Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hall of Goodland, Kans., are visiting with the former's sister, Mrs. William Zellmer and family of the Oak Plain neighborhood.

Mrs. Frank Porter and Gertrude went through Halsey Monday on the way home to Portland from the home of Mrs. Porter's father, Mr. Hopkins of Eugene, who is ill.

Mrs. George Maxwell was alone Saturday at her home, talking at the telephone, when she fell to the floor with an attack of heart disease. Mrs. Jesse Safley, to whom she was talking, called up the nearest neighbor, Mrs. J. C. Standish, and told her of a sudden break in the conversation and advised that she step over and see what was wrong. Mrs. Standish soon summoned help. Mrs. Maxwell's daughters, Mrs. Sawyer of Tacoma and Mrs. Chivalo of Olympia, are with her. She is not improving very fast.

Legion Meeting in Washington

Port Angeles, Wash.—The American Legion convention elected Frank W. Brooks, Bellingham, state commander, and chose Longview for its next annual convention.

The legion praised the Coolidge administration for economy but declared any policy that would prevent annual training of officers and men to maintain an organized defense service was short-sighted.

Movements to modify the immigration law were pronounced detrimental to friendly relations between the United States and Japan.

The legion asked the state to create a committee of experts to make an adjustment with each settler in the White Bluffs-Hanford war veterans' colony.

The resolution passed recommended that Governor Hartley name one member of a committee, the Legion and pioneers in the Priest River district one, and that this committee recommend to the state an adjustment with each settler.

National Commander James A. Drane pledged every effort to the American Legion toward bringing world peace. In this respect he said: "We know that there can be no peace without justice. We believe that there can be no justice without proper means of administering it. We believe in a competent world court."

Reports from Sweet Home give the information that Louis W. Hill plans to purchase from 12,000 to 15,000 acres of timber in that neighborhood. A pool is being made of the small logs for the purpose of the sale.

Sell the beef type of birds of the heavy breeds and retain the alert busy hens with the refined heads. Discard the cross-headed hens, and hens with thick heavy skulls.

Keep watch of your hens to prevent Robbins.
