LETTERS

From Our Readers

Beaverton, Oregon, August 16, 1924. To The Editor, Beaverton Review, Beaverton, Oregon. Dear Sir: In your last issue you published an editorial under the caption, "Why do not peddlers need a license?"

With your permission I would like to express my views on part of this article through your columns. You call attention to the fact that the night watchman and marshal is paid by contributions of the business men instead of from city funds, which is true, but as I see it in most towns he would be classed as special officer employed by the business men, but the council not having the funds to pay the salary and not feeling the need of a marshal exclusively appointed him marshal so that he might have authority in an emergency that he would not have as a special officer. Marshal and night watchman cannot be made a one man job successfully.

I was hired by the business men to be on duty from 11 P. M. to 5 A. M., which I have done at all times. For this I receive $2.00 per night, which necessitates my doing what odd jobs I can in my spare time to make a living wage. I have never objected to doing anything the council required when it did not interfere with my duty to the men who pay my salary.

The statement that there are a small number of business men who claim the attention of the marshal continually is absolutely wrong, probably thru a misunderstanding of the facts. It seems that they might feel entitled to more attention as they pay for the majority of the salary, but the fact is that they all get the same attention during my hours on duty. What I do for anyone outside of those hours is paid for at a price agreed on between them and myself and it seems to me it should concern no one else.

Now one more item and I will close. Suppose that the city should employ a marshal and assign him the same hours that I have, he would be subject to call from any part of the city to quiet some disturbance and during his absence some store could be broken into and several hundred dollars worth of goods stolen, or a fire break out and destroy a large amount of property because he was not at hand to give the alarm. I believe the editor would be as quick as the next one to charge inefficiency.

As I said before it does not seem to be a one man job. Respectfully, A. E. Story, Night Watchman.

(Remarks. We are more than pleased to give space to the above communication. It is very well written and while on some points it disagrees with our views, on the whole we think it is commendable to our readers' consideration.

However, the whole article seems to bear out our suggestion that peddlers and agents especially should be licensed, in order to provide the funds which should go to pay the marshal and night watchman. Whether those two offices were held by one man or two does not alter the fact that the city is not now providing itself with adequate funds to pay these people.

We do not wish anyone to think that we are criticizing Mr. Story because we believe he is doing his work as well as it could be done, but we do believe that the people of Beaverton welcome suggestions for better conditions generally, and among those conditions the working of the city government.

—Editor.

A picnic was held last week at Rippling Waters, with the following in attendance, Mrs. Otto Erickson, Mrs. Geo. Blaser, Mrs. H. L. Hudson and children Mrs. J. C. Huntley and daughter, Mrs. H. Nelson and daughter, Erma, Mrs. Elmer Stipe, Mrs. W. H. Boyd, Mrs. L. D. Shellenberger and children, Mrs. W. O. Roberts, Little Mildred Melcher, and I. H. Neilson's children. Everyone reported an enjoyable time, with eating, bathing, and pitching horseshoes as the features of the day.

GOING UP!

"Going up!" That's what the elevator man says. That's what the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition might have chosen for its slogan.

Ever since it was founded, it has been going up. Going up in numbers and excellence of exhibits, going up in attendance, going up in importance. This year its building went up in smoke.

But that didn't stop it or daunt it. A new building is going up. This new building is to follow in general the plan of the old one, but it is going up bigger and better than ever.

The arena is to be larger than the old one and in better proportions. The seating capacity will be increased to 7000 and the arrangements of boxes and seats will be improved. The horse department will be larger and better equipped. The boys' and girls' clubs are to have a department all their own. The poultry show will be larger than the old one. Other minor but important improvements have been made in the plans.

The type for the premium list is going up now, and by September 1 or thereabouts it will be in the mails. It will show some changes but more premium money placed temptingly before the exhibitors.

