$100,000 PEACE PLAN PRIZE AWARDED

Advocates Entering World Court and Cooperation With League Without Full Membership at Present—Suggests League Membership Be Opened to All Nations and Provides for Development of International Law.

The American Peace Award brought forth 22,165 plans and many thousands of letters. Since many of the plans were the composite work of organizations, universities, etc., a single plan often represented the views of hundreds or thousands of individuals. The content of these plans is therefore an index of the true feeling and judgment of hundreds of thousands of American citizens.

These plans come from every group in American life. Some are obviously from lifelong students of history and international law. Some are from persons who have studied little, but who have themselves seen and felt the horror of war—or who are even now living out its tragedy.

But among them all are these dominant currents: that, if war is honestly to be prevented, there must be a face-about on the part of the nations in their attitude toward it; that by some progressive agreement the manufacture and purchase of the munitions of war must be limited or stopped; that while no political mechanism alone will insure cooperation among the nations, there must be some machinery of cooperation if the will to cooperate is to be made effective; that mutual counsel among the nations is the real hope for bringing about the disavowal of war by the open avowal of its real causes and open discussion of them; and finally that there must be some means of defining, recording, interpreting and developing the law of nations.

Statement of Jury of Award

The Jury of Award realizes that there is no one approach to world peace, and that it is necessary to recognize not merely political but also psychological and economic factors.

I. ENTER THE PERMANENT COURT

That the United States adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice for the reasons and under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

II. COOPERATE WITH THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS, WITHOUT FULL MEMBERSHIP AT PRESENT

That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States Government should extend its present cooperation with the League and propose participation in the work of its Assembly and Council under the following conditions and reservations:

Safeguarding of Monroe Doctrine

1. The United States accepts the League of Nations as an instrument of mutual consent, but it will assume no obligation to interfere with political questions of policy or internal administration of any foreign state.

In unifying its efforts with those of other States for the preservation of peace and the promotion of the common welfare, the United States insists upon the safeguarding of the Monroe Doctrine and does not abandon its traditional attitude concerning American independence of the Old World and does not consent to submit its long established policy concerning questions regarded by it as purely American to the recommendation or decision of other Powers.

No Military or Economic Force

2. That the only kind of compulsion which nations can freely engage to apply to each other in the name of Peace is that which arises from conference, from moral judgment, from full publicity, and from the power of public opinion.

The United States would assume no obligations under Article X in its present form, or under Article XVI in its present form in the Covenant, or in its amended form as now proposed, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

The United States proposes that Articles X and XVI be either dropped altogether or so amended and changed as to eliminate any suggestion of a general agreement to use coercion for obtaining conformity to the pledges of the Covenant.

No Obligations Under Versailles Treaty

3. That the United States will accept no responsibilities under the Treaty of Versailles unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

League Open to All Nations

4. The United States Government proposes that Article I of the Covenant be construed and applied, or, if necessary, re-drafted, so that admission to the League shall be assured to any self-governing State that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the Assembly.

Development of International Law

5. As a condition of its participation in the work and councils of the League, the United States asks that the Assembly and Council consent—or obtain authority—to begin collaboration for the revision and development of international law, employing for this purpose the aid of a commission of jurists. This Commission would be directed to formulate anew existing rules of the law of nations, to reconcile divergent opinions, to consider points hitherto inadequately provided for but vital to the maintenance of international justice, and in general to define the social rights and duties of States. The recommendations of the Commission would be presented from time to time, in proper form for consideration, to the Assembly as to a recommending if not a law-making body.

Author's Name Not to Be Revealed Until After Referendum

In order that the vote may be taken solely upon the merits of the plan, the Policy Committee, with the acquiescence of Mr. Bok, has decided not to disclose the authorship of the plan until after the referendum. The identity is unknown to the members of the Jury of Award and the Policy Committee, except one delegated member.

BEAVERTON SHOWS EXTRAORDINARY GROWTH

One of the things which goes to forcibly impress on one's mind the growth and development of this Town was shown when we realize the growth of money handled by the City officials.

