HALSEY GUN CLUB ENTERS OREGONIAN'S TELEGRAPHIC

Good Showing is Made by Members of Local Trap Club Sunday.

Interest in the Oregonian Telegraphic trap shooting contest, now being participated in by the gun clubs of the state, is growing keen and the local club is doing its utmost to make a good record.

It was with reluctance the Oregonian put on the contest this year as interest heretofore had not justified the time incurred in such an undertaking. This year the clubs are starting out with renewed life and prospects are bright for a more pleasing and exciting race.

Besides the three high men in last Sunday's event we mention C. P. Moody, Jess Cross and Tom Hover who broke 22 birds each; Wilbur Norton 21; James McWilliams and Frank Gansje each 20.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited By Wilma Wahl

The senior play given last Friday night grossed $86.90 and expense account $16.90.

Bluford Moss who fell out of a swing last week breaking his leg, is getting along nicely.

Bessie Reynolds and Frances Lceper who were elected delegates to the Oregon State College, made the following report:

We left for Corvallis last Friday morning by auto arriving there at 8:30 a. m. We first went to the registrar's office and then to the places assigned us during our stay.

At 1 p. m. the exposition officially opened at the men's gymnasium with a program of music and speeches. Dr. James C. DeVoss, of San Jose state teachers college gave us a very interesting address on "Value of expectancy." At 8:00 a conference was held for women in the women's building with Dr. Kate W. Jameson, dean of women, presiding. At the same time a conference for men was held in the men's building with Dr. U. G. Dubach, dean of men, presiding.

At 7:30 p. m. the demonstrations and exhibits were opened at all of the buildings and "A Night at an Inn" was put on by the college students at the Workshop Theatre, Administration building.

At 8:30 Saturday morning all delegates assembled in the men's gymnasium where another address was given by Dr. DeVoss who spoke on "The Story of Philosophy." At 10:00 separate conferences were again held for high school men and women.

From 1:30 to 4:30 we visited most of the buildings in which the educational exhibits and demonstrations were being carried on.

At 7:15 Saturday evening a basketball game was played in the men's gymnasium between U. of O. freshmen and college freshmen.

The high school delegates were guests of the college at parties in the men's gymnasium and the women's building from 9 to 11. This ended the fifth annual educational exposition of the college.

Shedd Cops Both the Basketball Games From Halsey

The boys basketball team met up with the team from the Shedd high school at the city hall here last night. The game resolved itself into a snug one right from the beginning and stayed that way right through the seance, and although the score stood against the locals when the whistle blew, they made it so uncomfortable for the visitors while it lasted that it was anyone's game all through with Koontz all set to shoot a basket when the referee called time. The score was 8 to 2 with Shedd the winner.

The girls' team seemed to be unusually wide awake last night in their game with the Shedd high school girls and kept the score so low it was necessary to use Roman notations to make it look like anything. This score was 2 to 0 with Shedd waving the two.

Mrs. Robins and son Elias and daughter Gertrude and Muriel Lake were Albany visitors last Saturday.

HALSEY AND VICINITY BREVITIES

W. C. Sickels and family visited at the Chancy Sickels home Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. John Willbanks spent several days last week in Albany where she was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McCornack and daughter, Ruth, of Eugene were the guests of their daughter and sister, Miss Gladys, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knapp and Staaley Knapp of Eugene spent Sunday in Halsey. While here they were guests at the William H. Wheeler home.

The members of the Parent-Teacher association will hold a cooked food sale in the library Saturday, February 25. The proceeds will go toward the building fund of the community hall.

On account of "Grumpy" the play which the dramat club of the Albany high school are putting on in Halsey on the evening of March 2, under the auspices of the Thursday Study club, the Pine Grove community club meeting has been postponed from that evening to a week later, March 9, as several Halsey people are to appear on the program at the latter place.

The Misses Mary and Maria Evans have returned to their home at Lake Creek from Portland where they spent a month during the illness of their sister, Mrs. M. E. Lackey. They were accompanied home by their foster sister, Mrs. Ella Oleman of The Dalles and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Evans and son Donald of Portland. The guests returned to Portland after spending two or three days at the Evans farm.

John Goins of Albany and A. Parker of Monmouth were pleasant callers at the Enterprise office Saturday afternoon while enroute to Eugene on a business trip. Both men are rural mail carriers out of their respective cities, Mr. Goins having been in the service since 1903, and Mr. Parker since 1902.

Leader of Ski Jumpers

The photograph shows Leonard Lehan of Montreal, Canada, who is leading the Canadian ski jumpers at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

The latter, however, has not carried mail continuously as he served as postmaster of Monmouth for nine years during this time.

W. C. Sickels made a business trip to Albany Tuesday morning.

Lester Bond of Albany spent Sunday in Halsey visiting friends and relatives.

Several rooms of the Methodist parsonage have been papered by the women of the church the past week.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lee, Mrs. Mary Biddgett and Mrs. Dorothy Miller of Albany drove to Halsey and visited at the D. S. McWilliams home.

Mrs. F. Buford Morris and son Bobbie are spending several days in Salem at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Elmer Lake. Mr. Morris took them down last evening.

Mrs. Bert Clark returned to her home in Halsey Wednesday from Lebanon where she spent a week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Curtis, who accompanied her to Halsey and spent the day here.

The city hall was filled Tuesday evening with movie fans, and it is safe to say that no one went away disappointed for "The Cohens and Kellys" was undoubtedly a good picture. Next Tuesday "Tarzan and the Golden Lion" will be filmed and in addition, through the courtesy of Mr. Morris, local manager of the Music Shop, music will also be bad.