The ashes were not cold before General Manager O. M. Plummer was talking with the President, E. A. Stuart, over the long distance telephone, making arrangements for the new structure. A day had not gone by before a man was figuring on the lumber for the new building. Before the week was gone work was begun on salvaging and clearing the ground. Today the financial arrangements are completed for the start and the new great building, "bigger and better than ever" is "going up." Construction has been started.

The contractors have agreed to turn it over, complete, by October 25. On November 1, at 9 o'clock A. M., the big new doors will swing open to the public.

It is gratifying to the men and women, yes, and children, who have a proprietary interest in the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition to know of the enthusiastic and determined and practically unanimous support this great exposition is receiving from the banks, merchants, hotels, business houses of every kind, the press, and the pulpit. The fire has made us realize, perhaps as never before, how vital this Exposition is and how necessary its continued life is to the entire Pacific Slope.

Last year the Exposition had over 1000 entries of livestock. It offered over $90,000 in premium money. It had an attendance of 125,000 people. This year it expects to increase its entries, its premiums and its attendance. A bigger and better plant will be ready for the opening day. More and better livestock of every kind will be there. Better accommodations for the guests have been arranged and more people will visit this fourteenth annual event.

BABY SHOWER

GIVEN RECENTLY

A baby shower was given at the home of Mrs. Jessie Tefft recently, for Mrs. K. Emmons and her newly adopted son, who is three weeks old. Many useful and valuable presents were received for the baby.

This is the second orphan child to whom Mrs. Emmons has given a home and a mother's love.

Those present were Mrs. K. Emmons and her two sons, Mrs. Rossi, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. M. S. Barnes, Mrs. E. F. Griffin, Mrs. Hugeson, Mrs. Tefft, Mrs. K. Emmons' mother and sister, Mrs. Dean, Mrs. B. K. Denney, Mrs. Haines, and several others.

After being served with coffee and cake by the hostess, everyone went home, feeling a warm spot in her heart for the mother and her adopted babies and hoping that more childless homes will follow her example.

THE CAST OF

"A TOUGH WINTER"

The Coldest Man in the World is "Snub" Pollard. "Frosty" is Marie Moschini. Her Frozen Brother is Joe Cobb. I. Sickle is James Finlayson.

Benefit Planned For New Commons

Entertainment to be Given at Pacific City Beach August 30-September 1, to Aid Work.

A benefit celebration will be given August 30, 31, and September 1, Labor Day, at Pacific City beach by the Pacific Coast Rescue and Protective Society, the proceeds to go to a fund for the building and equipping of the new Portland Commons, where destitute men, women and children, are helped on the way back to a life of usefulness. The rescue and protective society is composed of the Albertina Kerr Nursery Home, the Louise Home, the Pacific Protective League, the Oregon Prisoners' Aid Society and the Portland Commons.

The razing of the Burnside bridge has made necessary the finding of new quarters for the commons as the organization's site for the last twenty years is to be invaded.

It is proposed to provide an entertainment that will not only be of interest to those attending but will also have a few thrills. Ezra Meeker, of Oregon Trail fame, will fly from Seattle to Pacific City by airplane for the three-day event. His famous oxen also will be shipped to Pacific City. Senator Hiram Johnson of California has been asked to speak on Labor Day and if it is impossible for him to be present, it is proposed to get Senators Borah of Idaho or Walsh of Montana.

General White, commander of the Oregon National Guard, has expressed his willingness to cooperate to make the celebration a success and will ask the guard to stage a sham battle on one of the three days. On the opening night a mammoth fireworks exhibition has been arranged. Large set pieces in many colors of the American flag, Uncle Sam, President Coolidge, Oregon State Seal, General Dawes, John W. Davis, Governor Bryan, Senator La Follette, Senator Wheeler, Governor Pierce, Mayor Baker, Milton A. Miller, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator; United States Senator McNary, Maurice E. Crumpacker, Republican nominee for Congress, and Congressman Watkins will be shown.

Casting prizes for fishermen will be given for an exhibition on the Nestucca River, which flows into the Pacific Ocean at this point. Log rolling, canoe tilting exhibitions will be seen and prizes of every kind will be given for almost every competitive sport imaginable.