It was but a few years ago, in 1916, to be exact, that the treasurer's report for this town showed there was on hand the large sum of $428,700. This was stated as showing a healthy growth over the preceding year.

This year the Treasurer's report which we are publishing on another page shows a balance on hand in the treasury on December 31, 1923 of $57,214.00. This shows that the balance in the treasurer's hands on the same date in seven years has grown, not three times, which would show a healthy growth, nor yet only fifty times which would be heralded by many as a phenomenal growth, but the growth has been one hundred and thirty three times. That is some growth.

True a part of this growth is due to the fact that we have recently issued bonds for the installation of Bull Run Water. This money has not been expended but soon will be.

Leaving out the balance on hand due to the sale of these bonds we find that in the different funds there is something like $8,088.00 in the various other funds as against $428,700 which will indicate that there is about twenty times as much money on hand and handled by the city as there was seven years ago. And yet neither the Southern Pacific in its bulletin, nor the Oregon Journal nor the Oregonian had the grace to even mention Beaverton when writing of the development of Oregon and especially the development in the immediate vicinity of Portland.

CLAY PRODUCTS PLANT IMPROVED

The Forest Grove Clay Products Company, one of the leading industries of Forest Grove, has made extensive improvements and additions to its plant this year. An oil burning plant to burn brick has been installed, and a large number of drying sheds have been built. This company employs a large force of men, and manufactures a superior line of brick and tile. During the past year it sold large quantities of brick to Portland contractors, besides doing a large volume of business in other parts of the state.

LETTERS

From Our Readers

Beaverton, Oregon, January 1, 1924. The Beaverton Review, Beaverton, Oregon.

Dear Sir: At the annual meeting of the Beaverton Chamber of Commerce you were requested by a unanimous decision to publish the President's Report.

I find that you have published a part but not all of it. In making mention of the Bull Run

Beaverton City Council Meets

New Officials Given Oath of Office Treasurer's Report Read and Other Business Attended to

The Beaverton City Council met in regular session. There were several new officers to be sworn in, among them Mayor Erickson. Recorder, Treasurer Thyng and Councilmen Rossi and Lucken. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meetings and the administration of the oath of office to the new City officials the Mayor appointed A. E. Story, Marshall; A. C. Allen, City Attorney; Floyd Allen, City Engineer; Dr. C. E. Mason, Health Officer. The committees were next named and are as follows, Woodruff and Feldman, Financial Committee; and the whole Council are to act as a Committee of the whole on streets and side walks, sewers and sanitation.

The treasurer, Mr. Thyng, then read his report which showed a balance on hand of $57,214.00. Several routine matters were taken up and disposed of satisfactorily with the exception of the water bill which was laid on the table for further action. The members of the council present thought that the amount of water billed for was much in excess of what it should be.

The matter of having the City books audited was brought up and it was decided to get estimates of what the cost would be and to have the books audited provided an auditor could be secured whose charges would not be exorbitant. Among the auditors under consideration is Max Grandall of Hillsboro and Portland.

Recorder Thyng gave a very interesting talk after the business of the evening was completed. One of the points he brought out and emphasized was the fact that Beaverton is getting out of swaddling clothes and that the city must realize that the old equipment is getting more and more inadequate for the transaction of the immense volume of business that has to be attended to at this time.

The Mayor gave a very interesting and instructive talk to the officials present in which he emphasized the necessity of working in harmony with each other and with the wishes of the community. We are reproducing the speech in full on another page.

The program this week at the Pacific Theatre Saturday and Sunday is Ethel Clayton in "The Remittance Women," also the eleventh round of "Fighting Blood."

Water the report says: "and we especially thank Mr. E. W. Woodruff, our worthy member, for the Major Part he took in the great accomplishment."

Why it was left out I don't know.

LOCAL MOVIE GOERS GIVEN A TREAT

Nearly everyone in Beaverton turned out to see "Driftwood" the latest production of the Premium Studio, and those who didn't see it denied themselves a treat. A large crowd from Hillsboro and also from Aloha, Huber and other surrounding towns came up to see Beaverton's own photoplay.

