 More than half the Bell Telephone wires are now under ground. In digging trenches for them in cities a compressed air equipment cuts up the pavement and another machine and one or two men dig a trench 3 1/2 feet deep, 20 inches wide and 800 feet long in a day. Some labor-saving machine!

White Leghorn Is Most Satisfactory for Eggs

The White Leghorns seem to be the most satisfactory breed for commercial egg production. When both eggs and meat are desired it pays to keep one of the general-purpose breeds, like Barred Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds or White Wyandottes. This brief list does not mention all the breeds that are good for egg production or for egg and meat production. It is the individuals in a breed and not the breed name that determines the profits from a flock of poultry.

If the hens that lay white eggs and the hens that lay brown eggs are managed the same, I think there is very little, if any, difference in the quality of the contents. I have heard owners of the brown breeds say that their eggs seemed to look richer and probably contained more food value than white-shelled eggs, but scientific investigation seems to indicate that the eggs of the same weight are about equal in food value regardless of the color of the shell.
 It is often found that White Leghorn eggs will hatch a larger per cent of chicks than some brown egg breeds. I think the vigor of the stock is of more importance than the color of the egg in determining hatchability.

Farming may not be financially so profitable but there is a "heap o' living" in it.

Better seed and better machinery are not expenses; they are productive investments.

Fest is far more valuable as a place for crops to grow than as a fertilizer for upland soils.

Long rows in gardens are best. Beds suffer more from drought and are harder to cultivate.

No vegetable is easier taken care of or returns more for the labor expended upon it than asparagus.

Forest fire protection costs little and saves much.

Weeds are weeds and should be treated as such.

Sweet corn needs the germination test fully as much as field corn, this spring.

Plant sound seed in a well prepared seed bed to be assured of a good crop stand.

Pumping water by hand is all right when a man needs exercise and has plenty of time.

Get Chicks on Ground
 Get the chicks out on the ground as soon as you can. Even while the weather is cool, let them have access to the grass and ground, but provide a runway so they can hurry back to the brooder stove when they get cold. Chicks will come to the heat when necessary if the runway is opened for them.

Collecting Broomsticks
 This is a good time to start collecting broomsticks from all your neighbors. They are ideal stakes for heavy-growing plants. Grab anything that looks like a neat stake and store it, for stakes never come amiss in the growing season and usually there is a dearth of them when they are most needed. Stout stakes for tomatoes will be needed.

Heavy feeding and no exercise on Sunday is equally bad for horses and men.

Alfalfa gives the best results when allowed to stand three to five years.

If your garden has no great length or breadth, remember that its height is infinite.

Remember that sweet clover hay properly made is as high in protein as alfalfa.

Julius Kruttschnitt Dead
 Julius Kruttschnitt, director and retired chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific lines, died in New York Monday at the Presbyterian hospital, from a sudden attack of heart disease. He was 71 years old.
 Mr. Kruttschnitt was such a man as those held up for examples in Professor Dubac's address at the Halsey graduation. On the Wednesday before his sudden death a bulletin had been issued by the Southern Pacific which said:
 The youngster seeking a formula for success may find it in the official appreciation of Julius Kruttschnitt, placed on the Southern Pacific records by the directors with their acceptance recently of the former chairman's resignation.
 After reciting the fact of his 47 years service the resolution enumerates the qualities that made Kruttschnitt one of the leading railroad men of the world. Here they are:
 "Indefatigable industry, consistent courage, unflinching fidelity and zeal, added to practical skill, technical training and scientific knowledge."

Inventions and discoveries which lessen labor and increase efficiency are being made every day.
 They affect farm industry as well as that in the factory, the mine, the forest or anywhere else.
 He who does not keep abreast of the march of progress cannot compete on even terms with him who does.
 He who has a college education has an advantage over him who has not in extracting treasures from the soil.
 Agricultural editors do not invent the things they publish. They learn of the successes and failures of farmers and tell other farmers about them. Often the readers are able to turn this information into dollars and cents.

Plant good seed and reap more than you sow.
Clean Land for Alfalfa
 Plant alfalfa on clean, cultivated land. This means corn or potato land. A clean firm, moist seedbed is essential to success, and clean corn or potato land gives these essentials in a practical way. Fall-plowed grain-stubble land, well firmed in the spring, can be made into a good seedbed for alfalfa. Spring-plowed stubble land is the last choice. If it is necessary to use such land, plow early, pack well, and seed a little later than usual.

Hogging Off Barley
 While there would be some waste in hogging off barley and while the hogs would not make as efficient use of it as they would if it were harvested, threshed and ground, the time saved in getting the cheaper feed, and the labor and expense of harvesting saved, probably would make up for any waste and loss from this method of feeding. This, of course, applies only to the small patch grown for early feed.