NOTICE

All interested in reorganizing a Christian Church in Beaverton are invited to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Adams on Monday afternoon, August 25, at 2 o'clock P. M.

"UNDER THE RED ROBE" ROMANTIC AND BEAUTIFUL

Here at last is a picture that opens up a fabulous world of romance and glamour—"Under the Red Robe," which has been booked by the Pacific Theatre for Saturday and Sunday. It renews the rich promise of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," and again shows how much better these things are on the screen than on the stage.

The action centers around Cardinal Richelieu, but is developed in a wealth of incident and detail that would stagger the luxurious imagination of Bulwer-Lytton. Even Robert Mantell falls under this magic and gives to the screen a deeper and more human Richelieu than he ever gave to the stage. It takes a tremendous degree of power to dominate the vast scenes as he does, where thousands of men and women in gorgeous raiment are gathered together. But it takes even greater power to show the great tragedy and loneliness of the Cardinal, stripped of his power and wandering forlornly thru the empty halls of his great palace. Mr. Mantell is to be congratulated on holding high the banners of his art and not letting them be trampled down by the sheer magnificence of the spectacle.

All the joyous beauty of Spring and Summer are in the scintillant leaves and glowing flowers that are the background of the action. Even the sunshine takes on a dramatic quality in the handling of these outdoor scenes. All this is but sort of an accompaniment to the love of Gil de Berauld and Renee de Cocheuret. John Charles Thomas as Gil de Berauld satisfies the most exacting demands for the ideal hero and lover. Alma Rubens, as Renee, has fine opportunities to exercise her undoubted gift for emotional acting. Sydney Herbert, William H. Powell, Ian MacLaren, Rose Coghlan, Otto Kruger and Gustav von Seyffertitz do some splendid acting.

Jewels, velvets and satins, chateaux, palaces and hovels, love plotting and victories create an illusion of other times and satisfy the incurable craving for romance that every theatre-goer has. It is a picture that can become a classic because it fills a real human need—the need for glamour.

PARLIAMENTARY CLUB MEETING HELD

The Ladies of the Parliamentary Study Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Dan Adams. A very enjoyable evening was spent. After the business meeting the time was spent in playing games and in having a general good time. Dainty refreshments were served to the guests, who left at a late hour.

When bees persist in their attempts to swarm and moderate increase in not undesirable, artificial swarming may be resorted to. This is especially advisable when preparation for swarming has gone too far to be prevented. The methods for artificial swarming are explained in the O. A. C. Extension service bulletin, "Beekeeping in Oregon," by H. A. Scullen.

Film Made in Beaverton Shown

Preshowing of "The Trail of Vengeance" Shown to Packed House Tuesday and Wednesday.

Everyone who was connected with the production of "The Trail of Vengeance" deserves commendation for the production of a big six-reel feature. The scene of "The Trail of Vengeance," which is the title of the film, is laid in the Canadian Northwest on the borderline between civilization and lawlessness.

This is a "different" western story. It has nothing to do with cowboys and cattle thieves nor horse wranglers but takes one to the wilderness of the great Canadian forests through which smugglers are carrying contraband.

The picture shows two of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police in their fight with smugglers who are in every sense bad men. There is a mining story interwoven with the story of the police.

The spectators got a thrill when the star, played by Al Ferguson, kneels at the grave of his murdered comrade and boyhood friend and swears to "get" the fellow who killed his partner. Again when the Mounted Police Sergeant believes that the man he is after for murdering his partner is the father of the girl he has learned to love and true to his vow he gave up the girl in order that he might keep faith with his dead friend.

Beaverton should be proud that a picture of this kind can be produced here. In this picture are many faces of Beaverton people. The exchange who will have the sale of this feature has offices located in all the principal cities of the United States.

NOTICE

A Tuberculosis Tester will be furnished free for all cattle including the calves from the boys' and girls' clubs, which are brought to the Banks Hog and Dairy Show this fall. Everyone desiring this privilege should notify S. C. Inkley, at Banks, as soon as possible.

