Wedding in High Life A physician was praising the late Dr. John Duncan Quackenbos.

"Quackenbos," he said, "was keen witted. As we were motoring one day we passed a fashionable church, A crowd was gathered about the church door, a red carpet was spread over the steps and superb foreign limousines were driving up. "'What's going on there, I wonder?"

I said. "The beginning of a divorce,' said Doctor Quackenbos."

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flash clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Friedman Unsurpassed as Leader brief account of the first half-minute of the Michigan-Wisconsin game at Madison last October will give you an idea of Friedman's capabilities. Royle Harmon kicked off for the Badgers and it was Michigan's ball on its own 40-yard line. Wisconsin naturally expected a running play, but they didn't know the Wolverine quarterback. Benny took the bal! from center in a short punt formation and shot a 30-yard pass to Gregory, who ran the remaining 30 yards to a touchdown. Friedman then kicked the goal for the extra point, and Doyle Harmon kicked off again-this time right into the hands of Bennie Friedman. All Benny did was to run 80 yards through the whole Badger team for a touchdown and then kick the goal! And just 37 seconds of play had elapsed! Wisconsin was getting acquainted with Benny now, That's the way it went all year, with Friedman probably having a hand in more touchdowns than any other player in the country. Only in the Northwestern game, which was played under most adverse weather conditions, did he fail to play bang-up football.

New Golf Champion Won Utah State Title at 15

George von Elm learned how to play golf in his own back yard. The new twenty-five-year old champion, who took the American amateur title by beating Bobby Jones, began driving and putting when he was eight years

As a schoolboy he laid out a minfature golf course in his back yard and spent many hours there when free from his studies. He imitated noted golfers about whom he read or had seen play. Von Elm's home was in Salt Lake City, Utah, then.

At nine he started as a caddle at the Salt Lake City Country club. In 1916, when he was fifteen, he entered the Utah state championship tournament and upset all precedents by handily winning the title. Since then he has captured the Utah golf !aurels four times.

The lanky Cornelian was the sensation of the college sprint world last spring and early summer. His meteoric rise began on the evening of March 6. Unheralded, Russe'l was entered in the 70-yard dash in the fifth annual indoor championship meeting of the I. C. A. A. A. A. Nobody, aside from the undergraduates and Coach Jack Moakley of Cornell, figured him as a championship possibility. Alfred "Truck" Miller of Harvard and Frank Hussey of Boston college were the favorites.

Russell captured the event after a close race. Then came the outdoor intercollegiates. Again Russell won, this time the 100 and 220-yard events, Russell was a member of the Cornell-Princeton track and field team that crossed the seas for a meet with the combined Oxford-Cambridge teams

Star English Rider Wins Half of Card

It was a Fred Rees day at the opening of the Lingfield steeplechase meeting in England recently, the star English jockey accounting for half the card. He started off by riding to victory Mask Man in the Cowden selling steeplechase.

Rees' second success was gained in the Southern handicap steeplechase, in which he rode Major G. Larnach Nevill's Ibstock to victory over Mrs. S. Prince's Mullaghmast by eight lengths. The third of Rees' winners was Greenhorn, which did not have much trouble in justifying his favoritism in the Cobham, a hurdle race for threeyear-olds.

"You know," he said, "we have a young team-just a bunch of kids. They made more hits than any other club in the league and scored almost as many runs.

"But, it takes pitchers to get up there. Whenever you see a club win in fairly good streaks and then drop games in just as long streaks, remember, it's the pitching. If you have the pitchers they stop the losing streaks. If you don't, it's luck when they stop." Cob denied rumors that he would be replaced as manager of the Tigers by

I. Woes of Those Who Indulge in Wine (vv. 29, 30).

No more graphic description of the evils of the winebibber has ever been given. It portrays in the most impressive manner the miseries that attach to the drunkard's life.

1. The awful pain which causes one to cry out, "Oh!"

Many indeed are the pains which men suffer because of strong drink. Bodily ills innumerable can be traced to its evil influence. 2. The bitter remorse which causes one to cry out, "Alas!"

Many are the expressions of bitter regret which come daily from the lips of the drunkard. Sometimes it is the sorrow of disgrace, loss of manhood and self-respect. Sometimes it is the sorrow of poverty of the individual and his family clothed in rags and half starved. Sometimes it is the sorrow of following a broken-hearted wife to her grave and seeing his children scattered among strangers.

3. Contention, strife and quarrel-

Much of the fighting among men is directly caused by their passions being inflamed by strong drink. The drunken man is always ready for a fight. He takes offense as well as gives offense. He not only has these from without, but he has struggles within. His conscience and his appetite are warring with each other.

4. Babblings and complainings. The winebibber complains of everything, ill-luck, broken fortune, ruined health, loss of friends, of fate and of Wounds without a cause. These are wounds which might have been avoided from fights in which a sober man would not have engaged and from accidents which are purely the result of intoxication. 6. Redness of eyes.

This has reference to the blood-shot eyes of the tippler which ruins and dims his vision. All these woes come upon those who tarry long at wine (v. 30).

II. The Attitude Enjoined (v. 31). Look not at it. Do not put yourself in the way of temptation. The only safe attitude toward strong drink is total abstinence, and the only sure of total abstinence is not to even look at it.

III. The Drunkard's Bitter End (vv. 32-35).

Acute miseries (v. 32) biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder.' Strong drink, like the poison of the serpent, permeates the whole system and ends in the most fatal consequences, the bitterest sufferings and

2. The perversion of the moral senses (v. 33).

(1) This excitement causes the eves to behold strange things. This denotes the fantastic images which are produced on the brain of the drunkard. Even when delirium tremens does not result, there are awful fancies which are beyond the possibility of realization. Since carnal lust always comes with wine drinking, it is no doubt true, as the Authorized Version has it, "Thine eyes shall behold strange women."

(2) "Thine heart shall utter perverse things." His moral sense being perverted, his utterances partake of the same. He tells lies, his words cannot be believed. 3. He is insensible to danger (v.

The drunkard is unsteady. His brain reels to and fro, he is foolhardy, even as one who would lie in the top of a ship's mast where there is the greatest danger of falling off.

4. He is insensible to pain (v. 35). The drunkard is utterly ignorant of what happens to him while under the influence of strong drink. The drunkard has many bruises and wounds for which he cannot account. He did not realize when he received them.

5. His abject bondage (v. 35). After all his sufferings, sorrow and disappointment he goes on as a bondslave to follow the ways of sin.

6. Hell at last, for no drunkard shall enter the Kingdom of Heaven (I Cor. 6:10).

> MODERN life throws a heavy burden on our bodily ma-chinery. The eliminative organs, especially the kidneys, are apt to become sluggish. Retention of excess uric acid and other poisonous waste often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning perfectly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. More and more people are learning to assist their kidneys by the occasional use of Doan's Pills - : stimulant diuretic. Ask your neighbor!
