What Becomes of Killers?

Every newspaper reader sees accounts of many murders, but few are able to follow the cases through to learn what really becomes of the killers, except in a few notable crimes. One of America's largest life insurance companies has studied the records covering 146 cases in which its policyholders were killed by other persons. Here is what it found out:

Of the 146 killers, 32 were found to have been justified in killing.

Of the remaining 114 killers, 45 were never indicted, as 22 committed suicide, 15 are still at large and 8 were turned loose for lack of evidence. Of the 69 who were indicted, 16 were acquitted, 11 were "no trial" cases, 1 was a mistrial, so that only 41 were found guilty.

Of the 41 found guilty, 35 are serving prison terms, 6 cases have been appealed, 3 have been granted new trials, 1 was paroled, 1 paid a fine—and 1 paid the death penalty.

In the light of the above facts—and they are facts—it is little wonder that the United States has seventeen times as many murders as England and six times as many as our neighbor, Canada, according to population.

A "used car" is unused transportation

A GOOD automobile is built to stand years of use. It will provide many thousands of miles of satisfactory transportation.

But only occasionally are all its years and all its mileage used up by one owner. Many owners turn their cars in after an average use of only two to three years—long before the cars' lives have been exhausted.

This custom brings into the market every year so-called "used" cars which represent outstanding opportunities to buy unused transportation at low cost.

Every year more and more people appreciate this fact. Today millions of families are driving cars of which they are the second or third or even fourth owners; and this year the volume of new car sales and trade-in transactions has created wider choices and greater values in unused transportation than ever before.

3 out of 5 buy used cars

THREE out of five of the cars you see on the road have been purchased as "used" cars. You cannot tell—nor do you ask yourself—whether the driver of any particular car is its first owner, or its second or its third, providing the car looks well and is running satisfactorily.

The cars which General Motors dealers have accepted in trade vary in name, body style and price. Some have seen sturdy service; in others the potential mileage has scarcely been touched. And all offer a wide field of opportunities—

To the family wanting transportation at lowest possible cost.

To the family wishing to own a car of a higher price class.

To the family needing a second or third car to meet the requirements of all its members.

We invite you to examine the unused transportation in the stores of General Motors dealers. For your convenience General Motors extends the GMAC Purchase Plan.
