Dr. E. L. Grubb, member of the research and clinic department of the George H. Lee company, Omaha, Nebraska, will hold one of these interesting and helpful poultry clinics at the city hall in Halsey, at 2:00 o'clock, April 4.

The object of the clinic is to assist farmers and poultry raisers in reducing the tremendous loss that occurs every year among poultry from such troubles as cholera, coccidiosis, roup, bronchitis (flu) worms, etc.

Poultry raisers who have sick, unthrifty or out-of-condition chickens are invited to bring in specimens for post mortem examination and receive free instructions on the cause, treatment and prevention of the trouble. Plenty of specimens are needed to make the demonstration highly instructive and educational; so do not fail to bring your specimens.

There will be no admission charge and nothing offered for sale at the Clinic. Every poultry raiser in this community should take advantage of this opportunity to become better posted on disease prevention.