CAPITOL HILL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Molin and family are on a several weeks' visit to the beaches.

Mr. and Mrs. McGuire have moved into the Ecklof house, which they have purchased.

Mildred and Joseph Kyser are being congratulated by their friends upon their winning of prizes at the county fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Paul are receiving congratulation upon the arrival of a ten-pound boy, born Wednesday morning.

It has been decided to pave Hickey street from the Spring Garden road to Depot street, thus opening up several blocks of fine residences.

Through some mistake the schoolhouse was not opened for the meeting of the Capitol Hill Improvement Club, so the meeting was held on the lawn and steps. The club has received notice that their contract for street lights expires this month, and the same committee was reappointed to canvass the district for funds. It was voted to charge $1 per family, allowing that amount to include inflation dues to the club for new members. All surplus funds will be used for extra lights.

MAPLEWOOD MUSINGS

Mrs. Marion Moffet is expected home soon after a several weeks' visit in Canada.

Miss Wanda Jones is on the road to recovery after her recent operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashwell and daughter Elizabeth are spending their vacation at the beach.

Evangelistic meetings have been held here the past week. They were greatly appreciated by the people of Maplewood.

Mrs. V. Day and children, Clark and Georgia, accompanied by Miss Edna Linthicum, spent two weeks at the Pacific City Beach.

The Maplewood Sunday school picnic was held in the grove last week. The picnic lunch was served at noon, and the afternoon was devoted to games and races.

OBITUARY

Martin Gleeson, a former resident of this vicinity, died in Bend, Oregon, Monday, August 18, as the result of an accident at a sawmill where he was working. Mr. Gleeson was hurt about three weeks ago and for a time it was thought that he would recover but probably his age was against him. He was sixty five years of age.

The Gleeson family came to Oregon six years ago from Mitchell, South Dakota. He lived in Portland and Beaverton before going to Bend.

He is survived by two daughters, Marguerite and Florence, a son, Fred K. Gleeson, and four sisters and four brothers. One sister, Margaret K. Gleeson is a teacher in the Portland city schools.

Mr. Gleeson was a widower, his wife having died seven years ago.

MARION COUNTY

FARMERS COMING

A group of Marion County farmers have planned to visit the alfalfa plantings on the Sherman Hyre and other farms on August 27th at 1:30 P. M. Several Washington County farmers have expressed regret that they could not come to the last alfalfa field meeting on account of harvesting operations. August 27th at 1:30 P. M. will serve as a second field day for those who might wish to attend.

Mr. Lud Bell of Yamhill is arranging for an inspection tour by people near Yamhill and says that there is much interest in alfalfa at that place. Fred Schaler of Mountaineer has alfalfa planted this year which is doing fine considering the dry season. J. J. Van Kleek reports that alfalfa planted on his farm at Kinton is doing all that could be expected.

KLAMATH FALLS EVENTS

WILL ATTRACT MANY

People from all parts of Oregon and neighboring states are expected to attend the Oregon Irrigation Congress and Klamath Products Show to be held in Klamath Falls September 6 to 9, according to A. M. Collier, chairman of the committee in charge of the two events.

The Irrigation Congress is considered one of the most important agricultural meetings in Oregon and representatives of the U. S. Reclamation Service; irrigation associations; farm bureaus and civic, commercial and industrial organizations of this state and northern Calif. will be present at the four day session.

Elaborate plans have been worked out for the housing and entertainment of delegates and visitors. A street carnival and races, fireworks, dancing, and band concerts will be features of the entertainment.

It is also proposed to hold the Klamath County Fair during the same week and plans announced by the fair officials state that agricultural exhibits, livestock exhibits, displays of fancy cooking and sewing, an automobile and implement show and a display of lumber products will mark the fair.

I sit in the twilight, Forsaken by women and men, And murmur over and over, "I'll never eat onions again."
