O. A. C. on Grain and Potatoes

Corvallis, Dec. 22.

Little change appears in the wheat situation, with greater exportation from Russia than last year. Winter conditions continue rather favorable for Oregon wheat. Oats remain strong, but barley and corn are inclined to weaken. Little change is noted in the seed market, movement being slow at this season of the year.

The potato situation is interesting, in that prices paid in Klamath, where there is a good deal of competitive buying, are substantially better than prices in the north Willamette valley, close to Portland. A good many farmers, with high-class standard and certified seed potatoes, are being offered $1.65 to $1.75 when the market for No. 1 potatoes of table stock is around two dollars in Yakima, Idaho and Klamath. These standard seed potatoes are worth not less than $45 a ton, and the certified from $50 to $60. The isolation of a number of owners of good seed, together with their apparent inability to compare notes, is making it possible for some of the trade to get potatoes at $8 to $15 a ton below a fair price level.

Simple Mixture Stops Gas Bloating

Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as used in Adierika often helps stomach trouble in 15 minutes by removing GAS. Brings out a surprising amount of old waste matter you never thought was in your system. Stops that full, bloated feeling and makes you enjoy eating. Excellent for chronic constipation. Adierika works QUICK and delightfully easy.

Caloric Requirements of the Child

DIETITIANS declare that the average boy or girl of four years should receive about forty calories a pound of body weight per day. The average weight of a child of four years is forty pounds. Therefore the total caloric requirement would be approximately 1,600 calories. Calory is merely the name for a certain measure of heat derived from the burning of food.

Necessarily, the caloric requirement of the child is dependent on his temperament, since a child who plays hard and long requires more nourishment than one who leads a quieter life. Rate of growth also has a bearing on caloric requirements. The child who is growing rapidly should be given more food to meet his caloric needs than the boy or girl whose growth is normal.

Mothers know the daily diet should consist of the essential foodstuffs, proteins, carbohydrates, fats, minerals and water. The important thing for her is to learn the foods that contain these essentials in a balanced diet. Below is a well-balanced menu for any child six years old compiled by an authority on home economics.

Children often become wearied of drinking plain milk. Mixing their milk with fruit juices is a welcome change. Following is the recipe for a refreshing milk drink: Mix 1/4 cupful orange juice, 1/4 cupful evaporated milk, three teaspoonfuls of sugar, 1/2 teaspoonful of lemon juice and a few grains of salt. Shake well in a fruit jar before serving.

Unique Will

Written on an egg, a four-word will is in custody at Somerset house, London, while learned briefs are being prepared for and against the will's validity. The will is that of a sailor, who shortly before his death at sea inscribed on a blow shell of a hen's egg the words, "Mag, everything I possess."

about 200 of each variety. The Leghorns averaged 106 eggs and the rocks 86. That may represent today about the average for the United States. From these the present college flocks have descended through a long line of trap nests.

The Advertiser Gets the Trade

The Halsey Pharmacy has been constantly advertised under its present management and its trade has constantly grown. This Christmas season Mr. Morris has made a special drive and his store has been a busy place. Of Christmas cards alone he has probably sold more than ever before were sold in Halsey in a season. People have found that in many cases they can do as well in Halsey as in a larger city and keep more money circulating at home.

Koontz' store, which advertised Christmas goods, reports a satisfactory run of trade in that line.

Germane to our subject is the following agent the Brownsville senior class play. It is from last week's Times:

These young folks spent good money for advertising. In doing this there remained a doubt in some of their minds as to whether or not they were going beyond their limit. When the house began to fill up that evening their doubts were dispelled.
