Rare Curios at Auction
For smothering widows after their husbands have died, a dense mask used by the relatives of Polynesian was one of a number of weird rarities recently sold at auction in London. Other odd things included a New Guinea "man catcher," a hideous mask worn by the members of a Melanesian secret society; a collection of human heads, some of which have been made into baskets; a South sea god and goddess which were found in a cave, and a primitive iron tooth extractor.

Without a Cover
Miss Tattle—I had a most romantic gift sent me. Just this plain open box with "Meet Your Counterpart" on it. What can it mean?
Miss Tattle—My dear, how in triguing. Did you say it won't shut up?—London Opinion.

Los Angeles Boy Needed Help

Leroy Young, 1118 Georgia St., Los Angeles, is a "regular fellow," active in sports, and at the top in his classes at school. To look at him now, you'd think he never had a day's sickness but his mother says: "When Leroy was just a little fellow, we found his stomach and bowels were weak. He kept suffering from constipation. Nothing he ate agreed with him. He was fretful, feverish and puny."

"When we started giving him California Fig Syrup his condition improved quickly. His constipation and biliousness stopped and he has had no more trouble of that kind. I have since used California Fig Syrup with him for colds and upset spells. He likes it because it tastes so good and I like it because it helps him so wonderfully!"

California Fig Syrup has been the trusted standby of mothers for over 50 years. Leading physicians recommend it. It is purely vegetable and works with Nature to regulate, tone and strengthen the stomach and bowels of children so they get full nourishment from their food and waste is eliminated in a normal way. Four million bottles used a year shows how mothers depend on it. Always look for the word "California" on the carton to be sure of getting the genuine.

The Impossible
Woman—Big, strong man like you begging. You ought to look around for work.
Tramp—Excuse me, lady, but I've got such a stiff neck I simply can't look around.

Pertinent Question
"She's always running somebody down." "Really? Motor or gossip?"

COULD NOT GET OUT OF BED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Strengthened Her

Elkhart, Ind.—"I had a tired feeling and was unable to get out of bed without the help of my husband. We heard of the Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I am still taking it and it sure is a help to me. I can do my work without resting before I am through. I know that if women will give the Vegetable Compound a trial they can overcome those tired and worn-out feelings. I cannot express the happiness I have received and how completely it has made over my home."—Mrs. D. H. Sizer, 1226 Laurel St., Elkhart, Indiana.

FARM POULTRY

CHICKEN THIEVES ARE REAL PIKERS

"Chicken thieves, which long have been the target for rather drastic action in Illinois, have been shown up as pikers by disease, a henhouse 'bandit' that too often plunders without even being noticed, much less caught, says H. H. Alp, poultry extension specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois Farmers in this state last year lost 3,000 chickens from disease for every 90 that they lost by chicken thieves," he said.

"The lesson in this for the farm flock owner is to see that the colony or brooder house and the young chickens are on clean ground that is kept clean," Alp says. "Last year a number of poultry men lost chickens from disease and parasites even after moving the house and chicks to clean ground. In most cases these losses were due to the ground within a radius of 10 to 15 feet of the house getting badly contaminated with droppings and filth. Good clean range will be of little value in preventing disease trouble as long as the ground adjoining the house is dirty."

"To prevent this, move the house a few feet every month, plow or spade the ground around the house, or what may be the simplest and best way, sweep the ground weekly with a good stiff broom and do away with the sweepings. Such a cleaning will help prevent both round worm and coccidiosis organisms from completing their life cycles."

"Like that around the colony house, the ground around the mash hopper and the drinking dish soon become contaminated with droppings. To overcome this, hoppers and drinking dishes may be placed on platforms with a one-quarter or one-half inch mesh wire top.
"House flies should be guarded against for they are an intermediate host for tapeworms. All filth and rubbish which breeds flies should be destroyed. Using rock phosphate and gypsum on chicken manure will check fly breeding."

Proper Feed for Flock During Winter Season

On the feeding of the flock depends to a large extent not only the general health of the birds, but also the economy which promotes success. It is a subject, however, which should be studied with a large amount of common sense, for there are no hard and fast rules which can be laid down as applying to every case. The price of feeds and the general environment should be considered in determining the right rations.

For the largest profit a good proportion of the eggs should be secured during the winter. If two extra eggs a week can be obtained from each hen a good profit will be made, while if the product is increased by only one egg a week in winter, this one egg will pay for all the feed the hen eats. To obtain this greater production not only should the fowls be young and of a good laying breed, but the feeder should have full knowledge of the proper feed and its preparation.

The nutriment in the feed of laying hens serves a two-fold purpose—to repair waste and furnish heat to the fowl.

Geese Thrive Best if They Are Given Range

Unlike other fowls, geese are by nature more like sheep or cattle, as they are grazing fowls and should have access to good pasture, and will thrive best on free range which they should have both winter and summer. Even when the ground is covered with snow, geese will find plenty of grass along a stream of water. Clover hay and corn stover are fine for them to pick at during the winter months, and if they have a good supply they will need but a very small amount of grain. In the summer, when they can get plenty of grass, they do not need a single kernel of grain and will thrive and keep in fine condition without it.

Poultry Business

Poultry is now the sixth agricultural commodity in value in the United States, amounting to $1,181,000,000 in poultry and eggs during the past year. Harry R. Lewis, of Rhode Island, president of the National Poultry council, called on General Lord, director of the budget bureau recently, in company with several members of the organization to ask for larger appropriations for the fiscal year 1930, to solve new problems arising in the poultry industry.

Storing Poultry

During some periods of the year large quantities of dressed birds of different kinds are put into storage. The heavy packing season is during the fall and winter months. The broiler season comes on during the late spring and summer months. The rapid changes which are taking place in the production of poultry makes the marketing more of a year-round business than was the case five or ten years ago. This reduces the number put into storage.
