Meeting of Council Held Monday Eve

Improvement Bids Opened; Contract Let to Halas Company of Portland; Bills Passed on

The Town Council met at the Town hall Monday evening, their regular monthly meeting being held on the evening of the first Monday in each month. Considerable time was taken up in auditing and passing on the monthly bills, several of which were of an unusual character such as that of setting the meter boxes, putting in the new water main along Erickson ave., and getting donated up with the outlying districts that are going to purchase water from Beaverton.

The bids on the improvement of Washington, a part of Lombard and some other streets were opened and the contract let to the Halas Engineering and Construction Co. of Portland. Mr. Halas of the Company was present and under his direction his foreman stated that they had done no street work in this immediate vicinity but that they had been in the business for several years and that they had reformed approximately half a million dollars of work in King County in Washington.

There was a petition signed by several residents of the Town complaining of the dogs that were trespassing on their property and doing considerable damage. This petition, coming under the state law for licensing dogs, was referred to the constable for this district.

A petition was presented asking for the street improvement of the east end of Sixth Street but as this is a short street and is only twenty feet wide, the petition was tabled to await such a time as there could some other improvement work come up and be acted on at the same time.

QUITTERS NOT WANTED

Looking through the "Help Wanted" advertisements in a farm paper the other day, it was interesting to see how many of these farmers advertised "No quitters wanted." Judging by the number who mentioned their aversion to quitters, people of that kind must be numerous. There is an increasing number of people who are frightened by hard work. They may think they would like farm life, but when they are asked to put in a real day's work of muscular effort, they get tired. After a few days they feel all in. A lazy man quits at that, and some men may be afraid they will do themselves physical injury.

But if an able bodied man will keep on, even if he does get tired, he will find that his strength grows day by day. His experience will be a benefit to him.

NEW DIRECTOR AND COACH NAMED AT STATE COLLEGE

Not only a new football coach but a new director of physical education for men have been named at O. A. C. to succeed R. B. Rutherford. The new coach is Paul J. Schissler, of Lombard College, Galesburg, Ill., and the new director is W. A. Kearns, director of recreation extension at Oakland, Cal.

Schissler comes to the college on a three year contract at $5500 the first year and $6000 thereafter, to be paid by student fees and gate receipts with an alumni contribution. He is on a twelve month basis and will not only coach varsity football but assist in other sports and intramural athletics. He has studied coaching under Knute Rockne and uses a modified Notre Dame system of play. Lombard has cleaned up on all contenders in the three years under Schissler but the mighty Notre Dame itself and Detroit University. It scored 800 points against 49 for all its opponents in 24 games during the period.

"Bud" Kearns will have supervision of all work in physical education including intercollegiate athletics as well as intramural sports and gymnasium courses. He enjoys a wide reputation for ability and integrity and has the best of standing as an official in sports and games. He officiated in the O. A. C. California game the last year of Joe Pipal's connection with the college.

The new director has been in close touch with the California and Stanford systems of intercollegiate athletics for several years and understands them thoroughly. He was closely associated with the very latest in physical education, training and sports as a member of the executive committee of the physical directors' society of the Y. M. C. A. of North America.

CAMPAIGN CHAIRMANSHIP IN COUNTY ACCEPTED

Rev. Lon Bryan Fishback of Hillsboro has accepted the chairmanship of the University of Oregon gift campaign in Washington county. Under his leadership the alumni of this district will do their share towards raising a fund of one million dollars which is to be the alumni contribution to the $5,000,000 five year building program required for the University.

Alumni throughout the country are rallying to the support of the University in the gift campaign, which has been made necessary by the largely increasing numbers of students at the University. The enrollment has grown 100 per cent within the last ten years, and it is expected that within the next five years the number now on the campus will have doubled. Properly to care for the students enrolled in the university at present, and to give them an education the equal of that provided in any university, requires practically all the University from the millage, leaving but a small margin for buildings. Every nook and cranny of the University is already crowded to the limit. New buildings are needed at once, and the University must begin to make provisions for more students. The State is providing generously for general maintenance and cannot be asked to increase its appropriation at this time. So the University, like other state universities, has embarked on a gift campaign to secure the needed buildings from those who are interested in education in the State of Oregon.

The buildings most urgently needed are library and memorial court, liberal arts building, auditorium, fine arts building, science building, gymnasium, infirmary, student union, armory, journalism building, law building, chemistry building, men's dormitory, women's dormitory, and in the city of Portland, a medical school building, hospital, and a building for the Extension Center.

Of these the alumni have set out to provide the Library, the Gymnasium and Athletic Fields and the Memorial Court in memory of the 47 University men who died during the world war.

Woman Killed By Auto Stage

Mrs. M. E. Emerick of Hillsboro Was Struck Down and Killed by Stage on Highway

When Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Emerick, who had been visiting the grave of her husband in the cemetery one-half mile west of Hillsboro, was struck down by a westbound Portland-Hillsboro and McMinnville Stage last Sunday afternoon, she was killed instantly. Mrs. Emerick was forty-nine years of age.

