CLARK'S Confectionery

Christmas Cans

CHRISTMAS what? Yes, cans, the best of gifts! Cans full of fruit cake, glacé fruits, fresh nuts and candies. Cans so beautifully lacquered and decorated with such alluring pictures and designs that the recipient of one of them is loath to throw it away long after its contents have been eaten. And why should she? Doesn't every woman need attractive receptacles for handkerchiefs, gloves, ribbons, cigarettes, manicure sets, trinkets, even jewels? She does, and she can have them simply by keeping these gala boxes in which many of her Christmas goodies came.

Take the gold and red box filled with rich Christmas fruit cake, the giving of which has become a custom at this time of year. On the cover is a picture of Christmas minstrels singing merry carols amidst the snowflakes in a little English hamlet of long ago. What better receptacle could there be to brighten her pantry shelves as a cookie container, or in which to put that dainty bit of sewing which she likes to keep on hand?

A Useful Hint

When she keeps one of these cans for the latter purpose, or for her handkerchiefs or gloves, she can make the inside as attractive as the outside by putting in a pretty lining. To do this she simply cuts satin or velvet linings in pieces which fit exactly the bottom, sides and top. Then she glues them in place with the best grade of glue, and behold, she has a handsome receptacle which will last her for the rest of her life.
