IF I HAD KNOWN

Recently a well-known man spoke at a men's meeting in Cleveland on the subject "The Things I Wish I Had Known Before I Was Twenty-One." He gave answers to a questionnaire sent in by twenty-two men. Here they are. Every word is worth reading:

- 1. What I was going to do for a living--what my lifework would be.
- 2. That my health after thirty depended in a large degree on what I put in my stomach before I was twenty-one.
- 3. How to take care of money.
- 4. The commercial asset of being neatly and sensibly attired.
- 5. That a man's habits are mighty hard to change after he is twenty-one.
- 6. That a harvest depends upon the seeds sown; wheat produces wheat; thistles will bring forth thistle; ragweeds spoil good pasture; and wild oats sown will surely produce all kinds of misery and unhappiness.
- 7. That things worth while require time, patience and work.
- 8. That you can't get something for nothing.
- 9. That the world would give me just about what I deserved.
- 10. That by the sweat of my brow I would earn my bread.
- 11. That a thorough education not only pays better wages than hard labor, but that it brings the best of everything else--namely, more enjoyable work, better food, more of the wholesome luxuries and pleasures of life, better folks to live and deal with, and, best of all, the genuine satisfaction that you are somebody worthy of respect confidence and the priceless gift of friendship.
- 12. That honesty is the best policy, not only in dealing with myself and God.

- 13. The value of absolute truthfulness in every thing.
- 14. The folly of not taking older people's advice.
- 15. That everything, my mother wanted me to do was right.
- 16. That dad wasn't an old fogey, after all. If I had only as he wished me to do, I would be much better off mentally and morally.
- 17. What it really meant to father and mother to raise their son.
- 18. What hardships and disappointments would be entailed by my leaving home against my parents' wishes.
- 19. More of the helpful and inspiring parts of the Bible, particularly the four books that deal with the life of Christ.
- 20. The greatness of the opportunity and joy of serving a fellow man.
- 21. That Jesus Christ was at my side as an elder brother and friend in every activity and relationship of life.
- 22. That God's relationship to me was just as helpful and delightful as that of a good shepherd toward his sheep, or of a father toward his son.

NEW TAILOR SHOP TO OPEN SOON

Mr. Saul Hyman of Portland called at this office yesterday inquiring about the possibilities for a tailor shop. We were informed later in the day that he had rented the room which will be vacated by Mr. Swenson.

FARM REMINDERS

Irrigation farmers of Oregon will do well to look over their distribution boxes and build weirs at this time of year. Much contention can be avoided by measuring the water used. Directions for building weirs may be obtained by asking for Oregon--Corvallis--station circular 182, on "Materials and Structures for Farm, Distributaries" by W. L. Powers, professor of soils.

A good colony of bees at the beginning of the main honey flow should consist of one selected queen and 75,000 to 100,000 workers. There should be as few drones as possible.

Ordinary straw contains as much plant food material as does barnyard manure, but this material is not as readily available to the plants as is manure. One ton of straw contains almost 10 pounds of nitrogen, 5 pounds of phosphoric acid, and 10 to 12 pounds of potash.

Heavy pruning of winter injured fruit trees should be delayed until the extent of the damage has been determined, is the advice of the experiment station. Premature pruning or cutting back now may remove some of the best wood in the tree, which cannot be told from the damaged wood until later in the season.