Mrs. Stephen Hensley, mother of Mrs. Emerick, who accompanied her to the cemetery, was nearly struck when a speeding auto passed them as they came out of the cemetery. Mrs. Emerick was watching the narrow escape of her mother and did not notice the approaching bus, which was coming in the opposite direction. The stage, which was driven by "Slim" Wise of Portland, stopped quickly before it ran over Mrs. Emerick. Mrs. Emerick had been a resident of Hillsboro for eighteen years. She is survived by her mother and two brothers, J. H. Hensley of Hillsboro and Carl Hensley of Klamath Falls.

FORD COMPANY

MAKES PICTURE

"The Road to Happiness," a motion picture designed to promote interest in better highways has just been completed at the Ford Motion Picture Laboratory. It was produced by the Ford Motion Picture Laboratory in conjunction with the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Highway Educational Board and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and carries their endorsement.

President Coolidge personally appeared in one of the scenes, and has expressed his approval of the picture. He is shown presenting a scholarship certificate to Bob Preston, the farm boy hero of the story, who is the winner of a prize essay contest on better roads. The scene was taken on the White House grounds and with the President others appearing in it including members of the Highway Educational Board of which Roy D. Chapin is chairman.

Principal settings of the film were taken around Fairfax, Va., fifteen miles out of Washington and the chief characters were portrayed by people residing in that vicinity.

Copies of the film are being sent to branches of the Ford Motor Company in the United States and the picture will be shown generally. Highway Commissioners, county engineers, road officials, schools and all interested in the promotion of improved highways may obtain use of the film free of charge.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Gauger, who recently returned from the Dalles, a baby girl.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION IS SUBJECT OF REPORT

A progress report on the economic study of livestock in Oregon, conducted by the extension and experiment station specialists of O. A. C., has been prepared by H. A. Lindgren of the extension service for the western states' extension conference to be held at Tucson, Ariz., next fall.

The report is based on a survey conducted by the college men on the cost of range cattle production in the state. The survey covered 10 counties and considered 50,000 head of cattle. The results have been widely published in Oregon through the press, and are considered the most reliable information available. Publication has extended beyond the state, and the facts have been used by rangers and supervisors of national forests in various district meetings.

Oregon range cattlemen have given support to the project, which will be extended to include entire ranch surveys as well as the cost of running cattle. More definite material in regard to production costs is expected from the enlarged project.

Other subjects reported by Mr. Lindgren for the conference committee are range management, wool improvement, and livestock feeding. These projects as well as production costs are in harmony with the range livestock program worked out by the section extension conference at Ft. Collins, Colo., last November.

Small Child

Scalded to Death

Robert Springer, Two and a Half Years of Age, Dies from Hot Water Burns and Shock

Robert Springer, the little 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Springer was so badly burned Saturday evening when he sat down in a pan of scalding water that he died shortly afterward, from the burns and the shock sustained.

The mother was at the Washington County hospital was sick in bed when the accident happened. The Springer family home is on the Fairweather place about a mile southwest of town.

Mr. Springer has been employed in a wood camp but had been obliged to quit work on account of ill-health.

The little fellow's funeral was held Tuesday at Hillsboro.

Mr. Springer had but recently come to this vicinity and only a few people hereabouts knew the family.

The mother had been taken to the County Hospital at Hillsboro and the father was staying at the home here. Neighbors say that while the people are poor they are not in immediate need of the actual necessities of life as we were led to believe by the reports in the Portland papers.

The father has now secured work in Hillsboro and is living there. It is expected that the mother will be able to leave the hospital in a short time.

DIRTY DOLLARS,

POLITICAL GRAFT

The ideals of this great American independence, the principles of which were established by fine men or moral fibre, strong and firm with honesty, who laid the foundation, making all other countries' pallid.

Graft has always been since the era of history of the world. In the late war honestly depreciated and lowered the sense of many and became more rampant, amazing sums being involved.

At the coming November elections partisan mud will be flung, capitalizing graft and its associates. The present investigations of corrupt officials will awaken the public mind and demand the cleansing of the nation, state and municipal offices that have been besmirched by men, traitors to the cause of this great Democracy. So I say dirty dollars.

A public office is a public trust. These officials at Washington D. C. or elsewhere I trust will meet their doom and defeat. The stench left behind must be endured and we must restore the confidence and ideal of this government reestablished.

The action of these corrupt men with ability, education and trust whose constituents elected or appointed have destroyed our faith in their character. It is a sad betrayal and perhaps I am a little strong in language.

Mediocre and weak characters often are sentenced for petty crimes and offences and the higher ups, wise in the intricacies of keeping within the law, possessing cash and affluence escape its mesh. Their acts should be punished, being the more despicable.

Too much politics, and too much "To the victor belong the spoils" and dirty dollars.

—By Fred Koshland.

THE COUNTRY CHURCH

Some Sunday School worker recently reported that it has been estimated, that only one fifth of the rural population attends church. The source of the statement was not given but it seems incredible for there are many neighborhoods where the churches are well attended. But also there are many where the churches are very poorly supported.

In these times when the majority of farmers have automobiles, it should be easier for the country families to go to church than ever before. But church services must be made attractive. The people in the centers of population must give financial aid to many struggling societies, so that they can afford to hire ministers who are adequate for their great task.
