LOCAL MEN FIGURE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Thomas Palmer and C. E. Ardary Meet; Palmer Receives Painful Bruises About Head; Ardary Has Nose Bungled Up

Monday evening a bad wreck occurred on the old highway about two miles south of Halsey when a Star coupe belonging to Wayne Klein of Corvallis and driven by Tom Palmer son of Lyman Palmer of Lake Creek, and a Ford coupe driven by C. E. Ardary of Halsey collided at the cross roads near the E. D. Pierson home.

Young Palmer and Klein were going south on the old highway and Mr. and Mrs. Ardary were coming east after having spent the day at the home of their son, Tom Ardary of Lake Creek.

Palmer was knocked unconscious and was severely bruised. Mr. Ardary was cut across the nose and was also bruised. Mrs. Ardary has a badly wrenched back as a result of the accident. Klein seemed to be the least injured of any and escaped with a few scratches. Mr. Pierson brought the injured people to Halsey where they were given medical attention and later in the evening were taken to their homes. Both cars were badly wrecked.

Spray Now For Codling Moth

The third cover spray or the first spray for the second brood codling moth in the valley is due now, warns the experimental station. The second brood moths are now on the wing and eggs laid by them will hatch in 5 to 8 days.

Lead arsenate is the standard spray material. The powdered lead arsenate is used at the rate of 2 pounds to 100 gallons of water. Thorough application is essential if worm injury is to be prevented, says B. G. Thompson, assistant entomologist.

The Tiny Oyster

Oysters are so small when they are born that they cannot be seen without a microscope. After birth they allow themselves to be carried about by the water until they are a week or so old and then settle down in the bottom where they fasten themselves to rocks or logs. Oysters have been cultivated for at least 2,000 years. (© 1927. Western Newspaper Union.)

The hand is reported to be some better now but still very painful.

Forks Comparatively New

Forks were not even known to the English people until the Seventeenth century when they were brought there from Italy. It is believed our own ancestors who came over in the Mayflower never saw a small fork such as we use at the table. Even to this day the Egyptians and Persians eat with their fingers.

LEBANON HIGH SCHOOL GIRL WINS EDUCATIONAL TRIP

Miss Denna Gill Submits Best Essay In United States

Miss Donna Gill, of Lebanon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Gill has won an educational trip around the world as first prize for an essay in a contest sponsored by the "World Review" in cooperation with the International University Cruise, better known as "the University Adloa".

The prize which Miss Gill has won is valued at $2,500. The contest was open to senior high school students in all schools of the United States, with only a few restrictions as to age and character of the contestants. One scholarship was offered for boys and one for girls. The subject of the essay was "Why a Year on the University Adloa Should Be a Part of My Education." Miss Gill handled the subject in the form of a letter addressed to her "Dad" and did it so well that her essay took first prize from among probably thousands that were offered from high schools all over the United States.

The prize scholarship includes all expenses, passports, visas, tuition and trips ashore. The cruise will occupy eight months, which affords sufficient time for extensive and leisurely trips ashore.

Miss Gill will make the trip. While she had planned to enter the university this fall, she has decided that the course can wait a year, and she will have a background of inestimable value upon which to build her further education after returning from the world cruise.—Lebanon Express.

Honor Work at U. of O. To Be Rewarded; Donor Of $50 Prize Anonymous

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene.—Outstanding achievement in a chosen field is to be the basis of an award just announced by the Oregon Daily Emerald, which will be open to aspirants for honors under the new honors system recently instituted at the University of Oregon.

The award for which the honors students will compete is a library of books, valued at $50, to be chosen by the winner. These books will be distinguished by a specially designed book plate. It is expected that the award will be made annually.

A friend of the University, who prefers to remain anonymous, voluntarily offered the money for the award, to be made through the Emerald, the campus newspaper. Ray Nash, Milwaukee, editor of the paper, conferred with Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, Dr. George Reber, dean of the graduate school, and Dr. C. V. Boyer, head of the English department and chairman of the honors council, regarding the terms of the award. Dr. Boyer will name the committee which will select the winner of the books.
