Halsey Happenings

Sixteen joined the Methodist church Sunday.

Glenn Chance and wife were in Albany yesterday.

A. C. Armstrong and wife visited Frank Skipton and wife in Albany Saturday afternoon.

Leona Twidwell is the name of the new drug handler at Ringo's. She calls Corvallis her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tinner of Norton, Ore., visited Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Burbank Sunday.

"Whatever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." You will not have another day this year as long as this.

L. H. Armstrong and wife and daughter Hazel returned Monday from a week's visit with relatives at Montague, Cal.

A bit of fire in the early morning and Clark's ice cream parlor in the afternoon have both seemed pleasant in recent days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Krontz and Alberta, Mrs. Jim Drinkard and Mrs. Douglas Taylor were in Corvallis and Albany Monday.

H. F. English brought his mother and his two children from Eugene Sunday to see the new baby. The latter's name is Alice Elizabeth.

Judge Kelly has decided that a prisoner who serves part of the alternative of a term in jail for a fine must finish the term or pay the full fine.

A. A. Tussing and family have returned to Brownsville to reside until further developments. Mr. Tussing will maintain his office here for the present.

George Hardy and E. La Fond of Lebanon have gone to jail for 60 days for confessed larceny and Pete Hahn has been bound over to the grand jury for the same offense.

The county fair premium list is out, and every farmer who is in the line of progress is interested in it. We shall have a good deal more to say about it before Sept. 22, when it opens.

L. L. Swan has filed suit to have Governor Pierce hold that special referendum election the law for which he vetoed. Swan claims the veto was unconstitutional.

Ben Sudtoll has sold his Albany auction house business to Mr. Allphing, who is advertising it under the same name. The Sudtolls are giving dances three nights a week at their home, Tumble Inn.

I. E. Burbank and wife, from Oakland, Cal., are coming to live in the Henry building, on Second street. Mr. Burbank is a brother of W. M. Burbank and will help him in remodeling the old Henry barn into a modern garage.

Coal miners go on strike when cold weather arrives. Our city pump, in front of Miller's barber shop, went on strike when the hot days came and is still out of commission.

Miss Fieta Livick will put a cement sidewalk in front of her half block on Second street, so she joins the procession of citizens making the march of progress.

Karl Bramwell and wife and Mrs. Albert Miller were at the closing performances at the Portland rose show last week. So were T. J. Skirvin and wife.

Style of Modern Dances Improving

Questionable Innovations Wearing Out Their Welcome

(Dearborn Independent)

The dance is one of the oldest forms of human expression. Some have regarded it as a part of human speech. From the dance of atoms, through the mating dances of certain birds and animals, up to the tribal dances of the various nations, the expression of emotion and ideas in rhythmic movements of the body bears all the marks of being a deep natural instinct.

No aspect of human interest has escaped interpretation in the dance. From time immemorial marriage has been celebrated by dancing. The coming of spring has inspired several forms of dancing. The war dances of the Indians are commonly known.

Joy, of course, has been the most moving source of dancing. The lambs skip, the dog leaps, the pleased child dances about in ecstasy.

Denunciation of the dance by the protectors of public morals has usually been occasioned by the importation of dances which are foreign to the expressive needs of our people. Dances partake of the racial characteristics of the people who dance them.

One fault which has scored heavily against the ultra-modern dance is its "one and one" quality. It begins and ends with a single couple. The group spirit of fun is absent. This is due to the modern commercial dances. Their character is determined by commercial considerations. The older form of dancing requires room. Room in cities is expensive. Hence a form of dancing has been encouraged that enables the largest possible number of paying couples to dance together in the smallest possible space. The result is that in the modern method the movement of the dance is mostly above the feet. It is as a revulsion from these conditions that the ultra-modern dances are being abandoned.

With characteristic American judgment, the balance is now shifting toward that style of dancing which best fits with the American temperament. There is a revival of that type of dancing which has survived longest among the northern peoples.

Mrs. J. C. Porter and G. W. Laubner and wife visited the Forest Grove Masonic home Sunday. The Shedd lodge gave an entertainment there.

Soy beans, sweet clover, vetch and Mammoth clover are frequently used to improve sandy lands.

Cod liver oil in the mash for baby chicks kept in close confinement during early spring will help to prevent leg weakness.

Cats and dogs are useful in keeping rats under control. However, they need the co-operation of the owner if they are to make a real cleanup of the trouble.

Time is necessary to make real and lasting improvements in agriculture. This applies to the individual and to national problems of agriculture as an industry.

Success in business ventures depends largely on purchasing raw materials at favorable prices. Another point for the dairyman is their efficient use by the cow.

Inventions and discoveries which lessen labor and increase efficiency are being made every day.

They affect farm industry as well as that in the factory, the mine, the forest or anywhere else.

He who does not keep abreast of the march of progress cannot compete on even terms with him who does.

He who has a college education has an advantage over him who has not in extracting treasures from the soil.

Agricultural editors do not invent the things they publish. They learn of the successes and failures of farmers and tell other farmers about them. Often the readers are able to turn this information into dollars and cents.

The Other Kind

Little Louis had gone to the kitchen to observe old Aunt Sarah, the colored cook, at work making biscuits. After he had sampled one, he observed:

"Aunt Sarah, I can spell now, These are made out of d-o, do." "But that doesn't spell dough," Louis' mother corrected, as she entered the kitchen to give the cook some orders.

Whereupon Aunt Sarah thought that she, too, would enter the discussion. So she said:

"Dere's two kinds of do, chile. 'Do' what you shuts, and 'do' what you eats."

The potato is a staple crop which can profitably be grown in either a large or small orchard.

Pity the little chicks and keep their hover warm. They'll repay you in eggs when they grow up.

The garden is no longer a plaything, but a very valuable aid in producing the food supply of a farm.

W. L. Wells and wife are home from a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. Mr. Hespeth and wife, at Teakoa, Wash.

Table with columns for North and South, listing train numbers and times for various routes.

Outgoing Mail

At the Halsey postoffice mails close going north at 11:50 a. m. and 5:20 p. m. Going south, 11:10 a. m. and 5:20 p. m.

There is room for more population in occupied houses in Halsey. Second street is an example. In the straight shoot south through town there are two residences on the left, occupied by families. On the right are ten residence buildings, each large enough for a large family.

Good Fleeces and Lambs Are Always Profitable

Profitable sheep production depends largely upon the ability of the ewes in the flock to produce good fleeces and to raise strong, vigorous lambs. Proper feeding of the ewes prior to lambing and during the suckling period will go far toward insuring these returns.