Al Ferguson was very convincing in the role of the deserted and disillusioned husband. The discontented wife, Yvonne Pavis, was excellently played while the 'other girl', played by Elaine Eastman, merits all the praise she is sure to receive. The other parts were all well played and that of Frank Whitson as the 'villain' and 'Tony' couldn't be beat.

The story was both interesting and exciting and the photography was far better than in most pictures and as good as any you will get a chance to see. The story was written by J. J. Fleming and photographed by 'Doc' Cook.

We predict a big future for "Driftwood" and its producers.

OLD-TIME BALL PLAYER IN TOWN

Warren W. Lee, better known as "Warnie Lee," former captain of the famous Beaverton Base Ball Team, that won the championship of Washington County three seasons in succession back in the halcyon days of the early nineties, was in Beaverton looking for old time friends. Mr. Lee's present home is at Roseburg. After twenty two years absence he notes a wonderful change in Beaverton. While here he strolled up by John Summers' place. That was the location of Warnie's old home. He was anxious to see C. W. Allen, John Wolf, Dave Gay, Ira Tucker, Frank Gray, Roy Eldridge, Hubert Klink, Bill King, Robert Hocken and others.

The Beaverton nine that beat 'em all in 1891, 1892, and 1893 was a powerful club. Lee was a star-twirler in those days and a terror with the willow-home run hits were his long suit. In the All-Star nine of Washington County, '92, that played the famous Sunnyside team of Portland at Forest Grove on the Fourth of July of that year, Lee's mighty home-run with the bases full won the game.

On his trip north Mr. Lee was accompanied by Miss Anna Laffer of Ganby, an old time acquaintance, who visited with relatives in Portland and Forest Grove.

Lee would like to hear from some of the old boys. Just address: Warren W. Lee, Box 163, Roseburg, Oregon.

In passing we might add that Beaverton had four base ball clubs in those days.

The first team had Warnie Lee for Captain; the second club had Roy Eldridge as pilot; the late William Squires was the Manager of the Married Men's Team, and Harry Davies was at the helm of the Boys' Nine.

Mr. H. R. Nelson has been busy cutting wood about town the past few days.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Interesting Little Notes from the Surrounding Country as Told by Our Active Special Correspondents Weekly

LOGAN RIDGE

School opened Monday after a two weeks vacation. One family of children were absent on account of being ill with the measles.

Before the holidays the school gave an entertainment which netted over $28.00 with which they purchased a fine set of maps.

The patrons of the district are much elated over being able to secure the same efficient teacher they had last term, Mrs. Esther Swygert of Russellville.

Recently the school directors of the Logan school got busy and provided a new woodshed and improved the school room by the addition of two windows and some new seats and painted the ceiling and walls.

The people of our vicinity have enjoyed our share of the pleasures and sorrows derived from the cold weather. The usual coasting, freezing, breaking of water pipes, freezing up of pumps, etc., so we hail with delight the good old Oregon Rain. Let her come instead of snow.

In our estimation there is a very enterprising farmer in this locality and we feel that he should receive the hearty cooperation of the other farmers around about. A short time ago Mr. E. S. Kromer, himself a farmer with a truck, commenced a daily milk route from Spring Water, Oregon to the Modern Dairy in Portland. He also hauls produce of any kind and delivers hay and feed to the farmers at a nominal price.

A birthday party was given in honor of Edward Meier's 21st birthday at his home Saturday night. An enjoyable time was spent playing games. A large crowd was present.

In the big pie eating contest at the Christmas entertainment Donald Jackson came out victorious and won the prize. He is now champion pie eater in this part of the woods.

Levi McKinley met with a painful accident Monday, while going over to the Hamel place. He stubbed his toe on a roof partly covered with snow, throwing him forward onto the frozen ground, cutting his lip badly and knocking out three teeth. It was necessary for the doctor to take several stitches in his lip. Having his hands in his pockets at the time, he was unable to protect himself in the fall.
