ARE YOUR CHILDREN'S EYES READY FOR SCHOOL WORK?

That children may develop physically, co-ordinately with the pressure of the school work, their eyes must have immediate attention.

It is very important that children see clearly and comfortably. You will find that the correction of imperfect vision will reduce nervousness and crossness, and bring about willingness to do and new ambition to accomplish in study.

Unusual advantages are offered here. Nothing is spared that your children may see as nature intended them to.

Do not neglect your children's eyes. Take advantage of our special facilities and give your children the fullest opportunity to do their best.

More Than One Side to Every Question

Next Sunday evening—according to announcements—the pastor at the local Methodist church will take for his subject, "Is Christianity a failure?" No doubt the pastor will prove that Christianity is not a failure. In this the writer will agree, provided he does not confine his version of Christianity to the narrow path through the scriptures that Methodist ministers are wont to confine their teachings.

No, Christianity is not a failure, though the intolerance, bigotry and positiveness of some preachers that their beliefs are absolutely the only ones worthy of consideration, have made a failure of some preachers, and of some members too. There are some 800 religious denominations in the world today, yet some little preachers have the ego to believe that all who do not subscribe to their particular dogma are on the wrong road and will not reach their desired destination. We sometimes wonder if it never occurred to some of these single track brethren that possibly they, themselves, might be wrong and at least one of the others right.

Country Dailies Find They Are Handicapped

The two Bend papers, both published daily, have been consolidated. This is the result of attempting to publish two city newspapers in what might be termed, a good weekly town of 10,000.

Bend is large enough for two real weeklies to flourish and prosper but not large enough for one small daily to make a howling success, financially speaking. As a rule a small daily published in a town of 10,000 or less is on the ragged edge of bankruptcy. A six or eight page paper is not large enough to cover their town, county, state, nation and the world, and consequently they can only skim lightly over the surface of the real news and the people who want to know of all the current events are forced to read a metropolitan paper consisting of from twenty-four to forty-eight pages or more and all for practically the same money as the six page daily.

Verily, the small daily is a "flat tire." The printers get the money and the publishers get the experience.

What the Fairy Told Three Married Women

Three women once went to the Marriage Fairy. The first woman said: "My husband is not very charming or entertaining, but he is proud of my beauty, and sends me abroad in furs and satins and jewels. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "It will last till the next panic in Wall street, when your husband will lose his money and put a bullet through his head."

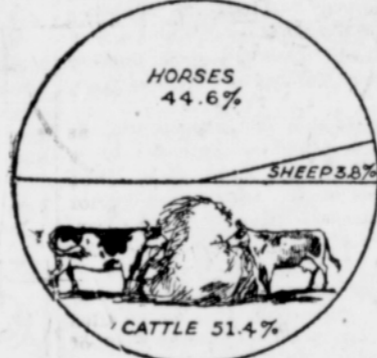

And the second woman said: "I do not care for wealth or luxury if I can be adored. And I am. I have been married fifteen years, and my husband still thinks me the loveliest woman on earth. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "You have already had it longer than nearly all the most-loved women. It will last for eighteen months longer, and then cease quite suddenly, you will never know why."

And the third woman said: "I don't seem to need what most women need. We are poor, and I never had a really beautiful dress in my life. But I don't care. My husband never pays me a great deal of attention. I don't remember that he ever complimented me in his life. I sit with him in the evening after my work is done. And if by chance he meets my eyes and smiles, I am perfectly happy. How long will it last?" And the fairy answered: "It will last till the day of your golden wedding, and then longer still. Do you really want it forever?" —Kansas City Times.

Women in U. S. Treasury

The assistant treasurer of the United States informs us that in the spring of 1922 Mr. F. E. Spinner, treasurer of the United States, prevailed upon Secretary Chase to permit him to appoint a woman to cut and trim United States currency. This work was then done with shears in the hands of men. He appointed Miss Jennie Douglas, and, as he afterward expressed it, "her first day's work settled the matter in her and in woman's favor." On October 9, 1882, the following woman employees were appointed: Miss Fannie L. Halstead, Miss Annie York, Miss Belle S. Tracy, Miss Elizabeth Stoner and Miss Mary Burke. These women were the first for whom Congress regularly made an appropriation.

Hay Cafeteria Service

(Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation)

Our hay crop furnishes one of the largest cafeteria services in existence, according to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. Seventy-eight million tons, it is expected, will be produced in 1926, a large part of which will be consumed by cattle. According to figures put out by the Department of Agriculture, 51.4% of this amount will be eaten by cattle, 44.6% by horses and the remaining 3.8% by sheep. The amount of hay eaten by hogs is very slight, only a small fraction of one per cent of the alfalfa crop. As in the case of other feed crops, most of this hay is consumed right on the farm where it is grown.

$29,686,214 in Dairy Products and Eggs Shipped Out of U. S.

Dairy products and eggs valued at $29,686,214 were exported from the United States in the year ending June 30, 1926, according to a statement on the export situation issued by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. Canned milk topped the list, with eggs second, cheese third and butter fourth. The principal export market for these products proved to be Cuba, which took two-fifths of the eggs shipped abroad and was next to the United Kingdom as a buyer of canned milk. Great Britain was the second largest customer for these products, with the Philippine Islands in third position. Mexico, Germany, China and Japan, Panama and Canada were the other markets which bought the surpluses of these products.
