W. J. Ribelin, who is in the eighties in age, staged a comeback after the paralytic stroke at Prineville which it was feared might finish him, as he had done on several previous occasions. When last heard from he was in British Columbia and thought if he didn't settle down there to grow up with the country he might return to old Oregon.
The Arnold farm, near Shedd, was the site of campmeetings fifty years ago. Religious ideas were not the only things planted. Three coins, dated 1853, 1859 and 1872, as well as pocket knives and other souvenirs have been dug up there. The 1872 coin, a dime, was found a few days ago by Catherine Arnold while picking up potatoes about where the pulpit stood.

Hoisted Homesteaders

There were some homesteaders on the territory desired by the Doheny interests when they got the government's naval oil reserve there from it. Fall before his fall.
Men with shotguns visited these settlers and advised them to leave if they wanted to live. One old couple refused to go and their house was picked up and hauled away. When fancy Sickness was there he talked with their lawyer, who said he felt sure of winning a million or so for them for their home and their oil rights.
Conversing with an Oklahoman Mr. Sickness was asked why our schools were opening later than those there. He said one reason was to give all a chance to help in the rone and hop harvest.
"What does a hop look like?" asked an old farmer.
"In shape it looks much like a pine cone."
Political scouts have been feeling the pulse of Oregon and they report that they find a growing coolness towards Mr. Coolidge among the farmers, who had seemed well disposed to him. They resent his approval of the Mellon plan of reducing taxation principally by leveling down the burdens of the wealthy and leaving the present onerous burden on the owner of the little farms of the country.
"I never saw a hop, nor a pine cone either," said the farmer.
"That country is treeless."
When they asked Mr. Sickness what was raised in Oregon he replied: "Tell me anything, except tropical products, that isn't raised there."

Union county Pomona grange has gone on record as favoring state income tax, favoring abolition of the public service commission, favoring repeal of the Esch-Cummins law and favoring a higher tax on butter substitutes.
Finely chop and mix equal weights of dates, figs and shelled walnuts. A sandwich made of two small slices of graham bread and one ounce of this mixture, compared with a sandwich made from the same amount of white bread spread with butter and sugar, has more than six times the calcium, more than twice the phosphorus and, best of all, since iron is hard to find among foods in common use, more than four times the iron.—Department of Ag.

State Deficit Under Half a Million
Calamity Howlers, True to Form, Multiplied it a Few Times

The following statements furnished by the Oregon Voter, are released for publication Nov. 5. This paper is printed Nov. 4 but not published until the 5th.
What the state really is facing is a prospective deficit, for 1926, of from $500,000 to $900,000, due to the referendum of measures which the legislature intended to provide revenue to cover its appropriation. But before the session adjourned, the estimates as to receipts from income tax and inheritance tax were revised upwards by $350,000. New revenue measures, not referred, provide an additional $208,000 for the biennium, and income tax collections have exceeded the anticipation by nearly $30,000 more. By virtue of this extra revenue, the theoretical deficit now confronting the state is only $85,000 for 1926.
But receipts from other state activities also are greater than were expected.
If the cigaret tax is upheld by the people, and also the bus bill and the 10% bill, the proceeds of those measures will begin to come in about Jan. 1, 1927. They may yield a sufficient amount to provide for the 1926 deficit and such state expenditures for the 1927-28 biennium as are not provided for by existing revenues.
Taking all the foregoing probabilities into consideration it is doubtful whether the deficit can be reduced much under $500,000.

Freight Rates on Lumber Go up

Washington, D. C.—Higher rates on lumber from the Pacific Northwest to Southern destinations were ordered by the interstate commerce commission in dismissing a complaint of the West Coast Lumbermen's association.
The increases range from 2 to 30.5 cents a 100 pounds and become effective November 21.
The commission investigated the proposed rates which apply through tributaries fixed with Denver, Colo., as a base on the lines of the Louisville & Nashville and the Gulf, Mobile & Northern.
Schedules of these roads were involved by cancellation of their present joint rates on lumber from Oregon, Washington and British Columbia via Denver to New Orleans, Mobile, Pennsylvania and intermediate points.

Custodian of Alien Property Accused

New York.—Thomas W. Miller, formerly alien property custodian, and several Swiss and German bankers and firms were indicted here by a federal grand jury charged with conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the handling of the affairs of the American Metals company, seized as German property during the war.
The aliens are accused of working through Colonel Miller and others in positions of trust and responsibility at Washington to obtain cash and Liberty bonds held as part of the German property seized by the United States government at the start of the war.
The whole case centers around the allegation that the American Metals company seized by A. Mitchell Palmer at the outbreak of the war, was fraudulently made to appear in large part as Swiss property, whereupon the government paid $7,000,000, representing 49 per cent of the company's capital stock value to the Societe Suisse pour Valeurs De Meteaux.

Canada Vote Ends in Near-Deadlock

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada's general elections brought about the nearest approach to a parliamentary dead lock in the history of the dominion. The conservatives under Right Hon. Arthur Meighen have made large gains, but with only 116 seats thus far assured, they clearly cannot command a majority in the next house of commons. Premier King, who had urged a moderate tariff, himself went down to defeat in his own constituency. Seven of his ministers also were beaten.

Syrians Appeal to League.
Geneva.—Protests to the League of Nations' mandate commission from Syria relative to the French administration of the Syrian mandate were referred to France for explanation.

Light on Coolidge's Air Policy Sought

Washington, D. C.—Colonel Mitchell's counsel told the court trying Colonel Mitchell Monday that in asking a subpoena for Everett Sanders, secretary to President Coolidge, they would "seek copies of all correspondence exchanged between the president and all persons relative to the necessity and reasons for the formation of the president's air board, headed by Dwight Morrow, as contained in the files of the White House executive offices."
Colonel Mitchell asked the court also to summon Secretaries Davis of the war department and Wilbur of the navy department, as witnesses.
Several other high officials of the two departments, several members of congress and more than 60 army and navy officers also were named by the defense in a list of those it would like to question.

SELECTION IS DEFERRED

Dr. Day Eliminated from Presidential Choice for University Head.
Portland, Or.—Regents of the University of Oregon, meeting in Portland, failed to select a president to succeed the late Dr. Prince L. Campbell.
Two reports were submitted by the special committee appointed to recommend a university executive. The majority report of Mrs. G. T. Gerlinger and C. C. Colt, both of Portland recommended that Frank Parker Day of the Carnegie Institute of Technology be chosen acting president.
The minority report, presented by Fred Flisk, Eugene, opposed the selection of Colonel Day and recommended further investigation of qualifications of applicants.
By a vote of nine to two the minority report was substituted for the majority report and adopted.

COPYRIGHT BY THE PENN PUBLISHING CO.

IT is the spirit of the Northland, imprisoned by a magician of the pen and made manifest in a great human drama enacted in the unmapped region below the Arctic. An epic of the fur trade into which is entwined vivid personalities and intense emotions, strong loves and bitter hatreds. Amazingly real and swift in action. It is the best story yet written by George Marsh, novelist of superior talent, who selects his scenes from the great white places and his characters from the dwellers therein.
