From the Editor's Point of View

Henberry Crop Assumes Importance

The Junction City Times says: "Junction City bids fair to rival Petaluma as a poultry center," and mentions the Rausch hatchery, with a capacity of 40,000 chicks every three weeks, that of Virgil Parker at Greenleaf, which turns out 10,000 at a time, and adds that "almost every farm runs from 100 to 1000 white Leghorns.

At Harrisburg the Bulletin says there are six firms which are buying more than a thousand dozen eggs daily and that to these must be added the eggs consumed at home and those shipped out to hatcheries, to get an idea of the extent of the egg business there.

In the other counties of Oregon hens are numerous and right on the job.

The Co-operative Poultry Producers of Oregon are constantly shipping carloads of eggs to the east.

The number of hens per human capita is steadily on the increase, and, better still, the number of eggs produced per hen is also rapidly increasing. The bird bred up to the highest production is the most profitable, and every year more people are taking advantage of that fact.

Of all canned goods, this article, coming ready canned from the henery, is among the most nutritive and palatable, and egg production is one of the most profitable (to those who know how and work accordingly) and promising American industries.

Next Sunday is Easter egg day.

When the Dearborn Independent launched its campaign against Aaron Sapiro as a roper-in of farmers into unsound co-operative concerns Henry Ford said: "I think we can upset his appecart." From Sapiro's complaint and testimony it appears that the cart was pretty effectively toppled.

That fellow at whom we have been sneering for predicting that 1927 would be without a summer must have got a lot of comfort from the weather we have been having in recent weeks, but now he meets a reverse.

The mean temperature of what we have had thus far this April has been pretty blamed mean.

Trespass Notice During our absence from Halsey our property will be left in full charge of P. J. Forster.

During the year ended October 31, seven and one-half million women sought instruction in cooking from their local gas companies and the home services departments of the companies taught 367,299 women in cooking classes. Almost 100,000 calls to give help and instruction in the home were made, and 306,337 telephone calls were answered. Approximately 6,742,200 women were reached by cooking lectures over the radio. Yet there is a steady increase in the use of bakers' bread and canned foods.

Religion the Sole Foundation of Moral Standards and Conventions

By BISHOP WILLIAM T. MANNING, Episcopal, New York.

Stronger moral convictions and standards to enhance the moral fiber are necessary in upholding the nation's laws and institutions.

We see so many people today who are morally adrift and without clear standards or convictions. They tell us that these things are nothing but conventions; that there is no moral law which we are bound to obey. That view of life means ruin for the individual and for society. It means that they have lost their hold on religion and on God. It is religion alone that gives us more standards and conventions, and it is the only foundation of character, personal responsibility and citizenship and human life.

It is faith which makes human life great, and that makes it worth while. Doubt and uncertainty give no power to our lives. It is the man who believes great things who accomplishes great things. Faith lives in every human heart and the Christian religion lifts the faith that is in us up to its highest and noblest expression. All history shows that religion and morals stand together or fall together.

HALSEY, LINN AND OREGON

Sidney Smith is wrestling with flu.

Kenneth Cross has had his tonsils out.

F. M. Brown is out of the game commission.

W. C. Cooley of Brownsville is one of those drawn for the May jury.

Rev. J. S. Miller, Mrs. Eliza Brandon and Mrs. Arthur Foote attended the Albany all-day Holiness association meeting last week Tuesday.

F. Maxwell and wife came from Drain last week end for a visit here with relatives and at Albany.

The one-cent sale of the Halsey Pharmacy last week was most successful. Mr. Morris has faith in printer's ink. He shows his faith by his works—i. e., he gets the goods and advertises them—therefore he sells them.

Cases of disease reported to the state board of health from Linn county were 11 of flu, 2 of measles, 2 of pneumonia and 4 of smallpox last week.

In 1926 there were in Oregon 7085 marriages, 3085 divorces and 34 annulments. In Linn county there were 231 marriages, 43 divorces and no annulments.

Yesterday morning, just in time for the event to be dated the 18th, a daughter arrived at C. G. Hamer's. We consider the 13th a lucky day, and the jinx may go to H-e-r-r-i-n, Ill., but it caught Grandpa Sickels under a promise to start a bank account for the young lady with $5 on her arrival.

Fred Burke of Brownsville died last Saturday, after a brief illness. Mr. Burke had done the major part of Brownsville's blacksmith work for a good number of years, and had done it well, and was as popular as a neighbor and citizen as he was for his workmanship. He was born in Nova Scotia July 8, 1870. He had lived in California and Washington, and for the last 18 years was an Oregon resident. He served four years in the Philippine war at horseshoeing. His widow, a daughter and a step-daughter survive. The two latter are Miss Marjorie Burke of Spokane and Mrs. Neva Blake of Brownsville. The funeral was in the Baptist church and burial in the Masonic cemetery.