Shedd Personals

(By an Enterprise Reporter)

Mrs. Scott Churchill and daughter were business visitors in Lebanon Wednesday afternoon.

A number of Shedd people attended the meeting of the Rebekah lodge at Halsey Wednesday evening.

Neil, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Farwell, is reported to be recovering from his recent illness.

Charles Thompson of Portland was a business visitor in Shedd Tuesday and Wednesday.

Orval, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Thompson, has been confined to his bed the past several days with a severe cold.

The Shedd schools were closed all day Wednesday in honor of George Washington's birthday.

The ladies aid are serving a hot dinner in the M. E. church basement Friday noon to which all are invited.

Mrs. Laura Thompson and two daughters, Sylvia and Eunice, were dinner guests at the home of Nellie Hanson Sunday. Alice Thompson spent the day with her friend, Elberta Gillette.

SOCIETY NEWS

From Our Regular Correspondents

Mrs. Harold Muller and Mrs. F. Buford Morris were hostesses to the members of the Thursday Study club at the beautiful country home of the former on last Thursday afternoon. At one o'clock an elaborate three course luncheon was served, the guests being seated at three tables. A doll dressed in old rose colored silk and with powdered hair of colonial days, formed the centerpiece for each table. On each side was a beautiful red taper in a clever rose shaped holder. From the centerpiece red ribbons extended to each plate terminating in an artistic valentine place card. Red canily hearts strwn over the tables added further to the St. Valentine spirit.

Following the luncheon the regular business meeting was held with Mrs. Addie Moody, president of the club presiding. The members decided to put on a comedy Friday evening, March 2, and a musical Friday evening March 23. The latter will be presented by William Garr, daughter and two sons of Albany who are masters on the Xylophone. Home talent will intersperse program. The proceeds will be used to pay the pledge for the new community building and for the library. The business session was followed by a program.

Mrs. Asa Eastburn and infant son of Albany and Mrs. Elmer Muxson were complimented guests. Club members present were Mesdames Laubner, Mooly, Patton, Drinkard, Bond, Rossman, W. A. Muller, Hamer, M. H. Cummings, Wells, Kendall and the hostesses.

Mrs. Curtis Vatch will be hostess to the club members next Thursday at the home Mrs. Morris.

PINE GROVE

Thursday afternoon of last week a number of the ladies of the Pine Grove neighborhood met at the home of Mrs. Floyd Nichols and organized a sewing club to be known as the Krowledeen club. Those present were Mesdames L. E. Eagy, W. D. McLaren, John McNeil, A. L. Knighten, Ray Hover, and George McNeil. Mrs. Nichols served a delicious lunch after which her guests departed for their homes to meet again February 29, with Mrs. Eagy.

LAKE CREEK

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brock extended the hospitality of their beautiful new home to the members of the Lake Creek and Bucey club, and their husbands, on Wednesday evening. Games and music made the hours pass quickly and at a late hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Forty guests were present for this pleasant evening.

SPOON RIVER

Upon her arrival home from church Sunday morning, Edna Falk was most pleasantly surprised to find a birthday dinner awaiting her and also a number of friends to help her celebrate. Those present for the dinner were C. L. Falk Jr. and W. A. Falk and their families. During the afternoon Ava Falk and Doris Howard were visitors.

The members of the Pollyanna cooking club and the Bachelor sewing club held their meeting at the schoolhouse Friday afternoon.

Plans had been made for the entertainment of Mrs. Nora Coleman, who is supervisor of the local clubs, and the members were very much disappointed when she was unable to be present.

During the social hour a lunch, consisting of sandwiches, cookies,

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY PLEASURES WITH CLEVER COMIC DRAMA

Work of Dramatic Coach Receives High Praise From Audience

"Ruth in a Rush," a comedy drama played by the senior class of the Halsey High School at the city hall Friday night, was greeted with a capacity house and deservedly, too, for it was well played.

Complimentary remarks were heard on every hand as to the ability of the players from impulsive Ruth to the serious and overzealous station agent and arm of the law by proxy.

The splendid work of Miss Gladys McCornack, dramatic instructor in her selection of players for the different characters and her coaching showed very prominently in every gesture and posture of actors and actresses. So well balanced was the cast it is unfair to single out any one character for special praise.

The stage setting for the first act was tasty and clever, the next two representing a depot waiting room and was anything but pleasing to the eye but, of course, who ever saw a waiting room that was, and one could not help but feel the clash of the stage properties with the charming actresses and beautiful gowns and the debonair and courtly actors who graced the boards during these two acts. But that was what helped to make the play realistic.

The Halsey orchestra entertained between acts with pleasing numbers that received the hearty applause of the audience and helped to make the evening's entertainment very enjoyable.

jello, whipped cream cake and cocoa was served by Doris Howard, Edna Falk, Ardella, Luella and Francis Kirk.

Mrs. J. N. Elliott was a charming hostess of Tuesday evening when she extended the hospitality of her home to the members of the LaFrance sewing club and a number of complimented friends. The time was spent in playing progressive Rook, with Esther Seefeld and John Miller being awarded the first prizes, while the consolation prizes went to Mamie Falk and Earl Elliott. Music was enjoyed during the game. Bringing the evening to a close the hostess, assisted by the club girls, served delicious refreshments.

Those enjoying this pleasant evening were Nellie, Pearl and Grace Falk, Esther Seefeld, Mamie Falk, Doris Howard, Ava and Edna Falk, Lloyd Spurling, John Miller, Willis and Henry Kirk, Charles D.
