ROUND-UP WILL BE BIGGER THAN EVER

With arrangements completed for four relay strings at the Pendleton Round-Up, to be presented for the fifteenth consecutive year, September 18, 19 and 20, the great show gives every promise of eclipsing that of all other years.

The fleet race horses owned by George Drumheller, Eddie McCarty, Harry Walters and G. B. Irwin, respectively, will compete in those stellar events, the relay races, which play an important part in the Round-Up programs. Each owner brings with him competent riders for both the cowboys' and cowgirls' relay, and this year they promise an array of talent that is internationally known.

With the approach of the Round-Up, work has begun on the trophies which are coveted by all the cowboys. They are the prize saddles, of handsome leather with silver trappings, which will go to the winner of the northwest bucking champion and of the world's championship bucking. In addition, there is the $2,500 Roosevelt trophy of silver and bronze to be awarded the all-around cowboy at the Pendleton and Cheyenne shows. This trophy was won last year by Yakima Canutt, who must win it twice again before he can retain possession permanently.

To the all-around cowboy at the Pendleton show goes the famous Police Gazette belt with its gold engraved buckle. This trophy has been awarded each year since 1912, when the first award was made.

Besides the saddles and other trophies, there are cash and merchandise prizes for every event.

FARM REMINDERS

Anyone wishing to buy or sell a pig at weaning time and lacking information on which to base the price may safely put it at nearly one-third of the market value of a 200 lb. pig. This relation of the cost of a weanling to cost of market animal in Oregon was arrived at through many surveys and studies by the experiment station animal husbandry department. The actual cost of producing the pig depends mainly on the size of the litter, but 30 per cent of the value of the 200 pound pig has been found to be a fair valuation of the weanling.

conditions on clean soil in western Oregon are just about free from disease and generally quite vigorous. The open air range house for the rapidly growing chicks is recommended by the experiment station providing as it does an abundance of fresh air, and being readily removed to fresh areas, thus avoiding contaminated soil, one of the poultrymen's worst foes.
