.

But when Paula showed you a book her arm, as she stood next you, would somehow fit into the curve of yours and you were conscious of the feel of her soft slim side against you. He knew many girls. There was a distinct type known as the North Shore girl. Slim, tall, exquisite; a little fine nose, a high, sweet, slightly nasal voice, ear rings, a cigarette, luncheon at Huyler's. All these girls looked amazingly alike. Dirk thought; talked very much alike. They all spoke French with a pretty good accent; danced intricate symbolic dances; read the new books; had the same patter. They pre-faced, interlarded, concluded their remarks to each other with, "My dear!" It expressed, for them, surprise, sympathy, amusement, ridicule, horror, resignation. "My dear! You should have seen her! My dear!"—horror. Their slang was almost identical with that used by the girls working in his office. "She's a good kid," they said, speaking in admiration of another girl. They made a fetish of frankness. In a day when everyone talked in screaming headlines they knew it was necessary to red-ink their remarks in order to get them noticed at all. The word rot was replaced by garbage and garbage gave way to the ultimate swill. One no longer said "How shocking!" but, "How perfectly obscene!" The words, spoken in their sweet clear voices, fell nonchalantly from their pretty lips. All very fearless and uninhibited and free. That, they told you, was the main thing. Sometimes Dirk wished they wouldn't work so hard at their play. They were forever getting up pageants and plays and large festivals for charity; Venetian fetes, Oriental bazaars, charity balls. In the programme performance of these many of her friends were, acted better, danced better than most professional performers, but the whole thing always lacked the flavor, something of professional performance. On these affairs they lavished thousands in costumes and decorations, receiving in return other thousands which they soberly turned over to the cause. They found nothing ludicrous in this. Spasmodically they went into business or semi-professional ventures, defying the conventions. Paula did this, too. She or one of her friends were forever opening blouse shops; starting Gift Shops; burgeoning into tea rooms decorated in crude green and vermilion and orange and black; announcing their affiliation with an advertising agency. These adventures blossomed, withered, died. They were the result of post-war restlessness. Many of these girls had worked indefatigably during the 1917-1918 period; had driven service cars, managed ambulances, nursed, scrubbed, conducted canteens. They missed the excitement, the satisfaction of achievement.

How to Get Most Value From a Good Male Bird The male is more than half the poultry flock. An inferior hen will produce poor chicks from only her own eggs, but an inferior male will produce inferior chicks from all eggs laid by every hen in the pen, says D. J. Taylor, poultry specialist, Kansas State Agricultural college.

The selection of a male to head a flock of pullets requires a knowledge of what his ancestors did in egg production. He should be a good standard-bred male from a high-producing family. It is preferable to select a male whose mother, grandmother, great-grandmother and older ancestors have been trapped and have shown a high percentage of yearly egg production records of over 200 eggs. A male having consistently high records in all ancestors with high-producing sisters is better than a male with a much higher record mother, but records of sisters and others poorer, according to Taylor.

Look to the male bird to furnish a higher degree of excellence than the females. Any improvement is largely the result of his superior qualities. Only one male need be kept to each ten or fifteen hens.

Good Silage Keeps Well When It Is Transferred That good silage can be successfully transferred to another silo if necessary was proved at the Ohio experiment station as an outcome of a fire which burned a large live-stock barn and two wooden silos in connection with it, leaving the silage unprotected.

The silage thus exposed was transferred to empty and partially filled silos, being blown into them through a silage cutter. Three men in the silo did a thorough job of tramping. In filling one of the silos water was added at the rate of one pound to every thirteen pounds of silage; no water was added to the silage in the other. The silage from both silos, which has since been fed, was of excellent quality.

It appears from observing these tests that, if the original silage was put up in good condition, that is, not too mature or dry, it may be transferred without additional water to another silo when occasional demands.

Cavern Gives Up Body of Collins. Cave City, Ky.—The body of Floyd Collins, trapped in an underground cavern at Sand Cave the past two months, was brought to the surface and brought to this place. Collins was trapped January 30 after he had discovered a new cave. He met slow death while rescuers worked vainly for days and a nation prayed that he might be rescued alive.

Recess Appointment Policy Dropped Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge has practically abandoned the policy of making recess appointments of postmasters, allowing instead the filling of vacancies by appointment of acting postmasters by Postmaster General New.

California Votes 3-Cent Gas Tax. Sacramento, Cal.—The bill increasing the gasoline tax to 3 cents per gallon passed the assembly by a vote of 42 yeas to 34 noes. The measure now goes to the governor for signature.

Naval Base at Victoria Burns. Victoria, B. C.—The shore shed and part of the jetty at the Esquimalt naval base, which housed the Canadian navy's Pacific fleet ammunition torpedoes and other supplies, was gutted by a $100,000 fire.

It takes about six pounds of seed corn to plant an acre. This means that about sixteen ears for each acre to be planted are necessary.

W. A. Brock and wife visited Brownsville Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Workinger and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Workinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Freerksen.

A little overhauling now will save you a big haul later. Don't run your car on the loose bearings and burned valves. It takes too much gas and ruins your motor. Bring your car and let me look it over once a month and see if it is O. K. It won't cost you a cent. I am here to give you service and satisfaction.

We have a full line of Tubes, Tires and accessories. Union Gas and Oil. All work done in this shop is fully guaranteed. I specialize in all makes of cars and tractors, magneters, starting motors and batteries. I want jobs where others have failed.

The Enterprise one year for one dollar The Paper will Stop Coming at the end of the term unless the subscription is renewed. The money will be used in making a better paper for the subscriber during the life of the subscription, not in improving it for the benefit of somebody else the next year. Cutting Out Waste Credit is waste. Bookkeeping and collecting consume time, and time is money. Some debtors die, some move away, some go bankrupt and some are downright dishonest persons. Those who pay $1.50 cover these losses. Any Linn County Farmer not now taking the Enterprise can have it on trial 25 weeks for 25 cents and it will stop coming to him when the time expires unless he orders it continued. One or two copies might not give a fair idea of the work the paper is doing, but after 25 weeks' acquaintance subscriber will be wiser or not it is worth $1 a year. We pay cash to school pupils who procure these trial subscriptions from farmers in Linn county. Write or call for particulars. Those who have farmed fifty years have learned something every year. None of us knows it all. Every Linn county farmer is invited to tell the Enterprise of any worth-while experience. Some of these make suggestions worth more to you than several years' subscriptions. The Enterprise will continue to improve as fast as receipts from its patrons make improvement possible. Linn County Farm Features will continue to be given prominence. Every farmer can learn something from some other farmer under similar conditions of soil and climate that it will be profitable for him to know. In Other Lines The weekly discussion of the international Sunday school lesson will appear regularly. The paper will also carry more than twice as much local news and good-natured gossip as can be found elsewhere. Oregon news in brief paragraphs. Brief statements of important world events. Daddy's evening fairy tales. Join the Lucky Dollar Class Have a share in making a better paper in Halsey—a credit to the community