Do you want to share in $2000 in prizes? Call at Clark's and name a brick. If you name the right brick and name it right you will get the prize.

Mr. and Mrs. William Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Ogden, from Lebanon, were callers at Bert S. Clark's Sunday afternoon.

At the Pine Grove community club meeting tomorrow evening the Corvallis chamber of commerce will present a program. Free to everybody.

The Parent-Teachers' meeting will be tomorrow evening, April 15, at the Powell schoolhouse. For means of getting there those who have no way of their own may apply beforehand to Mrs. Kizer. Everybody interested in school clubs is especially requested to be on hand to help plan for achievement day.

Slenderness is emphasized in this season's fashions, and one of the hens on the farm of E. Russ, this side of Brownsville, has followed the mode so far as to produce an egg 4 1/2 inches long and 1 1/2 in diameter at its largest end.

M. L. Forster of Tangent, watching one railroad train while he crossed the tracks Friday, was struck by another — the south-bound passenger which goes through here just after noon. His car was wrecked, his left hand broken and his head and body cut and bruised a good deal.

Our county fair is to have horse-racing as usual this year. The announcement that the sport would be cut out, so that the date of the fair could be made to conform with the climate, instead of with the state racing schedule, was premature.

This is clean-up and paint-up season. Hill & Co. are advertising paint for the occasion. Grant Taylor has new sidewalk. Koontz' hall has new front steps. Even the trees are putting on gala attire. Better clean up and paint up, so Halsey will look well to those who pass this way.

Present indications appear to warrant, for the 1927 harvest, a forecast of the largest per acre yield of winter wheat for the past several years in Oregon and the Pacific northwest, says F. L. Kent, statistician, United States department of agriculture.

Albany banks have adopted the rule put in effect a year or two ago by those of other cities of charging 50c a month for carrying accounts which show a balance for the depositor of less than $50 in favor of the depositor. In addition to this many banks charge 10 or 25c every time they cash a check from any distance or send money they, as agents, have collected. Do you realize what a convenience the Halsey State bank and its many items of cheerful free service is to you?

A good house greeted the deacon at Koontz' hall Friday night when he slipped, and enjoyed every minute of the evening, though there was complaint that the room became pretty cold before the end. The Van Nices and the Kirk district pupils drew much applause and laughter.

The Smart Shop, Albany, has been giving some great reductions on up-to-date wearables for women. When at the county seat call at 334 West First street and ask about them. And look at the store's advertisement in the Enterprise.

A. A. Tussing put in the first part of the week in court at Portland.

Proper Vocational Education the Birthright of Every American Child

By DR. JOHN T. TIGERT, Commissioner of Education.

Vocational education in America must develop an adaptable worker and not a automaton.

We must see to it that every child acquires to the limit of his ability, facility in the use of those tools which are fundamental to human social intercourse. Facility in the use of the fundamental tools of language and number are the chief means of occupational freedom. We are to help children to find themselves vocationally and to give them the means of climbing the occupational ladder as universally creative qualities are evidences and recognized by those who need workers.

This Six-Room Bungalow Adapts Self to Any Lot

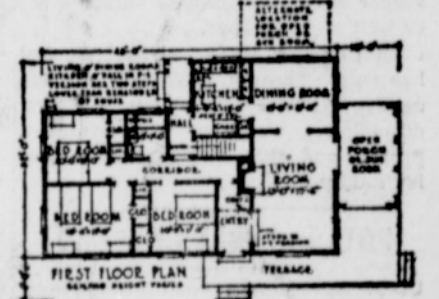

THERE is much to be said in favor of the one-story dwelling, and when the floor plan is as expertly arranged as in this Colonial bungalow the usual objections of lack of privacy and long distances to walk, are avoided.

This house may run either lengthwise or across the width of the lot. The exterior is of stained grey shingles with either a green shingled or tiled roof. The trimmings should be white and the shutters green to harmonize with the roof.

The three bedrooms are well shut off from the rest of the house. The large open porch or sunroom can be made to open off either the living or dining room. The kitchen has the desired built-in features, including the useful breakfast nook.

The cost of this house can be materially reduced by omitting the basement and allowing space on the main floor for a small boiler room. The walls and roof also are sheathed with celotex to keep the temperature at comfort point the year round.
