FAYETTEVILLE

A number of people from this vicinity had the pleasure of attending the eighteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James H. McConnel last Friday at their beautiful country home near Corvallis. Those enjoying this pleasant event were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McConnel and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Kelly, Mrs. Emma Gregory and daughter Lyda, Mr. and Mrs. Claire McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Ayres and son Marshall Glen.

PINE GROVE

Mrs. George McNeil was a charming hostess of Wednesday afternoon when she entertained the members of the Krowledeen club. Potted plants and cut flowers were used for decorating. Sewing and conversation, interspersed with music, made the hours pass all too quickly and the serving of delicious refreshments by the hostess brought the pleasant afternoon to a close.

Those present were Mesdames A. L. Krighten, Will McLaren, Ray Hover, John McNeil, Russel Githens, and Floyd Nichols. Mrs. Ella Crewse was an honored guest.

For the first autumn meeting of the U Go I Go club Mrs. Lewis Abraham extended the hospitality of her home Wednesday afternoon. During the afternoon the Pollyanna names were drawn. Mrs. Buford Morris of Halsey is to become a member of the club at the next meeting. A musical program was enjoyed during the social hour which was followed by the hostess serving refreshments. Mrs. Kenneth Robson assisted the hostess in serving.

Those enjoying this pleasant afternoon were Mesdames Russel Githens, Harold Muller, Elmer Munson, Alex Snodgrass, Lewis Mason, Henry Bales, Kenneth Robson and the hostess.

LAKE CREEK

The Epworth League members and their friends met at the home of Mrs. Thomas Ardry Saturday evening for a "hard time" party and some of the costumes worn were in keeping with the name. Mrs. Ardry was awarded first prize among the ladies and C. V. Bess won first among the men.

Games and contests were part of the evening's entertainment while readings by Rev. Gibson and Jack Underwood were very much enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess at a late hour. About 45 enjoyed this pleasant affair.

Indian Chief, World War Hero, Urges Tribes to Vote for Hoover

Calls on Natives to Support Candidate and Running Mate on First Opportunity to Use Franchise.

Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance, author of the recently published book of Americana, "Long Lance," Chief of the Blood Band of Blackfeet; a graduate of the Carlisle Indian School and of the Manlius Military Academy, an athlete of note and a former presidential appointee to West Point, urges the Indians of the country to vote for Hoover and Curtis.

"By act of Congress in 1924 four hundred thousand Indians were given the right to vote for the first time in the history of the United States," he says. "Since this bill was passed too late to allow the Indians to ballot in the last Presidential election, the coming election will mark the first historic occasion on which they will be privileged to exercise their enfranchisement. The Indian tribes of the United States have $1,000,000,000—one billion dollars—lying in the treasury at Washington, D. C., much of which is tied up by litigation.

"Hence, of all the people of the United States, it is the American Indian who most needs a friend at Washington. While I am neither Republican nor Democrat—Catholic nor Protestant—I advise the Indians to think, and then vote for Senator Charles Curtis, because if he, born on the Kaw Indian Reservation of Kansas, is not a friend of the Indian, it is safe to assume that we have none. I think it is a coincidence that will become historic, that when the Indian finds himself voting for the first time he finds himself privileged to vote for the first reservation-born Indian to be nominated for Vice-President."

In 1916, before the United States entered the war, Chief Long Lance relinquished his West Point appointment to go overseas as a private in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, with which he served with distinction in France and Belgium, was twice wounded and decorated for valor, and returned at the end of the war as a Captain in the 50th Canadian Battalion. He is now widely known as a writer and an authority on the North American Indian.
